

MANOR-ISMS . . . .

By ETHELYN EVANS

POLITICAL ITEMS will be popping up until after November 6, I'm sure. Mark Goldy gave a "get acquainted" kaffeeklatsch in the Manor Clubroom so that our members could meet William Singler, candidate for Medford mayor, and Edward Branchfield, candidate for state representative. Mrs. Branchfield, Mr. and Mrs. Lou Cranston and Mrs. Richard Finch from Medford, joined the party. After informative and interesting talks by both candidates, members asked many questions. Mr. Branchfield explained the 10 propositions on the ballot for November 6. The session lasting well into the lunch hour. Mrs. Goldy presided over an attractive and bounteous table of refreshments.

MANOR STYLE SHOW: Last year our first style show was modest and very nice. This year's show grew like "Topsy", quantity-wise, also in quality and in the professional manner of presentation. Held in the big auditorium Wednesday, 36 Manor women modeled for four Medford shops. It was a widely varied and selective show.

Gold Hill Unit Plans Annual Sale

Gold Hill — Plans for the annual Christmas seal sale were discussed by members of the Gold Hill Health unit at the October meeting for which Mrs. E. C. Hoffman was hostess at her home on highway 99 north. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Arthur Boye, Gold Hill, and Miss Elizabeth McGalliard, Medford. Mrs. Grover T. Mulkey, president, conducted the business session.

Seals will be prepared for mailing at the November meeting of the group which will be held at the home of Mrs. Edward Knapp, 1006 Sunset avenue, Medford, Tuesday, November 13. Election day, November 6, and a rummage sale on that date conflict with the regular meeting day, forcing a meeting change. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. Virginia Kyer, Mrs. Lowell Iverson and Mrs. Fred Brennen, all Medford. Those attending are to take pens for writing. Seal Sale chairmen are Mrs. Boye and Mrs. Ted Schoenmann.

Mrs. Paul Molloy reported on the rummage sale slated for November 5 and 6 at the Fehi building in Medford. It will be a joint project with the Woman's Society of Christian Service. The groups will share proceeds.

Miss McGalliard, Jackson county health nurse, reminded members of the importance of flu shots. They were told to see their family physicians.

Mrs. Knapp, program chairman, read an article on tuberculosis written by Dr. George Dennison, health director of Birmingham, Ala., home of the nation's best tuberculosis control program. Drugs have been developed since World War II that do control most tuberculosis cases, it was stated. The problem in this disease is finding new cases, it was said. Most can be cured if detected in time.

It was agreed that the unit will participate in the annual teachers party on Tuesday, October 30, at Gold Hill Grange hall. Mrs. Molloy was named to take charge of a skit for entertainment. Mrs. Mulkey and Mrs. Ted Schoenmann will decorate the hall. Mrs. Hoffman reported on the Rogue Basin flood control program. She is unit delegate on this project.

Mrs. Walter Sutherland became a member of the unit and Mrs. Frank Lockwood was a visitor.

Phoenix-Talent Teachers Meet

Talent-Phoenix — At the first general business meeting October 10 of the Phoenix-Talent Teachers association, John Kuehler, president of the Jackson County Classroom Teachers reported on a state DCT conference at Bend.

He also pointed out that funds are needed for the Jackson county chapter for operating expenses as it is not included in the Oregon Education association budget. Harry Kannasto conducted the meeting.

A social was planned for October 25 for District 4 employees to be sponsored by the local teachers association. The event will be held in the high school multi-purpose room.

Mrs. Kathryn Stancil spoke of legislation in Oregon that is of importance to education and also gave some highlights of the National Education association convention held in Denver last summer.

and the large and enthusiastic audience marveled that in a community of this size the shops could produce so many excellent, fashionable and appropriate costumes. At the end we had four men models — "the creme-de-la-creme" of the show. The first three men modeled strictly from the original; Andy Anderson wearing a mask which fooled no one, appeared in a "high-style" bathing outfit (Heaven knows where he got it); Bob Robinson was a summer leisure-time "gent"; Win Weatherby was there for the retired crowd (and I do mean night-time retiring) and Bob Evans represented a casual "play-boy" in a Barker's ultrasmart smoking jacket.

JEAN HART models were Miss Ethel Marley, Mrs. Neal McGrady, Mrs. Roby Evans, Mrs. Walter Sykes, Mrs. Stanley Simmons, Mrs. Perry West, Mrs. Glenn Taylor, Mrs. Winslow Weatherby, Mrs. Lee Elsworth.

BURELSON'S models were Mrs. R. H. Henderson, Mrs. Hiram Salisbury, Mrs. Mark Goldy, Mrs. Frank Schroeder, Miss Florence Morris, Mrs. Judd Greenman, Mrs. Minerva Webster, Mrs. Grace Collins, Mrs. C. Rease Bracey.

MANN'S had Dr. Edith Robby, Mrs. Paul Weidner, Mrs. Francis R. Olds, Mrs. William B. Giles, Mrs. Estelle Belle McDaniel, Mrs. Samuel Amey, Mrs. A. L. Todd.

TOWN AND COUNTRY models were Mrs. Ralph Moore, Mrs. C. W. Woodcock, Mrs. T. W. McQuarrie, Mrs. Bailey Aggeler, Mrs. Maurice Leslie, Mrs. Charles H. Davis, Miss Florence Gifford, Mrs. James L. Cutler.

After the show, coffee, punch and a great variety of cookies were served to the full capacity crowd. The cookies were all home baked by Manor women in their own small kitchens.

Our praise and accolades to Mrs. Eloise Faulkner, chairman for the show, who planned it all and worked long hours to bring it off successfully.

Mrs. Ann Douglas, Chicago, Ill., has been entertaining her son, Mr. Lawrence Douglas, Muscatine, Iowa, and her sister, Mrs. F. S. Breed, also from Chicago. Mrs. Breed has purchased a Manor home and will remain in the Manor or in Medford until given a permanent apartment.

The long table at the luncheon held in the dining room for all members having birthdays during the current month are always beautifully decorated. The September table was truly gorgeous with large white bowls of white and a luscious pink petunias—all from our members' gardens.

Mrs. James S. Lum, Grants Pass, Oregon, has been responsible for these decorations from the beginning and has surely done a marvelous job.

Gold Hill Society Conducts Meeting On United Nations

Gold Hill — United Nations was the title of the program and worship at October meeting of Woman's society of Gold Hill Community Methodist church when the group met at the home of Mrs. Earl Moore on Lammpan road.

Mrs. O. G. Den Kellogg had charge of that portion of the meeting when she conducted a question and answer period that covered the organization of the United Nations.

Mrs. George Dorman assisted Mrs. Kellogg with the worship. Mrs. Roy Eskew, president officiated at the business session.

It was decided that due to a conflicting meeting of Mrs. Erwin C. Hoffman, vice-president of the society, future meetings of the group will be held on the second Wednesday of each month instead of Thursday as planned. Mrs. George Smith will be hostess for the next meeting at her home on Sardine creek road on Wednesday, November 14.

A dessert luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m., and the business meeting will commence at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Ferd Jones will have charge of the program and worship at the November meeting. The lesson will concern reports from "Lands of Decision."

Mrs. Eskew reminded officers that reports will be due at the November session.

Mrs. Thomas Z. Smith gave a report on the fall seminar of the sub-district Woman's society meeting held at St. Luke's church in Medford recently. Other than Mrs. Smith, those who attended the session were Mrs. Melvin Burnett, Mrs. Ina Smith, Mrs. Albert Gascon, Mrs. Dorman, Mrs. Eskew and Mrs. Lawrence Smith.

The Michigan agriculture experiment station, in East Lansing, reports that most homemakers shop from a list, but decide on additional purchases, once in a store.

Among the models for a style show held at Rogue Valley Manor Wednesday afternoon were Mrs. Stanley Simmons (at left) and Mrs. Grace Collins. Mrs. Simmons modeled a Jean Hart red wool suit trimmed with black karakul fur collar. Mrs. Collins, a long-time Medford resident, modeled a grey wool coat enhanced with grey fox collar and cuffs from Burelson's store.

The Altrusa club of Medford will observe United Nations day with an international program at a no-host dinner meeting Thursday, October 25 at 7 p.m., in the Rogue Valley Country club.

Mrs. Fred Konshot and Miss Joan Beasley, international affairs cochairman, will be in charge of the program. Hostesses will be Miss Lotus Eaton and Mrs. Florence McKenna.

This project will be headed by Mrs. Konshot and Miss Beasley.

The international project of Altrusa is giving grants-in-aid to foreign women students who are in this country doing advance study with the intention of using their training to help women in their own countries.

This project was started in 1945 the same year the United Nations was formed. Recent reports on the project indicate that since that year $220,312 was given by voluntary donations to 434 women graduate students from Central and South America, West Indies, the Middle East and Asia, from Altrusa clubs which support the grants-in-aid program.

These grantees in the past have become ambassadors of goodwill on their return to their countries, having inside knowledge of similar interests and efforts for world harmony.

Altrusa also maintains an official observer at the UN who reports regularly on special issues and programs through the magazine, The International Altrusa, copies of which are in the public library.

Dancing and cards were diversions of the evening and singing was led by Willis Jones, as the "Mitch Miller of Hornbrook."
