Kennedy Makes TV Appeal To Restore Foreign Aid Cut

Washington — (UPI) — President Kennedy has made a nationwide television appeal for Congress to restore the $1.1 billion House cut in his foreign aid program.

In a filmed interview the President sought public support Sunday for his fight against the deep slash in his $4.7 billion program.

He declared that the aid to other nations was "the best, the cheapest, the safest" way to prevent the spread of communism around the world.

But Rep. Otto E. Passman (D-La.), appearing on the same program, called the aid program "a giveaway... a bottomless pit" that was "spending this nation into destruction."

Passman, chairman of the appropriations subcommittee that initiated the slash, said U.S. funds were going to 101 of 113 nations in the world, including "communist countries, dictatorships and the so-called neutrals." He said he saw no evidence that it was holding back communism.

Kennedy got support from House Democratic Whip Hale Boggs (La.) and Gen. Maxwell Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who also appeared on the program.

Boggs cited the strong recovery of European nations under the Marshall Plan as proof of the aid program's effectiveness. He said the program "saved Europe from communism."

Taylor said the aid program was "vital to our security." He said it was particularly important to give economic assistance to nations in the Far East threatened by Red China.

Other congressional news: Athletics: Assistant Democratic Leader Hubert H. Humphrey called on the warring factions of amateur athletics in the United States to ask the White House to mediate their dispute. The Minnesota Democrat said that if the Amateur Athletic Union and the National Collegiate Athletic Association do not settle their feud "our Olympic team could be wrecked before it is even assembled."

Foreign Briefs

PRAYER URGED FOR GERMAN CHRISTIANS

York, England — (UPI) — Dr. Donald Coggan, Archbishop of York, appealed Sunday for "sustained and persistent" prayer for the Christians in East and West Germany.

Dr. Coggan, writing in the York Diocesan Leaflet after a visit to West Berlin and East Germany, urged prayer "for those who cannot enjoy the privileges which are ours in so full a measure."

SALAN'S BROTHER FAILS IN FRENCH ELECTION

Paris — (UPI) — Georges Salan, brother of ex-Gen. Raoul Salan, France's onetime public enemy number one, failed in a bid for a senate seat Sunday as the French "electoral college" voted for one-third of Parliament's upper house.

FREE CHINA U2 PLANE CRASH REPORTED

Taipei, Formosa — (UPI) — One of the two U2 reconnaissance planes owned by Nationalist China crashed on Formosa a week before the second plane was downed inside Communist China, informed sources said Sunday.

The sources said the pilot was killed and the plane extensively damaged.

The loss of the first U2 had been reported earlier by a Taipei newspaper but the Nationalist Chinese defense ministry denied the report.

GERMAN ROCKET EXPERT BELIEVED KIDNAPED

Munich, Germany — (UPI) — Dr. Heino Kurg, German rocket expert who was reported missing recently, "most probably" was kidnaped by Egyptian intelligence agents, the International Police Agency (Interpol) said Sunday.

Kurg, 49, was head of the International Trade Organization in Munich and formerly had acted as business manager of the Research Institute for Physics and Jet Propulsion.

Traffic Accidents Kill Four in State

By United Press International
Four persons were killed in traffic accidents in Oregon during the week end.

The victims were Curtis Larsen, 65, and Joseph Taylor, 52, both of Portland; Clark McMahon, 46, Yachats; and Coy Hall, Klamath Falls.

Larsen was killed Sunday night when he was struck by a car on U.S. Highway 30 near Rainbow lake in Multnomah county.

Taylor died early Sunday in a two-car accident on U.S. Highway 28 near Alder creek on Mt. Hood.

McMahon and the Hall boy died Saturday.

McMahon was run over by his own truck near Waldport. State police said he apparently stopped the truck to get a drink from a spring alongside a Lincoln county road.

The Hall boy lost his life when he was struck by a car on a Klamath county road near Klamath Falls.

Pledge of Early General Voting Made by Leader

Buenos Aires — (UPI) — President Jose M. Guido named new war and navy secretaries today to back up his pledge to give this strife-torn nation early general elections.

The embattled president, firmly backed by a majority of Argentina's armed forces, moved swiftly to return normalcy to the country. In a nationwide radio and television speech to the people Sunday night, reporting on the violent week end which saw a major shift in the leadership of the armed forces, Guido warned sternly against any resumption of armed violence.

Tells Appointments

The president reported early today the appointment of Lt. Gen. Benito Rattone, former chief of the Argentine Air Force, as secretary of war and navy, respectively.

Guido said the two men would be sworn into their new posts immediately.

The weekend of violence, pitting rival army factions against each other in a do-or-die struggle for power, was Argentina's first intramural conflict in the armed forces in more than two years.

The fighting was brief but vicious. When the smoke cleared, downtown Buenos Aires was scarred with machine gun bullets and tank shells. At least 10 persons were reported dead and 70 wounded. But Guido had emerged with a clear-cut victory and apparently stronger than ever.

Military winner in the factional struggle was Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, named new army commander by the president.

The former army commander, Gen. Juan Carlos Lario, and his chief of staff, Gen. Bernardino Labayru, were among 77 army officers under arrest.

A communique from the president's office this morning said the president had accepted the resignation of the navy secretary, Rear Adm. Gaston Clement. The navy had announced its opposition to Guido and Gen. Ongania at one point during the crisis, but naval forces kept out of the fighting.

The president also urged Rear Adm. Augustin Penas, chief of naval operations, to retract or take responsibility for a communique issued by high naval officials over the weekend and charging the president with causing the fight among army factions.

Stocks Descend On Selling Wave

New York — (UPI) — A barrage of selling hit stocks today pushing the majority of groups considerably lower.

Electronics, chemicals and motors reeled under the selling pressure. IBM tumbled more than 6, Fairchild Camera, Beckman, Motorola, Litton and Texas Instruments at least 2 apiece and RCA and Raytheon about a point or more. In the chemicals, Du Pont lost close to 3 and Hercules Powder and Thiokol a point or better.

Chrysler tumbled more than 1 in the autos and steel weakened. Foods, finance shares, rails, drugs, metals, entertainments, airlines, aircrafts and cosmetics were all hard hit.

In the oils, Kern County lost more than 2, while Richardson and Champlin fell at least 1 apiece. Helene Curtis, Revlon, Bristol Myers, Air Products, Armour, and Singer Manufacturing were among the heavier losers. Polaroid paced the decline with a loss of about 4.

Renoir Painting Found in Street

London — (UPI) — A missing $14,000 Renoir painting was turned in to police Sunday by two bus drivers who said they found it in the street and at first kicked it into the gutter as rubbish.

The painting, a landscape, was lost Sept. 16 when it apparently fell from the trunk of a car driven by Peter Wilson, head of Sotheby's Auction House. He was taking it to his country home in Kent.

The bus drivers, Martin Quinlan and Arthur Baskett, were on their way home in Quinlan's car on the night the painting was lost when they felt the wheels pass over an object. They stopped the car and found the painting with its frame smashed.

"To me it was just a heap of rubbish, and could easily have been destroyed," Quinlan said.

Experts Prepare To Remove Chlorine Gas From Sunken Mississippi Barge

Natchez, Miss. — (UPI) — Experts studied scale models of a sunken barge today to plan the delicate task of raising more than two million pounds of deadly chlorine which menaces about 80,000 persons along the Mississippi river near here.

The raising, scheduled to begin next Monday, will be a tough one. If one of the four 75-foot chlorine cylinders springs a leak, the liquid would combine with water to generate poisonous chlorine gas.

A team of salvage experts from the New England Naval and Maritime museum in Newport, R.I., left there today for Natchez to attempt recovery of the cylinders.

They included Jackson Jenks, director of the museum; Ralph Mercer, Hartford, Conn.; and Walter Hendricks, Windsor Locks, Conn., divers expert in handling fragile materials.

Jenks said he was told that the operation would be dangerous because visibility in the river near Natchez is zero.

The Red Cross already has prepared more than 200 shelters for use in case residents along the river have to be evacuated.

About 165,000 cots and 190 tons of bedding have been flown into areas near the threatened section and Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett Sunday asked President Kennedy to declare "an extreme national emergency" in the area.

Chief sections threatened by the gas are six counties along the river—three in Mississippi and three in Louisiana.

The barge Eastern, carrying 1,100 tons of the chlorine, sank in the river a year and a half ago. Kennedy last week ordered the Corps of Engineers to raise the wreckage which is located about seven and a half miles downstream from here.

The engineers Sunday used suction hoses to draw off an accumulation of Mississippi river silt and said they found the barge was buckled in the middle.

The four tanks, constructed independently of one another and apart from the barge, were not bent and appeared in good shape.

A scale model of the Eastern has been made to help plan its removal.

Vatican City Police Seeking Bomb Clues

Vatican City — (UPI) — Police prowled through Vatican City today during the preparations for the Ecumenical Council, searching for clues to the mysterious bomber of St. Peter's Basilica.

Two crude incendiary bombs were left in the Basilica Saturday. Neither exploded. But one was found dangerously close to the large wooden bleachers set up for the 3,000 delegates to the council that opens Oct. 11.

The bomb attempt, the second since July, made no change in Pope John XXIII's schedule.

He spent more than an hour Sunday praying at the tombs of his predecessors in the grottoes under the basilica. The pontiff later gave his Sunday blessing to a crowd of 20,000 gathered in St. Peter's Square.

Early in the evening, the pontiff led thousands of Romans in prayer for the success of the Ecumenical Council at the Church of Christ the King in downtown Rome.

Extra guards and fire extinguishers, plus the unobtrusive police, were the only outward signs of anxiety in St. Peter's. Work continued in preparations for the council. But there was concern in Vatican circles that the bomber might try to strike again.

On Saturday, July 14, a bomb went off at the base of the monument to Pope Clement X. It slightly damaged the marble rim over the monument and the organ above.

The bombs planted this week end were discovered before they went off.

Police theorized both bomb attempts were the work of the same person.

MacLaren Escapee Sought by Police

Oregon City — (UPI) — An escapee from MacLaren School for Boys, said by police to be armed, was the subject of a search in this area today.

Sought was James Rogers, 16, of Deadwood, S.D., a companion, Dale Lee Williams, 17, of Springfield, fled from the school for juvenile offenders Saturday.

Williams was caught Saturday night after officers saw the pair walking near Canby. The boys fled on foot. Police found Williams hiding under a railway boxcar.

Police said Williams was carrying a gun and told them Rogers was armed with a rifle. Williams told officers the two boys had broken into several houses and showed police a cache of rifles and extra clothing the boys had hidden.

Navy Educational Programs Available

The U.S. Navy encourages young men and women to complete their education, according to Chief Ron Vetkos, Navy recruiter in Medford. Navy training now emphasizes technical and scientific lines for operation of the wide variety of advanced equipment, the recruiter said.

Vetkos said the personnel in his office at the Medford Post office will discuss Navy educational programs with interested young people.
