

All groups of the valley submitting news to the women's department of The Medford Mail Tribune are invited to send the club reporter or another representative to the annual training session. It will be held Tuesday, October 9, at 10:30 a.m. at the Red Cross building on Hawthorne avenue. Instruction will be given in the preparation of copy, how to arrange for coverage of special events, pictures, etc. Coffee will be served.

The deadline for receiving copy for the women's section of the Mail Tribune for the Sunday edition has been changed to 10 a.m. on Friday. The change was necessary due to a revamping of deadlines in the news department so later United Press International wire news can be printed.

The deadline for the Sunday women's section had previously been 1 p.m. The deadline for daily news appearing on the women's page will remain the same—5 p.m. of the day prior to publication.

Judy Mae McMillan Wed To Kipp Delwyn Osborn

Ashland—The marriage of Miss Judy Mae McMillan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Dreier, Vancouver, Wash., to Kipp Delwyn Osborn, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Osborn, 1550 Ashland Mine road, took place Thursday, September 20 in the First Methodist church of Ashland.

The Rev. Robert McIlvenna, Salem, performed the double-ring ceremony at 8 o'clock in the presence of more than 100 guests. The Rev. Mr. McIlvenna is a former minister of the Ashland church.

Raymond Stahler, uncle of the bride, escorted her to the altar and she was attended by Mrs. Stahler, matron of honor, and two bridesmaids, Miss Jeannie Taylor and Miss Laura Stahler, a cousin.

Virgil L. Osborn served as best man for his brother. The ushers were Phillip McCullough and Clifford Hennessey, Helena, Mont. Mrs. Martel Peters was the soloist and Mrs. Frank Davis was the organist.

Baskets of pink and white gladioli and tall lighted candelabra formed a background for the altar service.

The bride wore a white tulle gown with long train. The fitted bodice was made with long tapered sleeves and a scalloped neckline. Her fingertip veil was held by a crown of pearls and she carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and white carnations.

Her bridal attendants were gowning in evening length dresses of blue net and carried bouquets of pink and white carnations with pink streamers.

A reception was held in the Fireside room where refreshments were served from two lace-covered tables, which were decorated with pink roses and lighted by tall tapers in silver candelabra. The wedding cake was served by Mrs. Bert Roberts. Mrs. Edward Nelson presided at the punch bowl and Mrs. Floyd Clapper poured coffee. The bride's grandmother, Mrs. Earl Holsclaw, assisted by Miss Jackie Roberts, took charge of the gifts. Miss Loreta Embloom supervised the guest book.

For their motor trip to the southern Oregon coast the bride wore a three-piece beige suit with royal blue accessories. Upon their return to Ashland, Mr. and Mrs. Osborn will be at home at 100 Gresham street.

Mrs. Dreier chose to wear for her daughter's wedding a dress of beige lace accented with cocoa accessories and a pink carnation corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a pink flowered two-piece suit with white accessories and a white carnation corsage.

Mrs. Osborn has been making her home in Ashland for the past year, living with her grandmother, Mrs. Earl Holsclaw, while attending high school where she is a senior.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Ashland High school and is in his sophomore year at Southern Oregon college.

Included among out-of-town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. William Reese and sons, Grants Pass; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Aegerter, Norwalk, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Eric Weren, Yuba City, Calif. and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Jones, Medford.

Speaker Announced

Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, Ill., who has played an active part in the medical history of the nation during the past half century will be the guest of honor of members of the Rogue River Valley Knife and Fork club Saturday, October 20 at 7 p.m.

The dinner meeting will be held in the Rogue Valley Country club. The deadline for making reservations to attend is October 17 and the reservations should be made by calling Mrs. Rich-

Contributions to the field of medicine have brought him decorations by numerous countries. He is professor emeritus of the University of Chicago, and the University of Illinois College of Medicine.

Classes Resume For Fall Session at Activity Center

Mrs. Anna Watson, a resident of the Rogue Valley Manor, will show colored slides of Hawaii Monday, October 8, at the Arm Chair Travelers session at the Senior Activity center.

The showing will be at 1 p.m. Mrs. Watson's parents moved to the islands in 1880 from Norway and Mrs. Watson grew up on the island of Maui. She was in Honolulu during the early 1940's.

Last week a bulb burned out in the projector before the Chester Wendts completed their showing of pictures of Europe. They promised to return and complete the showing at a later time.

Monday at 10 a.m. the Senior Craftsmen committee will be at the center, 601 East Jackson street, to receive handcrafted objects and to register local craftsmen who wish to sell their handwork through the program. The articles are sold at the Ashland Art Gallery, 31 Water street, Ashland, owned by Robert Onstad. The gallery is open every night and on Saturdays and Sundays through October.

Copper Tooling
A copper tooling class will start at the center Wednesday, October 17, from 2 to 4 p.m. with Robert Africa, Veterans Administration hobby shop teacher. The first day Mr. Africa will hold a demonstration. Members are asked to take their tools and materials to the session. Some of these crafts will be displayed at the open house October 21.

The Senior Center orchestra meets Thursday from 1 to 3 p.m. each week. The group is sponsoring a rummage sale Wednesday, October 10, to buy new music. The sale will be at the Eagles hall from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. A foods sale will be held in connection with the rummage sale.

The Tuesday oil painting class will continue under the direction of Mrs. Wanda Williams. Last week 18 painters attended the class when Mrs. Williams was assisted by Mrs. Nettie Williams, a former teacher of the class.

Following the painting session persons who had birthdays in October were honored. Mrs. Ruth Davis was assisted by Mrs. Hazel Walwyn, hostess, and honored were Mrs. Ethel Byers, Mrs. Nellie George, and Mrs. Helen Dittman.

The artists plan to exhibit at the center's fourth birthday party to be held Sunday, October 21.

Wednesday, October 10, the shuffleboard team will meet for the first time since spring to play from 10 a.m. to noon. William Jones is in charge of this activity and may be reached at 772-7333.

"It's hard to write about oneself," read a note which came to our desk a couple of days ago. "I hope this is what you want." The note was on the bottom of one of the background sketches we asked the women on today's picture page about Business Women's week to write for us—sort of a who, what, why, when and where deal.

Front page layouts being what they are, Potpourri had a lot of interesting material left over which we decided to put into this space.

Mrs. Mabel Winston, registrar and dean of women at Southern Oregon college since 1946, and a very busy woman, just dashed off a list of some of the groups which count her as a member, and the offices she holds. This winter Mrs. Winston is president of Ashland Sororist club and chairman of the nominating committee for national officers of the American Association of University Women. She has long been active in this group, on the local, state and national level, is a past president of Oregon AAUW, a past president of Oregon Education association and of the Oregon Deans' association. Mrs. Winston also works in the Pacific Coast Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admission Officers. She holds a master's degree from Oregon State university.

Dr. Betty Lou Dunlop added to her sketch that she was to leave October 23 with representatives of Medford public schools to visit schools in Lexington, Mass., and Norwalk, Conn. The group will study team teaching, flexible scheduling, interne teaching and grouping plans.

Both Dr. Dunlop and Mrs. Winston are popular as speakers for women's groups in southern Oregon. Dr. Dunlop, who has been at Southern Oregon college since 1949, was granted her doctorate in education by Colorado State college. She also works in AAUW and is state chairman of the status of women committee. She belongs to Delta Kappa Gamma, honor society for women in education, and Mrs. Winston is a honorary member of the state chapter. Dr. Dunlop works primarily in the field of supervision of student teachers for SOC.

Ann Rice, one of the business women on the picture page, says she "is a firm believer the best investment a person can own is property" and is eager to have a chance to prove it. Miss Rice and her partner, Mrs. Ellen Barker, organized Rice and Barker Real Estate, Inc., and the firm now employs three saleswomen and two salesmen. In addition to BPWC and Zonta, Ann belongs to the National Association of Real Estate Boards and is vice-president of the Women's Council of Medford Board of Realtors.

As might have been expected from a woman who operates a business school, Mrs. Minnie Robertson's information was most business-like. Mrs. R. wrote that she and her husband, Leslie, have run the school since 1954, and that the enrollment is now 70 students. Both the Robertsons hold master's degrees from the University of Kansas and both taught in the same university before they came to Oregon. Mrs. Robertson chose to pose with Ann Musler, Mr. Robertson's secretary, who came to this country from Germany.

When we first knew the petite Mrs. Robertson, she was an enthusiastic and excellent square dancer and caller and had a large following throughout this area. We never dreamed, as we watched her billowing skirts and heard her musical calling, that she also taught mathematics.

By coincidence Mrs. Nell (F. R.) Faulkner, who is being honored this week as "Beep of the Week" by the Business and Professional Women's club, attended the Robertson School of Business.

Mrs. Faulkner, who with her husband, Rus, own and operate Nurseryland in Central Point, attended the local school when she entered the business world seven years ago.

From Geri Byrd we learned that she and her husband, Raymond, who had lived in California before they came north, "fell in love with Oregon." The Byrds have a lot of company in that. When they look over Medford Beauty school, they decided to make it the very best school they could, and to keep the standards high. Geri met her husband when he was an instructor and she was a student at the Reno University of Beauty. They belong to the Oregon Beautician's association and Mrs. Byrd, who sews in her spare time, has designed prize-winning costumes for the beautician's "Parade of Oregon" which was entered in the Parade of States at the convention of the National Hairdressers' association. She has even designed and made wedding dresses for some of "her girls."

The Byrds' graduates are working in several cities and states. They are pleased with the school's location on West Sixth street and point out that the building is large enough to provide ample space for the school's program.

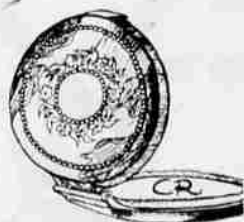

Geri Byrd ended her note by saying that she and her husband are also busy remodeling their home on Siskiyou boulevard, which was damaged by fire some time ago, and from where they have a beautiful view of the mountains surrounding the valley.

Which reminds us that kind friends are still calling and writing to suggest that Potpourri reprint the material which the widely known columnist, Hedda Hopper, wrote after her visit to the Rogue valley last month. Hedda, who was a guest of Mrs. Nion Tucker at her summer home on the Rogue river and attended Shakespearean festival plays, wrote with ecstatic adjectives about the beautiful mountains, the pure air and sparkling streams of Oregon. We're pleased that Mrs. Hopper enjoyed her visit. Her hostess is widely known for her gracious charm, the plays at Ashland are very good and Oregon is a beautiful state. Quite a few of us knew all that long before Mrs. Hopper discovered the Rogue valley, O.S.
