John Patrick Tell Rotarians About People-To-People Tour

Shady Cove — On Wednesday, Sept. 12, John Patrick spoke to the Shady Cove Rotary Club about his recent trip to Europe. John was a member of the People to People group which Nat Etzel, the agriculture teacher at Eagle Point High school, led through several European countries.

The group left Portland on July 16, flew by jet plane to Seattle and then New York City where they spent some time in sight-seeing. Patrick said he was particularly impressed by the great numbers of taxi cabs, the Chinatown area and the United Nations Building. The group was fortunate enough to view one of the seasons of this organization.

From New York they flew to Scotland where they picked up their guide for the rest of the trip. In Scotland the pipers playing at the airport, the beauty of the country and the farms, and money troubles with shillings, pounds, etc., were the highlights.

Their next stop was London where Madame Tussaud's House of Wax, Westminster Abbey, St. Paul's Cathedral, and the great size of the city impressed them most. Paris, France, was the next city they visited. There, money exchange and a lady guide who insisted on leading them with the call "Come my children" provided most of their troubles; and Napoleon's Tomb, the Eiffel Tower, the site of the Bastille, and the garden's of Versailles gave them the most pleasure.

From Paris, they flew to Prague, Czechoslovakia, for their first view behind the Iron Curtain. There they were given a very pro-communist guide and a showpiece bus which was used solely to impress tourists.

The people whom they were allowed to meet were very friendly and were anxious to trade pins or receive pictures and gum.

In Budapest, Hungary, where they went next, signs of the 1956 revolution were still very evident and the people seemed unhappy with their government. The boys saw people crying at the airports because they could not leave the country.

Their next stop was Poland where they found many of the people able to speak English and very friendly. Warsaw, John stated, still showed many signs of the devastation it received in World War II.

From Warsaw they returned to Copenhagen. There they were very pleased to again be in the Free World. From Copenhagen they flew back to New York and then home.

Table Rock—Local people who attended the Josephine County Fair at Grants Pass were well pleased with the entertainment offered, the wonderful exhibits of the county granges, and the atmosphere of friendliness shown by the good people of Grants Pass.

The grange exhibits reminded of the fair in Medford, which had been going in the red for several years, and was taken over by the county granges. Each of the 16 granges exhibited booths filled with farm products. There were races, and other entertainment put on by those who had been given concessions for that purpose. One day, called Medford Day was set aside for Medford people but all the stores stayed open, and it was one of the poorest days we had for attendance. Bob Fowler, then county agent, was a big factor in making the fair a success. After all the bills were paid, there was $400 left for the Fair fund.

The story that old drivers are the cause of most auto accidents being broadcast nowadays, to us is pure unadulterated horse feathers. We could name a dozen drivers in the 70-80 age bracket that have been driving for some 30 to 40 years that never had an accident or citation. Anyone wanting to learn the age group that is involved in the most accidents should ask the insurance people. They keep a tab on drivers and base their rates on losses.

Meet Miss Oregon

Those who were Sunday visitors at Bill Duggan's open house had the privilege of meeting Miss Marty Wyatt, Miss Oregon. Those who met her say that she was not only talented and beautiful, but a most gracious and lovely lady to meet and talk with.

A Sams Valley lady tells this true story of a recent happening. She was seated in the yard gazing at the flowers, wearing a flowered gown with flowers looking so much like the real blossoms that a hummingbird buzzed her then settled down in her lap, tried to get pollen from the prittled flowers, then took to the air, buzzed up to her face, looked her in the eye and buzzed off again, returned tried the printed flowers again, buzzed up to her face looked her in the eye, and seemed to say, "You're a cheater," and went back to his business among the real flowers.

Tuesday evening business visitors at our front porch were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holman of Medford. Bill is in the real estate business and while they were here Victor Croxton, of Sams Valley arrived. Victor is also a realtor, and we made the mistake of introducing the two men not mentioning their business, so they immediately got busy trying to sell each other a farm.

A sonic boom Wednesday about one o'clock shook things up a bit here, and caused some to look overhead for the jet which was not visible in this locality.

Plenty of Noise

Our house is about 100 ft. from the highway, and we got plenty of noise as it is, without any booms. When a truck loaded with logs goes zooming past, all conversation stops, and when an airplane goes overhead at the same time, even a warm argument is halted.

George Loflin, our Texas friend from the Beagle soil bank region, has hit the campaign trail and was down this way a few days ago, was going full steam ahead reminding voters that there will be an election next November 6 and that the democrats have as fine a line up of candidates as they have ever had from top of the ticket to the bottom. One candidate he mentioned is well known here: Ralph James of Sams Valley, candidate for county judge, who George says is clean, honest, experienced, efficient and responsible.

Another candidate he mentioned was Sen Wayne Morse, who he says is known not only nationwide but world wide for his strict adherence to putting principal above politics.

The cutting of alfalfa hay and the filling of silos is going ahead here with good weather for this kind of work—and with onion digging, pear picking in the orchards, this is rather a busy place. The busy season makes it hard to get local news, especially by telephone.

Rogue River Will Look At Trailer House Situation

Rogue River — Mayor Larry Sheehan has appointed a committee to look into the trailer house situation in the city of Rogue River.

The mayor made the appointment at the September meeting of the Rogue River city council, held last week at the city hall.

It was agreed that nothing could be done about trailer homes already located in the city, but the committee will look into the possibility of regulations on future trailer houses. It will report back at the October council meeting.

In other matters, there was discussion concerning the type of fence that can be placed on dividing property lines in the business district.

Slim Hawkins of the Signal service station asked councilmen if the city had an ordinance governing the use of fencing in the business district. The council agreed that any type of fence would be appropriate providing it were well built and neat.

Street Problem

A committee appointed by Mayor Sheehan at the August meeting is still studying the city's street problem, it was learned.

Specifically, the committee is now attempting to determine what materials would be most satisfactory for the expense involved in finishing numerous city streets which have already been gravelled.

Both the trailer house and street committees will report at the Oct. 9 council meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the city hall.

Councilmen at the September meeting were Harold Van Hoy, George Magerle, Arty Laws and Orvis Reeter. Richard Niquette and Roy Strickland were absent.

Soil Conservation District Plans Tour Of Thompson Creek

Illinois Valley—At the September 5 meeting of the Illinois Valley Soil Conservation district, plans were made for a tour of the Thompson creek area in Selma.

The Josephine County board of commissioners has been invited to attend with the district supervisors. The group will meet at 8:30 a.m., Saturday, Sept. 29, at the home of Ralph McKinstry, Selma, bringing sack lunches.

Chairman J. Morris presided at the Sept. 5 session with J. W. England, Bert Squire, Ralph McKinstry, Dave Wilson, Jack Saurer and Bert Easterbrook present.

Conservationist Bill Forrest reported on the county fair Booth. Tentative plans on a self sustaining booth in 1963 were discussed. A communication was read by administrative officer Robert Baum explaining the Soil Conservation district workshops, and asking for recommendations.

The district suggested that perhaps the subject of some type of recognition of the grass roots workers in the various districts might be a desirable topic, also something on area development.

New co-operators added were H. Sube, Asa Harris, Mark Wilmot and Hollace McCammon.

Tour of Siskiyou County Historical Areas Slated

Siskiyou County — The Historical Society of Siskiyou county will have a field trip Sunday, September 23, leaving the museum in Yreka at 8 a.m. by bus and private cars.

The entire trip approximates 165 miles. Anyone wishing transportation should contact the museum as soon as possible. Others are welcome to join the caravan at any desired point.

The planned itinerary is Ager, Beswick, Shovel Creek (the old Klamath Hot Springs), thence over the Topsy Grade and into Butte valley.

Explanations and short lectures will be given at each stop. Ray Laird plans to join the party at the site of the old town of Picard. Dorris City park will be the lunch stop. All must bring a complete lunch as facilities for coffee

HOME SAFE — Bo, a German shepherd, is home safe with his little masters, the Vincent R. Stangl children in the Wilderville area after an adventure a few days ago. Bo, who helps at the forest service lookout on Onion mountain and at Serpentine, left his post for some reason and disappeared. He finally turned up at the Harold T. Briggs ranch south of Wonder. Briggs notified a Grants Pass radio station, whose broadcast was heard by a lookout at Galice, who in turn notified the Serpentine lookout that the dog was safe. Mrs. Florence Serail, who raises German shepherds at her kennels on the Redwood highway, kept Bo while his masters were being located.

Shasta Valley Garden Club Holds Flower Show

Montague—The Shasta Valley Garden club presented "Flower Fair" their second annual flower show Sept. 16 from 1:30 to 9 p.m. at the garden club hall in Montague.

The room, which is in the old grammar school, was a veritable garden brought indoors with 15 exhibitors displaying 177 entries of arrangements and horticultural specimens.

Among the outstanding arrangements noted were Deep Purple, Tea for Two, In an Old Fashioned Garden, Gone Are the Days, Vacation Memories, Much Ado About Nothing, Bottlescape and others.

A beautifully arranged silver tea table added to the decor. Coffee, tea, punch, cakes and minis were served to the some 75 guests attending.

Mrs. Henrietta Terwilliger,

Central Point Lions Hear Area Governor

Central Point — Manville Heisel, Lions' district governor of Oregon, was guest of the Central Point Lions club at its recent meeting.

He spoke of his experiences at the Lions International Conference, held this summer in Nice, France. He later conducted the initiation for new members Herb Edwards, Jerry Wicks and Chet Ayres.

The committee on the new stadium reported the installation of the seats was near completion. The Sept. 20 annual sale of light bulbs was discussed.

Ernest T. Ross Gets Recognition For Work

Gold Hill—Ernest T. Ross, Rt. 1, Box 51, Gold Hill, received honorary recognition on September 7 from the postmaster general for devotion to duty in the course of an honorable career in the United States Postal service.

Ross had retired June 21, 1962 as a rural mail carrier, working out of the Gold Hill Post Office. He was commended for 25 years and eight months of faithful and outstanding service as an employee of the federal government.

THIS IS AN OFFICE? — Yes, it really does house an office. This "A" shaped structure was built by Lloyd Whitney of 3215 Madrona L., Central Point, at a cost of some $2,000 on the Jacksonville highway near Oak Grove school.

Yreka Council Favors Freeway Through City

Yreka — A possibly heated freeway route hearing is shaping up for next Wednesday here as a result of action by the Yreka city council last night.

As might have been expected, the council passed a resolution favoring adoption of a route for the Interstate 5 freeway going through the city of Yreka and up the Shasta river canyon, present route of Highway 99.

The Siskiyou County Board of Supervisors has previously gone on record by a 3 to 2 vote in favor of another route — one that would go up the Shasta valley several miles east of Yreka.

A public hearing on the routing will be held here next Wednesday evening.

In other action last night, the Yreka city council entered into an agreement with the elementary school district to lease city land to be used as a parking lot at the Jackson Street school.

The council also ordered a rest stop area at the north end of the city to be closed until sanitary facilities have been installed. The rest area was built by one of the local service clubs.

Grants Pass High Facilities Expanded

Grants Pass—When a record number of more than 1,400 students returned to the school at Grants Pass High school this week, they found newly added facilities waiting to accommodate their expanded ranks.

Registration, which totaled almost 200 over last year, was heaviest in the 10th grade, where 563 entering students made up the largest sophomore class in the school's history. Juniors numbered 442; seniors, 397.

To cope with the increase, as well as to relieve crowded conditions experienced last year, several new wings and buildings were constructed at the high school during the summer, giving it the aura this fall of a small college campus.

Additions include a new science wing, a new music building and new shop building.

Gold Hill Couple Enjoying Watermelons From Tahitian Seeds

Gold Hill—Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Christensen are enjoying the flavor of unique watermelons grown in their garden from seed that originated in Tahiti.

Mrs. Christensen said the meat is sweet and of a canary yellow color. The Christensens obtained the seed from a friend, whose brother is on one of the Scripts research vessels.

A friend of the Christensens, William Wiedinger, is at the present time making a trip around the world on the Horizon, one of Scripts scientific research vessels. She said his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Wiedinger came to this area to reside after their retirement several months ago.

Extra Teacher Hired At Jewett School

Central Point—A seven-percent increase in enrollment at Jewett Elementary school this fall has made necessary the addition of another teacher to the staff.

The new teacher is Mrs. Audrey Wingfield, who taught last year in Fairbanks, Alaska. Mrs. Wingfield is teaching second grade.

Also new to the staff at Jewett this year are Mrs. Jo. Brew, third grade, and Mrs. Ethel Morrison, second grade.

There are now seven first grades, seven second grades, and six third grade classes at Jewett school. Total enrollment at the beginning of school this year is 562, an increase of 37 over last year.

Only 6 Candidates Have Filed For 7 Gold Hill Positions

Gold Hill — Only six candidates have filed signed petitions for offices in the coming election in Gold Hill.

The first to file for the five council seats are incumbent, Hilton Brignall for a two year term; Rolan Washburn and Ronald Kallista each seeking four year terms; Mrs. Donald Meister for a four-year term, and L. L. Martin for a two-year term.

Incumbent Ferd Jones, recorder-treasurer, will seek reelection to that position. Voters here will elect at the November election, a mayor and recorder - treasurer each two year terms; and five councilmen of which there will be three four-year terms; and two two-year terms.

Present city officials whose terms expire in January other than Brignall and Jones are Mayor Milton Steinmetz and Councilmen Kendall Duran, Ozzie Newland, Delos Walker, and Stanley Newham.

Medford Firm Gets California Contract

Weed-The governing board of College of the Siskiyou has authorized architect Ailyn Martin of Redding to begin preliminary plans for a new gymnasium. College students now use physical education facilities at the old Weed High school gym, about two miles from campus.

The board recently assigned a contract to the Barnhart Construction company, of Medford, to construct a student center building, to be ready for use in February.
