

10 A Requirements For Parking Changed By City Planners

The Medford Planning commission Thursday night passed an amendment to the parking requirements in limited commercial districts in Medford.

Previously, the requirement had been four square feet of parking space for every one square foot of gross building area. The amendment changes the ratio to three to one.

The amendment as passed reads: "No building for business, professional, public or quasi public use shall hereafter be erected, enlarged, or moved, upon premises within a limited commercial district, and the actual use of the building shall not be changed to the use classified as IIA, limited commercial, unless vehicle parking area of not hicle parking area of not each square foot of gross building area is provided and thereafter maintained."

Has No Comment

Mark Goldy, representing the Medford Shopping Center, told the group he had "no particular comment to make" about the change, but that he had been waiting to get the matter settled so the future development of the shopping center could be determined.

William Doernbach, 143 Mac ave., told the group his reading in the area of planning indicated to him that the generally recommended ratio was 4 to 1, or if adequate provisions for future developments were made, the ratio might better be 5 to 1.

The commission vote on the amendment was unanimous.

In other action, the commission voted to:

Medford Boy To Benefit From Bloodmobile Visit

Among valley residents who will benefit from blood received during the Tuesday and Wednesday visit of the Red Cross Bloodmobile here will be Melvin Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, 417 Pearl st., Medford.

Melvin, who will celebrate his 13th birthday at Doernbecher Memorial Hospital for Children in Portland Oct. 24, was seriously burned at his home last May.

Since that time he has used 12 pints of blood, and skin grafts will require 30 more pints. It was reported that the skin grafts must wait until there is sufficient blood on hand for the operation.

Student At Hedrick

Melvin was a student at Hedrick Junior High school prior to the accident which happened while he was burning leaves at his home. His parents are in Portland with him. His father is employed by McGrew Brothers Sawmill.

Newby Attends Committee Meeting

State Sen. L. W. Newby of Jackson county was in Portland Thursday attending the interim committee meeting on small business.

The committee was holding hearings on a bill suggested by Gov. Mark Hatfield for creation of a state labor-management relations committee. The measure is based on the unanimous recommendation of the governor's committee on labor-management relations. The recommendation calls for a 10-member committee of five labor and five management representatives appointed by the governor.

The proposed committee would have mediation, fact-finding and research and education duties. It would operate in the field of emergency labor disputes on a voluntary basis where other procedures failed.

Other matters scheduled for consideration were final decisions on proposed legislation regulating retail installment financing and a bill which would prohibit debt-consolidating agencies in Oregon.

Turkey Killings Investigated By Officer in Month

Investigations following the killing of 280 turkeys in Applegate and Eagle Point areas highlighted dog control activities during September, County Dog Control Officer Chris Hagler reported last week.

Stray dogs slaughtered 189 turkeys at Snider's turkey ranch on the Applegate and 42 turkeys at John Osterhout's ranch in the White City area. Later, coyotes killed 49 more turkeys at Snider's ranch.

Hagler said the 189 turkeys were not eaten; they were bitten in the back. Coyotes usually snap off the turkey's head and seldom kill more than they can eat. A mother coyote may have been teaching her pups to kill in this case, Hagler guessed.
