Texas Noses Out Alabama To Replace Ohio State at Top

By JOE SARGIS
New York (UPI)—Alabama drew the first-place votes but Texas had the better overall point total today to gain the No. 1 spot in the weekly United Press International major college football ratings.

Eighteen of the 35 coaches who comprise the UPI ratings board named the Crimson Tide, unbeaten in three straight games this year and 20 in-a-row, to the top spot while only six picked Texas No. 1.

But the Longhorns, also unbeaten in three games this season, drew second-place support from 14 coaches and third from nine others to replace Ohio State as the nation's top team.

With points awarded on a basis of 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 for votes from first through 10th places, Texas had 296 to 291 for Alabama in one of the closest races ever in the UPI ratings. Alabama is the defending national champion.

Ohio State, the No. 1 pick of 20 coaches a week ago in the first ratings of the 1962 season, didn't draw a single vote for the top spot this week, following its 9-7 upset by UCLA Saturday. The Buckeyes, now 1-1, had 56 points in all and fell all the way to 12th.

There was considerable juggling for the top 10 spots this week as Georgia Tech, Army and Miami, Fla., moved out along with Ohio State.

Penn State, 3-0, fourth a week ago, advanced one spot to third, while drawing five first-place votes; Southern California, 3-0, moved from sixth to fourth; Mississippi, 3-0, from seventh to fifth, and Washington, 2-0-1 from eighth to sixth.

Kansas, 3-0, was seventh; UCLA, which opened its season against Ohio State, was eighth; Purdue, 1-0-1, was ninth, and Northwestern, 2-0, was 10th.

The second 10 was headed by Louisiana State, followed by Ohio State, Wisconsin, Miami, Fla., Nebraska, Georgia Tech, Duke, Minnesota, and Missouri tied for 18th and Auburn and Iowa for 20th.

Crater whipped Ashland 34 to 7 in a junior varsity football tussle, played at Crater in the rain Monday night.

In the first quarter Crater scored when Phil Brown picked up a punt and went 40 yards for a touchdown. The extra point attempt was no good.

In the second quarter Brown went six yards for a touchdown. Brown himself scored the extra point.

Sherm Kiger, in the third quarter, went 55 yards for a touchdown and Brown added the extra point.

Barger scored for Ashland in the third quarter and kicked the extra point.

In the final quarter Kiger went 65 yards for another touchdown, following which Brown added the extra point.

For Crater's final score, Kiger carried the ball for about 30 yards, then as he was about to be tackled lateralled to Brown, who went another 30 yards for the touchdown. Dave Twedell added the extra point.

Six in Three

Stats Departments

San Francisco (UPI)—University of Washington's unbeaten but tied Huskies lead the Big Six in three statistical departments, according to records released today.

The Huskies lead in total offense with 308 yards a game; in total defense, allowing 176 yards; and in rushing offense with 243 yards.

Southern California leads in rushing defense with 121 yards; Washington State tops the passing offense with 176 yards a game, and UCLA leads in passing defense, allowing only 47 yards in the one game it has played.

Stanford Coach Has Praise For Oregon State's Terry Baker

San Francisco (UPI)—"You fellows are going to miss if you don't name Terry Baker of Oregon State on your all-American football teams," Coach Jack Curtice of Stanford told the Northern California Football Writers' association Monday.

"This boy can do everything. Doggone, he's good. That boy set our best men up and then just stepped around them."

Baker completed 11 of 15 passes for 175 yards and carried the ball 11 times for another 42 yards on the ground when the Beavers dumped Stanford, 27-0, Saturday.

Ducks Study Report On Team From Rice

Eugene (UPI)—The Oregon Ducks ran through a light workout Monday and studied a scout report on Rice, the team they meet Saturday.

Coach Len Casanova set an extensive schedule for today and Wednesday—to enlighten out an attack that rolled up 409 yards in defeating San Jose last week end, but produced only two touchdowns.

McLoughlin 9th Plays Crater

McLoughlin of Medford ninth grade football team will oppose the Crater freshmen on Thursday evening at Central Point.

Hedrick of Medford will take on South Grants Pass at Grants Pass on Friday afternoon.

Medford eighth grade clubs see action on Saturday afternoon with McLoughlin at South GP and Hedrick entertaining Ashland.

Friday's seventh grade intramural play will have Hedrick Red at McLoughlin Black and McLoughlin White at Hedrick Blue.

South GP Eighth Defeats Ashland

Ashland - South Grants Pass nicked Ashland 13 to 6 in an eighth grade football game at Ashland on Saturday.

Tex Willis scored for Ashland on a 25-yard run. Steve Kreps toucheddown for South on 37 and two-yard runs. One conversion was kicked.

Ashland led in first downs eight to five and in rushing 202 yards to 185.

"(Coach) Ted Ogdahl has arrived at an ominous conclusion:

"His football aide at Willamette university, Norm Chapman, is an extraordinarily able young coach."

So wrote Joe Much, sports editor of the Salem Capital Journal last week.

He continued, "The suspicion was planted when Chapman first dug a cleat into the McCulloch stadium lawn as a line coach. It has grown since, and when Willamette's gully forwards almost toppled Humboldt State Ogdahl climbed on the bandwagon."

EX-MEDFORD HIGH

Chapman is an ex-Medford high griddier, a grad of 1954, who went on to be a linebacker and top offensive center at the University of Oregon. He drew the commendation of Head Coach Ogdahl last week for a masterful patchwork job in getting the Bearcat line ready for the Humboldt game.

First problem of the line coach arose this fall when new eligibility rulings washed out two starting tackles. Another, Jim

O'Hair, was eliminated by injury. Then the coaches found it necessary to drop Don Green, 235 tackle, from the traveling squad. PLAYERS SCHOOLED

In the space of three days, however, Chapman schooled defensive end and linebacker George Douglass to alternate in O'Hair's spot. He readied freshman John Travis for defensive tackle work and made a middle guard out of Mike Weinstein, a senior reserve. "And they all did tremendous jobs," Ogdahl said. "That Chapman's just great."

Norm also was credited by Much as being the inspiration behind an "incredible" Bearcat bantam secondary which had intercepted five passes in two games and cut down potential long range runs by WU rivals.

TROUBLE KEEPING HIM

Much foresees a problem for Willamette—that of keeping Chapman. A man of his talents is certain to receive offers elsewhere as have grid assistants who preceded Chapman.

CALCULATED RISK

Much says that Chapman, "25, quiet, collar and features," was hired at Willamette in something of a calculated risk but that he had the credentials to fit. These were his linebacker and center experience which meant savvy in both phases of line play; co-captain of his college team which meant leadership qualities; unequivocally attested competitiveness, and personableness.

ONE OF BEST

At University of Oregon freshman football coach John Robinson feels his rookie group could be one of the best in recent years. A Duckling strong point this fall figures to be line-backing with Don Causey of North Salem, Kenny King of Roseburg, and Tim Casey of Portland's Jesuit high all rated outstanding prospects. Other freshman performers who have impressed to date are fullback Mike Flurry of Roseburg, and Ray Palm of Roseburg, halfback Dennis Keller of Glendale, Calif., and quarterback Jack Sovereign of San Rafael, Calif.

These players will be seen in action on Saturday night, Oct. 27, at the Medford stadium when the frosh oppose the Oregon State University Rooks.
