Hurricane Ella Swings Away from Eastern Seaboard
 Small Craft Warned To Stay in Port

Norfolk, Va. —(UPI)—Hurricane Ella, a monstrous freak measuring 1,000 miles across in spots, swung its highest 100 mph winds farther away from the U. S. mainland Saturday but kept gales trained toward the eastern seaboard. At midnight (EDT), the Washington weather bureau estimated the storm center was 300 miles northwest of Bermuda, near latitude 35.5 north, longitude 68.0 west. Rapidly increasing its speed the storm was moving on a Northeast course at 15 to 20 mph. Ella appeared doomed to die in the cold north Atlantic.

"The hurricane is no longer a threat to coastal sections of the middle Atlantic states," the weather bureau said.

Lowered Warnings
 It lowered gale warnings from Cape May, N. J. to Cape Hatteras, but warned small craft from Block Island, R. I. to Cape Hatteras to remain in port.

Forecasters said the area where the gale watch was in effect could expect rough seas, heavy swells and gale winds a short distance off the coast. Tides were expected to run 1 to 3 feet above normal Saturday night in the area.

"Winds along coastal North Carolina and Virginia are gradually decreasing and will be under 26 mph on the mainland but 30 to 40 mph a short distance off shore," the weather bureau said.

It warned small craft from Block Island, R. I. to Savannah, Ga., and those in extreme southern Chesapeake bay to remain in port until seas subside.

Heavy Fighting Flares on Red China-India Frontier

Seattle World's Fair Readies for Closing Tonight
 Kennedy Cancels Plans To Attend

Seattle, Wash. —(UPI)—This city is scheduled to come back down to earth at midnight tonight.

Seattle has been in orbit for six months, ever since the Seattle World's Fair opened its gates April 21. But when the clock strikes 12 tonight, the exposition will close its gates forever.

President Kennedy was scheduled to help ring down the curtain, but had to cancel his plans because of illness. The White House said the President would try to participate in the closing ceremonies by long-distance telephone from the nation's capital.

Kennedy was to officially open the U. S. science pavilion over to a non-partisan organization.

The $10 million science exhibit, which along with the space needle and monorail shared the spotlight here for the last six months, is expected to be open for business as usual Monday. So will the space needle.

But nothing else on the grounds will.

Turn Off Neons
 Show street with its bare-bosomed beauties, risqué puppets and bearded beatnik banjo strummers will turn off its neons to await destruction.

The Gayway with its 100-foot high space wheel and wild mouse roller-coaster that has attracted close to 9 million customers will lose its laughter.

Foreign exhibitors will get their passports in order; cooking fires will be doused in the food circus, and astronaut John Glenn's space capsule will be sent to the Smithsonian Institute.

Nevertheless, the fair folk are playing the game up to the hilt.

"We're going to have a show that will make a Roman carnival look like a maypole party," said Fair President Joseph Gandy.

"But I'll tell you one thing, this city will never be the same again after this."

Gandy is a happy man. Not only are ticket sales expected to top 10 million, but the fair is ending with a profit—something no other world's fair ever has done in a one-season operation.

DONS RAINCOAT—President Kennedy dons his raincoat in a Chicago hotel lobby as he leaves for the trip back to Washington Saturday. He cancelled the remainder of a scheduled week end campaign tour because his doctor found him to be suffering from a "slight infection."

Both Accuse Each Other of Starting The Border War
 Chinese Lodge Urgent Protest

New Delhi —(UPI)—India and Communist China accused each other today of massive attacks in an undeclared border war and the Chinese lodged an urgent protest.

Fighting was reported continuing this morning in the northern and western sectors along the frontier between the two Asian giants.

India announced that up to 20,000 Chinese Communists attacking in human waves at two points of the border overwhelmed a number of Indian posts and advanced three to four miles inside India yesterday.

The situation was considered so serious that Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon called a briefing last night — his second of the day — to accuse the Chinese of attacking after long preparation and deliberate planning while talking peace.

Register Protest
 The Red Chinese foreign ministry summoned India's charge d'affaires in Peiping, P. K. Banerjee, to a pre-dawn meeting today and registered a formal protest. The official Communist New China News Agency, which reported the meeting, described the protest as a "most urgent and serious protest."

The Chinese Communists charged that the Indian government had refused to negotiate the dispute and had launched "massive attacks on the Chinese frontier guards on Chinese territory," the Communist News Agency said.

"China has no choice but to rebuff their frenzied but attacks resolutely," the protest note said.

The Chinese said Indian troops had inflicted heavy casualties to the Chinese frontier guards who were "compelled to strike back in self defense."

"The fighting is still going on," the protest note said. "The Indian government must bear full responsibility for all the serious consequences arising therefrom."

All-Out War
 Krishna Menon tried to describe the Chinese attacks as a formal "act of war" but it appeared that the two most populous nations in the world, with a combined population of one billion persons, were threatened with all-out war.

Peiping continued to insist the Indians had attacked first. It said Communist troops had "recovered" the border posts of Khingsemane, Chedong and Kalung in the Northeast area. India admitted the loss of Khingsemane, a mountain pass, and Dhola, its most important border post.

Peiping reported heavy casualties among its own troops. It said fighting still raged to-night in the northeast frontier area and in the Ladakh area, near the border of China's Sinkiang province north of Kashmir and 900 miles to the west.

Americans Named To Key Posts at Catholic Council

Vatican City —(UPI)—The Ecumenical Council Saturday announced the election of 112 Roman Catholic leaders, including 13 Americans, to key commission posts in balloting that indicated an apparent victory for church liberals over conservatives.

The historic gathering of more than 2,500 prelates then issued a message calling for peace in a world menaced by the threat of thermonuclear war. It said peace and the need for social justice were two key problems facing the council.

The peace appeal came at a three hour and 30 minute council meeting in which cardinals and bishops were designated for posts on seven of the 10 council commissions that will guide the deliberations of the world-wide meeting. Pope John XXIII altered existing regulations to make a plurality rather than an absolute majority sufficient for election on the first ballot, which was held Tuesday.

Total Number
 Vote counting was still under way for posts on the remaining three commissions. The total number of elected prelates on the final commission rosters will be 160. Another 60 members are appointed by Pope John XXIII.

Observers said a reading of the list of those already chosen indicated considerable success for the liberal school which has been trying to reduce the influence of the Italian and Vatican-based clergy.

The Italian clergy, sometimes accused of trying to exert too much influence on the council, won only 15 of the posts announced thus far.

The U. S. group was second in size. Indians, Chinese and the Church's only Negro cardinal, Laurian Cardinal Rugambwa of Tanganyika, also were chosen.

Johnson Calls For Morse's Reelection By Record Majority

Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson Friday night praised Senator Wayne Morse as a voice of "incorruptible intellectual integrity" and urged the people of Oregon to return him to the Senate "with the largest majority in your state's history."

Johnson told an audience of about 600 persons at a Democratic rally at Hedrick Junior High school that "fear of standing alone, of being branded a non-conformist, has never silenced the voice of Senator Morse."

House Speaker Robert B. Duncan, Democratic candidate for Congress from the fourth district, introduced Morse to the audience as a man "who has never been afraid to say what he thinks." Morse, in turn, introduced the vice president.

Alarm Buzzed
 Johnson, wearing a yellow rose in his lapel, spoke for about 30 minutes. The alarm on his wrist watch buzzed at 9:05 o'clock. As he sat it off, he grinned at the audience and said, "I wear this to tell me when I've talked too much." Then he spoke for 10 minutes more.

Turning to international issues, Johnson promised the Kennedy administration "won't permit Castro to take aggressive action against any part of the hemisphere."

"This country will do whatever must be done to protect the security of the United States and the western hemisphere," he warned.

He said the U. S. will "cooperate with its allies, and respect the constructive views of those neutral nations who respect our views."

But he said the Kennedy administration has transformed the foreign aid program to loans instead of gifts, and he emphasized that reviews are under way to cut out giveaways.

Morse praised area leaders for their work on the Rogue Basin bill and said that its passage will mean a "great economic boom" to southern Oregon.

He promised, if elected, to go forward in the next session of Congress with work on the Agate dam project.

Morse told the audience he is being "subjected to the big lie technique" in this campaign.

Guttersniping
 "You are being told that Morse doesn't deliver," he said, "but that is just plain guttersniping." He said the Republican campaign against him was "an insult to the people of Oregon."

About 300 persons attended a dinner honoring the vice president at the Rogue Valley Country club earlier in the evening. Some 150 persons were on hand at the municipal airport to greet his plane when it arrived at 8:13 p.m.

At the banquet, Mrs. Elizabeth Poston, vice chairman of the Jackson County Democratic central committee, presented Johnson with a pair of myrtlewood bookends, a gift from Democrats in Jackson county.

Johnson's twin-engine prop jet plane took off for San Francisco at 9:43 o'clock Friday night. He planned a day of campaigning in the bay area Saturday.

De Gaulle Attacks French Supreme Court Decision

Paris —(UPI)—President Charles De Gaulle's government Saturday angrily charged France's supreme court with handing down a decision that encourages "subversion and violence."

It did so in a strongly worded reply to the council of state, the nation's highest legal body, which ruled last night that De Gaulle had overstepped his powers by setting up a special military court of justice last June to try secret army organization (OAS) terrorists.

There is no appeal on the council's ruling.

The decision, coming only eight days before the Oct. 28 constitutional referendum which will decide whether De Gaulle remains in office or not, hit the government with shattering impact. It was interpreted as a direct slap-in-the-face to De Gaulle at a moment when he is embroiled in the toughest political battle of his lifetime.

Justice Minister Jean Foyer conferred hastily with Premier George Pompidou and later with De Gaulle himself.

Soon afterward, the government issued a formal statement which amounted to a virtual declaration of war against the council of state.

The government statement recalled that De Gaulle set up the military court by an order based on the April 8 referendum vote which gave him full powers to bring Algeria to independence.

He did so after the earlier military tribunal, which De Gaulle dissolved at the same time, had found extenuating circumstances in the case of secret army organization (OAS) leader Ex-Gen. Raoul Salan and had failed to sentence him to death.

San Francisco —(UPI)—The San Francisco Examiner Saturday announced it was supporting Gov. Edmund G. Brown for reelection.

Hedrick Student Wins Bike Rodeo

Gary Ray, a student at Hedrick Junior High school, was judged champion of the Bicycle Rodeo Saturday afternoon. He received a bicycle from Sim's.

Saturday's bicycle riding skills tests, participated in by about 90 students, was the third and final examination in the annual event sponsored by the Medford Junior Women's club, the Medford Parks and recreation department in cooperation with the Medford police and Jackson county sheriff's department.

Sponsors of the Rodeo said that approximately one-third of those who participated in the third test, qualified for the finals. The scores were so close that all finalists had to repeat all three tests—written, mechanical and skills.

Other boys who won were Gerald Redding, Hoover, radio from Newberry's; Bob Capsey, Hoover, camera from Weisfield's; and Rodney Kuschel, Jackson, watch from Zale's. Gail Carpenter, Roosevelt, topped the girls in the competition. She received a radio from Sears, Roebuck. Other winners were Teresa Ann Darby, St. Mary's, camera from Ander's Photo shop, and Julie Ray, Westside, $10 gift certificate from Toy House. Julie is the sister of the champion.

'Slight Infection' Forces JFK to Cut Weekend Campaign

Washington —(UPI)—President Kennedy Saturday had to cut short his coast to coast election campaign tour and returned to the White House to battle a feverish cold.

The illness was described as a "slight upper respiratory infection" which sent the President's temperature one degree above normal. He was hoarse when he awoke Saturday morning.

Kennedy arrived at Andrews Air Force base, Md., by jet plane from Chicago at 1:23 p.m. (EDT), and went immediately to the White House by helicopter. The interruption came after he had completed only one-third of campaign swing.

It was a combination of the cold and rain along his campaign route that persuaded the President to follow doctors orders and cancel his remaining engagements. Word was sent out to disappointed Democrats in Milwaukee, St. Louis, Albuquerque, Las Vegas and Seattle.

Appeared Tired
 Sunny, warm weather greeted him on his return to the capital. He walked from his jet plane, with a gray fedora in his hand, saluted an Air Force guard and strolled to the helicopter.

En route to the plane from his Chicago hotel, Kennedy appeared tired and rather glum. A light rain was falling, and he wore the hat. This was unusual for him. He appeared to shiver slightly as he shrugged into a raincoat and climbed into a waiting car.

While slight, the infection was the President's worst illness since he reinjured his back last year. He was troubled by a cold earlier this month, but shook it off with the help of aspirin and anti-histamines and has campaigned every week end of the month so far.

The infection struck after Kennedy spent a strenuous day campaigning through Ohio and Illinois. Rear Adm. George Burkley, assistant White House physician, diagnosed the trouble as a minor cold in the upper chest.

Since the President had been scheduled to spend much of the day at outdoor rallies, and since rain was falling along his route as far west as Albuquerque, the decision was made to break off the trip.

Wanted Man Arrested In Jackson County

A man wanted by the Klamath county sheriff's department was picked up by state police Saturday evening and lodged in the Jackson county jail in lieu of $2,500 bail.

Charged with embezzlement was Sidney MacEwen. Police said an officer picked MacEwen up along the Jackson county highway around 7 p.m.

Deputies Check Fatal Shooting

Sheriff's officers said Saturday they are still investigating the fatal shooting of Albert Jesse Conner, 39, Eagle Point, on the Tripod rd. near Prospect Friday.

Deputies said Conner died of a self-inflicted wound, but are making a further investigation.

It was reported Conner and Arnold Wilmer Ragsdale, Trail, were driving into the Prospect area to look for cattle and had rifles with them. Ragsdale asked Conner to stop because he saw deer.

As he sighted in his rifle on the deer, Ragsdale discovered it was a doe. But, as he turned around he heard a rifle explode on the other side of the truck. Thinking Conner had shot a deer he ran around the other side and found Conner's body.

The body was taken to Conger-Morris funeral home in Medford. Services will be held at 3 p.m., Tuesday, with burial in the Trail cemetery.

18 Feared Dead in Collision of Ships

Lutcher, La. —(UPI)—A seaman was killed and 17 others are feared dead below decks of a Norwegian tanker that exploded and burned early Saturday when it was rammed broadside by a tug on the foggy Mississippi river.

A series of explosions rocked the Norwegian tanker "Boheme" sending flames shooting into the sky. The vessel was laden with highly explosive chemicals. The tug was towing oil barges.

The dead man was identified as Hans Willemssen of Copenhagen, Denmark, second mate aboard the "Boheme." His body was found floating in the Mississippi.

Seventeen of his shipmates are believed to be trapped and dead in the stern section of the charred ship.

The thick, rolling fog was blamed for the flaming collision between the tug "Bonny D" and the 10,400 ton "Boheme."

U.S. Nuclear Stockpile Said Enough to 'Overkill' Russia

Washington —(UPI)—Physicist Ralph E. Lapp said Saturday the United States has stockpiled "enough nuclear explosives to overkill the Soviet Union at least 25 times."

That being the case, "the unending production of bomb material by the Atomic Energy commission should be called off at long last," Lapp said, and the money and effort thus saved devoted to "science and atomic energy for peace."

Lapp, a writer and lecturer on nuclear affairs who worked in the World War II atomic project, expressed these views in a new book "Kill and Overkill: The Strategy of Annihilation," published by Barnes Books of New York.

By "annihilation" Lapp meant destruction of both sides in nuclear war. "The United States cannot stop Communism by nuclear arms without destroying itself, nor can the Soviet Union overthrow capitalism by force without suffering the same fate," he said.

In the meantime, Lapp said, civilization continues to invest more and more of its income in an arms industry upon which it is becoming dangerously dependent.

"Unless there is a drastic change in the public outlook," he said, "the triumvirate of Congress, the military, and industry may condemn the United States to a permanent and ever-growing arms economy."

The upshot of a continuing nuclear arms race between the United States and Russia may well be a war in which there "can be no victory" for either side, Lapp said.

He said it is to the interest of both big nuclear powers to halt the race before Red China joins it. He said "The time is short; the 1970s will be too late."

Lapp said too few individuals concern themselves with the possibility, or probability, that civilization will destroy itself, accidentally or on purpose, unless there is disarmament.

"The strangest aspect of our perilous times," he said, "is the ominous quiet. Probably never before in history has the human race looked so much like sheep marching silent" to slaughter.
