Benefit Tea Set Sunday at Senior Activity Center

The United Crusade Benefit tea will be given Sunday, Oct. 21, at the Senior Activity Center, 601 East Jackson st., Medford, from 1 to 5 p.m.

Seniors who use the free center and board members of the Rogue Valley Council on Aging are sponsoring the event. It will also celebrate the fourth birthday of the senior center, which was started Oct. 21, 1958.

Seniors will exhibit their paintings and other crafts learned in the center classes. Music will be furnished by the Senior Center orchestra under the direction of William Pickell.

Every half hour Russ Jamison, director of the council's board, assisted by the center's coordinating committee, will take guests on guided tours to the "Center of the Future."

Refreshments Planned
Refreshments will be served all afternoon, and voluntary donations will benefit the United Crusade. All interested persons are invited to attend.

All projects of the council on aging are supported by funds from the United Crusade. Besides sponsoring the senior center, the council has formed three Fifty Plus clubs in the county, established a Friendly Visiting service to nursing homes, made housing surveys to find the need for low cost housing, cosponsored an education series for preparation for retirement, and opened a southern Oregon branch of the Senior Craftsmen of Oregon, which now has a shop in the Ashland Art Gallery, 31 Water st., as sales outlet for local craftsmen.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

A TRUCK DRIVER appeared at the Information Desk of the New York Public Library one morning to ask for a book on Siamese cats. "I want to check up on my wife," he explained. "She says they have to eat expensive lamb chops every day. Me she feeds hash!"

There's such a thing as a housewife being too neat, insists Alan King. Take Mrs. King as a case in point. Alan says he arose at 4 A.M. the other day to go to the bathroom—and when he came back, his bed was made.

A direct-mail expert rose to address an advertising convention at White Sulphur Springs the other day. "My job," he began, "is to speak to you this morning on how to make a direct-mail campaign pay. Your job is to listen. If anyone of you gets through before I do, please raise your hand and let me know."

SIGNS OF THE TIMES:
On a bulletin board in a theatrical agent's intercom: "Lion tamer seeks tamer lion."
On a special section for Volkswagens in a Los Angeles parking lot: "The Nursery."
In a Missouri Park: "All persons using this drive as a lover's lane will please observe the rules: participants park on the right, spectators on the left."
On a tycoon's desk: "Things to do today. 1. Get organized. 2. Talk to wife. 3. Get reorganized."
Outside an auto repair shop: "Call us any hour of the day or night. We are always on our tows."

Medford Audience Responds to Band Concert by Marines

By RICHARD WERNER
The United States Marine band under the direction of Lt. Col. Albert Schoepper and sponsored by the Medford High school band played a return engagement last night at Hedrick Junior High school. There was a very large turnout, and it appears that enough will be realized from the concert for the Medford band to go to San Francisco to play at the East-West Shrine football game.

For an hour and 40 minutes the band put forth a variety of musical compositions, some of which were arrangements, and the audience, that wonderful Medford audience, responded as only it can.

Concert moderator was William Jones who also sang the prologue "I Pagliacci." This very magnificent baritone solo was one of the highlights of the evening. The accompaniment however seemed heavier than necessary. We dare not think what would have become of Jones' beautiful tones if he had been without a microphone.

Another highlight was "Mass and Carnival" from La Fiesta Mexicana by H. Owen Reed, an original composition for band. The Mass was especially interesting being built on an ostinato figure of three descending tones.

An arrangement of Gershwin tunes titled "Medley" by William Jolly was still another high spot. This is an exceptionally fine medley and the band is fortunate in having him as their arranger. The band played it extremely well.

A waltz and a nocturne are not very suitable for a band playing and director Schoepper apparently does not have an affinity for this type of music. It was without grace or feeling.

The "Capriccio Italien" by Tchaikovsky, although originally composed for orchestra, did not suffer much in the transcription for band. It is a flamboyant piece and was played that way. Old Peter would have liked it. In fact the audience liked it too.

There were several encores, all marches.

Angelo Di Muro, now of Grants Pass, is still looking for a suitable location for a packaged car body business, County Commissioner Edwin Taylor said this morning.

The county court, Di Muro and Planning Consultant George Brenner, inspected a possible location at the junction of Antelope and Bigham rds. yesterday. However, an Eagle Point area resident protested to County Commissioner Chester Wendt over the possibility of locating the business in that area.

Di Muro said he would melt car bodies and compress them into 18 foot blocks for shipment as scrap metal. He needs two acres of land, and plans to bring some equipment from Chico, Calif. He told the court yesterday he has such an operation now near Grants Pass.

Repair Work at Lakes Is Started

Some repair work is now under way at both Emigrant and Howard Prairie lakes following last week's storm.

However, comparatively little damage resulted from the high winds. County Parks and Recreation Director Neil Ledward said this morning.

A power line was knocked down at Howard Prairie and the area was without power for two days. About four trees were blown down. Tops were blown out of a number of trees, he noted.

The wind blew part of a shed roof through the caretaker's trailer house at Emigrant lake and blew over two toilets. Dock floats were separated at both Emigrant and Howard Prairie, but can be reassembled without damage, Ledward said.

Roads are being graveled at Emigrant and additional camp sites are being cleared at Howard Prairie.

Local Youth Fined In Medford Court

A 19-year-old Medford youth, Lewis Emil Severson, 924 South Ivy st., was fined a total of $75 in municipal court this morning as a result of crashing his car into a power pole last night.

City police cited Severson for violation of basic rule and for being drunk in public after investigating the crash at 9:22 p.m. in front of 733 South Holly st.

Severson, who admitted to officers he had been drinking, said he attempted to pass another vehicle, lost control of his car and smashed into the power pole.

Severson was not injured in the accident, officers said. He was lodged in city jail, pending his appearance before Municipal Court Judge Joseph Fliegel Jr. this morning.
