'Prenatal Care' To Be Program Topic

"Adventures in Medicine" will be seen at 12 noon today over station KBES-TV, with a replay at 4 p.m. if time permits following the football game.

The change in air time for the locally produced medical program is necessitated by network commitments, according to Mrs. C. Ivan Burton, program moderator.

Three obstetricians and gynecologists make up the panel whose topic this afternoon will be "Prenatal Care." Dr. Otto R. Emig, Dr. Charles J. Walstrom, and Dr. John R. McLaughlin will discuss the importance of good prenatal care, noting some of the more common problems that occur during pregnancy.

Influenza Tops List Of Area's Diseases

Influenza continued at the top of the list of communicable diseases reported to the Jackson County public health department.

Dr. A. Erin Merkel, public health officer, noted last week 17 flu cases were reported in Medford, six in Central Point, five from Ashland, and three from Jacksonville.

Measles placed second with seven cases from Ashland and three from Talent. Medford also reported one case each, of whooping cough, pneumonia, infectious hepatitis, meningitis and infectious mononucleosis. One case of gonorrhea was reported in the county and one case of amoebic dysentery in Talent.

Medford reported three cases of German measles and Talent three cases.

INDIAN CRISIS — Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru, who proclaimed state of national emergency for his nation this week end, told members of his Congress party in the Parliament that he had made arrangements to secure arms "speedily" from other countries to combat Chinese Communist invasion of Indian defense posts along the 1,000-mile border. This news map shows Ladakh frontier in northwest (1) and northeast frontier along disputed McMahon Line (2) where heavy fighting has been reported. (UPI)

Program, Speakers Listed For Lilly Seminars Here

The Lilly seminars, under the auspices of the Oregon Academy of General Practice, will be held in Eugene, Medford, and Coos Bay early next month. The seminars are presented through a grant by Eli Lilly and Company.

The Medford session will be held Wednesday, Nov. 7, in the auditorium at Rogue Valley hospital. It will begin at 1:30 p.m.

Afternoon speakers will include Dr. Edward G. Biglieri, San Francisco, assistant professor of medicine, University of California school of medicine; Dr. Arthur C. Beall Jr., Houston, Texas, assistant professor of surgery, Baylor university college of medicine; and Dr. Vincent C. DiRaimondo, San Francisco, assistant professor of medicine, University of California school of medicine.

Topics Listed
Their topics will include "Recognition and confirmation of endocrine hypertension," "Recent advances in surgical management of renal vascular hypertension," and

"Modern aspects of diabetes." The evening session will be held at the Rogue Valley Country club. Speaker will be Dr. Beall, who will speak on "Clinical Patterns of Atherosclerotic Occlusive Disease."

Chairmen of the three seminars are Dr. Laurel G. Case, Medford; Dr. David K. Hills, Eugene; and Dr. Robert Chappuzio, Coos Bay. The Eugene session will be held Nov. 6 and the Coos Bay seminar Nov. 8.

A HAMMOND ORGAN IS magical

but there's no magic to playing it

You sound better on a HAMMOND because...

Thousands of different tones are at your command—and you can blend them as you like, just as easily as an artist blends colors. These beautiful tones, this unique flexibility, is possible with Hammond's exclusive "Harmonic Drawbars".

Fascinating percussion effects are yours by a simple change of touch on the keys. Only with Hammond's exclusive "Touch-Response Percussion" can you flavor one note or chord to another with a rich percussive quality.

No tuning problems* to worry about. For only a Hammond Organ has permanent pitch through its unique method of tone generation. Easy To Play—so easy that you will be amazed when you finger out beautiful melodies the first time you sit down at a Hammond Organ. No previous musical knowledge is necessary for playing the Hammond Organ—so you can start now!

Eagles Lodge To Assist New Project

Plans are under way by Crater Lake aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, to assist in the support of an Eagle House, which will be established in Turkey.

The house, the ninth set up by the Eagles lodge, will give youngsters in that country an opportunity to learn a trade and become self supporting.

It will be named the William G. Watson Memorial workshop honoring the memory of the Ohio man who was grand secretary when he died in May. It will be established in cooperation with CARE, international voluntary relief agency.

The Eagle-CARE trade school will be located in Nigde to train electricians. Teachers will be provided by the Turkish ministry of education.

A chairman for the local aerie for the project is expected to be appointed soon and a program formulated to raise money for the project, it was reported.

Seminar On UN Is Attended By Leaders

Portland — Mrs. George N. McBride, Portland, president of the Oregon State Council for Great Decisions, has returned from a community leaders seminar on the United Nations and world affairs in New York City.

Mrs. McBride was one of 60 community leaders who attended the session sponsored by the Foreign Policy association.
