Oregon Dry Cleaners To Hold Convention Here This Week End

Approximately 300 persons are expected to attend the 16th annual convention of the Oregon Dry Cleaners association in Medford Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Abb Gressett, Medford, is president of the state association and convention chairman. All business sessions will be at the Rogue Valley Country club and Thunderbird Lodge in Medford will be convention headquarters.

There for the convention is "More Sales in '63" with four speakers scheduled on sales and public relations. Al Johnson, New York City, N. Y., director of the National Institute of Dry Cleaners, will be among the speakers. He will talk on "Textile Standards—Answer to Textile Problems."

Gressett, co-manager and partner in Drive-In Cleaners in Medford and Klamath Falls, noted that cleaners are having increasing problems with poorly made clothes and low quality material. Johnson's speech might help the consumer to be more careful in buying clothes, he noted. He estimated about 30 per cent of clothes brought to local cleaning establishments are made in Japan.

Richard Newman, Bakersfield, Calif., one of California's most successful plant operators, will talk on how to increase route volume and give ideas on routes versus stores.

Paul Jacobson, New York City, N. Y., of the Wallenstein company, will speak on the "Professional Cleaners vs. the Coin-op Cleaner."

Other speakers will be Steve Carroll, Long Beach, Calif., on NID's latest programs; James Swindells, lawyer, Portland, Oregon's new labor management act and its effect upon the dry cleaning business; and Doug Ramsey, Los Angeles, Calif., of the Warco corporation, to speak on sideline extras. Gold and bowling tournaments will be held for all those who register Friday morning, Friday night, a buffet lunch and dance will be held at the Rogue Valley Country club. A style show and other entertainment will be provided. An installation banquet will be held at the country club Saturday evening.

Ashington, England—479—Four players were carried off the field Sunday during an England-Scotland international soccer match—between girls. None was seriously hurt.
