

Total Number Of Forest Fires In Area Down In '62

The total number of forest fires in southern Oregon was down during the past fire season but the number of man-caused fires was up, according to reports presented to the timber committee, Southern Oregon Conservation and Tree Farm association at a meeting this week.

Curt Nesheim, district warden, southwest Oregon district, Oregon state department of forestry, reported a total of 227 fires for the past season, compared to 265 fires in 1961. He noted, however, that the number of man-caused fires, 188, represented an increase over last fire season.

Bob Torheim, fire control officer, Rogue River National forest, complimented logging operators for their excellent record this season and reported that there were no reports of fires on the Rogue River National forest from logging operations.

He said that the total for the year, 23, was a decided improvement over last year when a total of 93 fires of all types were controlled.

Nesheim pointed out that the operator caused fires on state protected lands accounted for 12 of the 227 total. Of these 12, one fire in the Cave Junction area which caused a burn of 30 acres accounted for the bulk of the acreage lost to operator caused fires. The other 11 accounted for only a little over 1 1/2 acres. The total acreage lost in the 227 total fires was 2,384 on state protected lands, Nesheim said.

The number of fires on the Rogue River National forest was the lowest on record, Torheim reported. Records have been tabulated on the forest since 1909.

County Approves Vacation of Road

The Jackson county court yesterday approved vacation of a portion of the East Evans Creek rd.

There was no opposition expressed during a public hearing.

County Commissioner Chester Wendt said this section had been bypassed by a new road which eliminated need for crossing two bridges. No one appeared at the hearing.

PICKS RIGHT SPOT

Bromsgrove, England—After a close call most men need a stiff drink and truck driver Leslie Goodyear, 29, was in the right place Tuesday when his rig crashed. Goodyear escaped injury when the truck veered off the road and smashed into a pub.
