

Mrs. Nell (F. R.) Faulkner is the 1962 "Beep of the Week" for Medford Business and Professional Women's club. The "Beep" will be honored at various events planned by the club to focus attention on National Business Women's week which begins today. Mrs. Faulkner, a landscape gardener, and her husband operate Nurseryland in Central Point.

A partner in Rice and Barker, real estate firm located at 767 South River side avenue, is Miss Ann G. Rice. Miss Rice, a member of Medford BPWC, also belongs to Medford Zonta club and organizations of the real estate business.

Two women important to Robertson School of Business are Mrs. Minnie (Leslie B.) Robertson (at left) who with her husband owns and operates the school, and Miss Anna Musler, their secretary. Mrs. Robertson was formerly on the University of Kansas faculty; Miss Musler came here from Karlsruhe, Germany, completed the Robertson courses before being employed by the school.

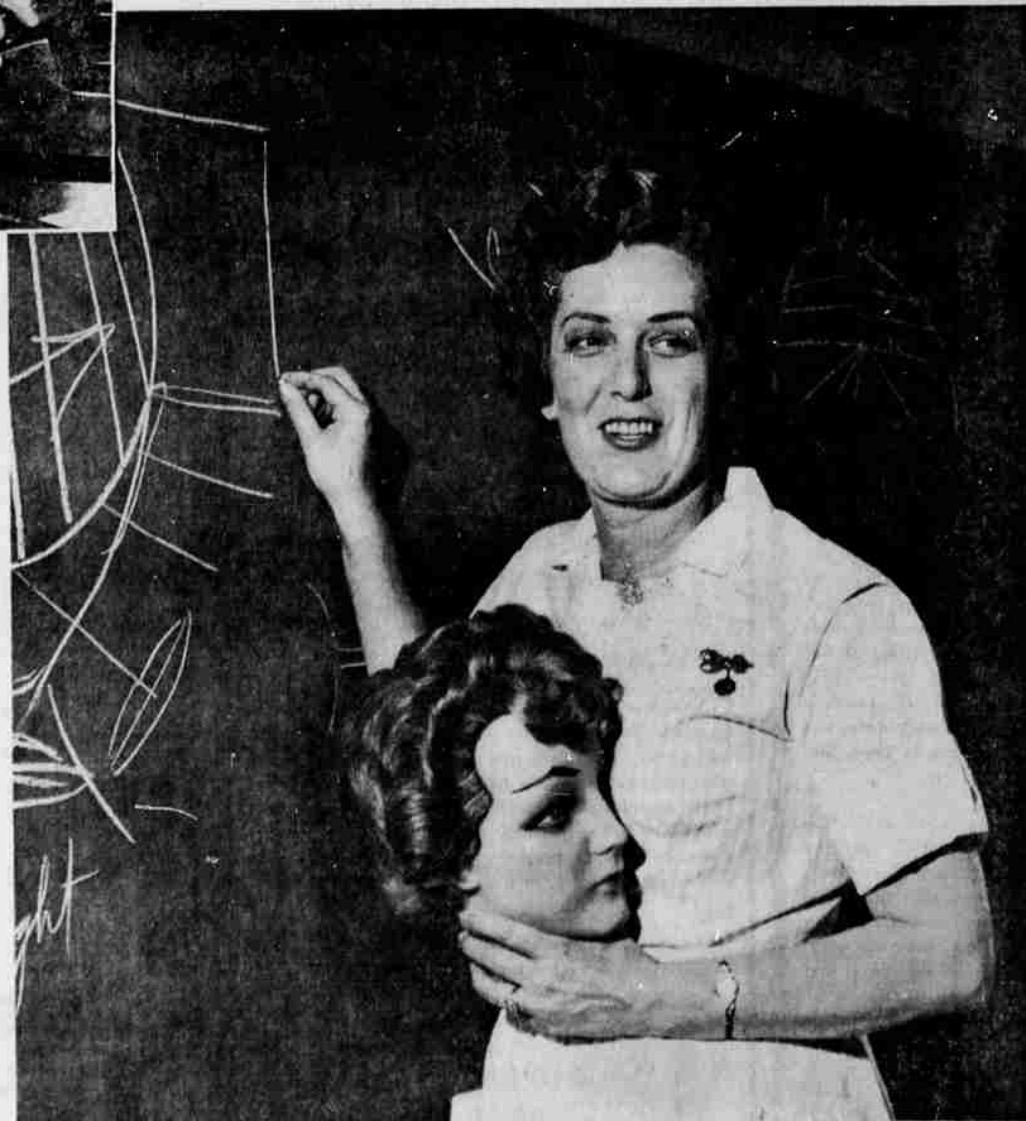

Teaching is a field which offers much to the women of the United States and two of the outstanding women educators in Oregon are Dr. Betty Lou Dunlop (at left) and Mrs. Mabel (C. D.) Winston, on the faculty at Southern Oregon college, Ashland. Mrs. Winston is registrar and dean of women at the college. Dr. Dunlop, professor of education who has been supervising student teachers for the past 12 years, for this year has assumed the position of director of student teaching while Dr. William Ward is on leave with the State Department.

MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE

MEDFORD, OREGON, SUNDAY, OCTOBER 7, 1962

National Business Women's Week

Mrs. Geri (Raymond) Byrd says that hair is both her business and her hobby. Mrs. Byrd is shown at the black-board in Medford Beauty school using charts and the "dummy" head to teach beginning students about the human head and hair. The Byrds have operated the beauty school since 1950.