

Herd Law Placed on Ballot For Sardine Creek Residents

By MARY KELL
Mail Tribune Correspondent

Gold Hill — A petition to have a proposed herd law placed on the ballot for the November 6 election has been approved by the Jackson County court, according to Mrs. Walter Whitney.

She is chairman of a herd law committee for Sardine creek property owners who want 3,120 acres of grazing area above the forks on Sardine creek closed to cattle running at large.

Only Owners Vote
Mrs. Whitney said the necessary legal advertising and posting on the creeks has been done by the county clerk. Only property owners who are registered voters and reside within the proposed herd law area will be eligible to vote on the issue, she said.

Mrs. Whitney stated that even if the proposed herd law is approved by voters in the area, more than 11,000 grazing acres would be unaffected by the law.

She added that those who want the proposed herd law say they would like to use the county roads and their private property without having the cattle hazard.

She said at present stock is running at large, which is permitted according to the law, regardless of damage caused by cattle.

Mrs. Whitney commented that following a recent Mail Tribune article concerning action that had been taken by some Sardine creek residents to have a proposed law placed on the ballot, she received requests from residents in other areas in the valley who wanted information on herd laws because of cattle nuisance.

Regional Roundup

by Cleve Twitchell
Mail Tribune Regional Editor

The election which looms on the horizon just a little more than a week away is just going to be too much of a good thing. There are simply too many contests of interest on the ballot at the same time.

Your editor, for instance, is faced with city council and mayor elections in virtually every incorporated city in the regional area of Jackson and Josephine counties. Then on top of all those races, there are the fluoridation issues in Ashland and Medford, the Josephine county election on a proposal to create a People's Utility district, and a measure to change the name of Cave Junction to Cave City. Added to these, of course, are the county-wide contests and issues, many of which we find highly interesting.

The crushing blow, however, is the fact that because your editor is a recent transplant from California (and because his territory includes part of Siskiyou county), he has almost as much interest in the California elections as he does in those in Oregon. Who, for instance, could wish for a more suspenseful contest than the Nixon-Brown contest? We're also waiting eagerly to see how Ralph Richardson and Max Rafferty fare in their struggle for the state superintendent of public instruction post. The California state senate reappointment proposition is another one we'll be watching, and then we will be quite eager to find out how Rep. John Rousselot, the Birchier, comes out against Ronald Brooks Cameron in southern California's 25th Congressional district. That's where we used to live, and at one time we were acquainted with both men.

HILTON BRIGNALL

Hilton Brignall Is Seeking Re-Election To Gold Hill Council

Gold Hill — Hilton Brignall says his main reason for seeking election for a two-year council position is because he wants to do some good for Gold Hill and is interested in seeing the city progress.

Brignall was appointed last spring to complete the unexpired term of Fred Lester on the council. Since then he has been chairman of the police commission and among others is a member of the nuisance committee.

Previous experience in public affairs was in Hannah, North Dakota. He was a member of the board for the township for 12 years prior to its incorporation as a city. He received his formal education there and is a member of the Masonic lodge at Hannah, he said.

Brignall came to southern Oregon in 1939. Prior to coming to Gold Hill to reside two years ago, he was a resident of Ashland, Medford, and Central Point. He is a self-employed carpenter.

The candidate and his wife, Gertrude, reside in their new home on First ave. Mrs. Larry South, Central Point is his daughter.

DRIVE EXTENDED
Illinois Valley — Chairman Walter McLean of the Illinois Valley United Fund drive has extended the drive another two weeks because of the recent storm. No totals are available on collections made to date, but workers have reported favorable response.

Parents Visit Crater High Classrooms

Central Point — The Crater High School Parent-Teacher-Student association (PTSA) held the first meeting of the season Oct. 22 in the Crater cafeteria.

Superintendent Charles A. Meyer, after welcoming the members, invited them to visit as much of the school as possible, stating that the new wing is now being used. It was noted that there is an increase of 147 students at the school over last year.

Arthur Straus, principal of Crater, explained a map given to the group, and outlined the schedule the parents would follow as they visited with the classroom teachers of their children in ten minute time periods. Straus then introduced members of the faculty.

After completion of the visitations to the classrooms, refreshments were served in the school cafeteria.

Carol Seifert Is Honored for Merit

Illinois Valley — Carol A. Seifert, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. K. Seifert of Selma, has been honored for her high performance on the National Qualifying test given last spring.

Miss Seifert is a senior at Illinois Valley High school. She received a letter of commendation signed by her principal Frank Husacker and John M. Stalnaker, president of the National Merit Scholarship corporation.

Prospect Lions Have Thanksgiving Early

Prospect — The Prospect Lions club enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner a little early. The club dined at Beckie's cafe at Union creek and had its annual Thanksgiving dinner, because the cafe will be closed during Thanksgiving itself and the rest of the winter.

The next four Lions meetings will be held at the Prospect Community hall with the Lady Lions serving. The first of these meetings will be Nov. 7 at 7:30 p.m.

Firemen's Auxiliary Being Organized In Illinois Valley

Illinois Valley — A new organization known as the Illinois Valley Rural Firemen's auxiliary has been organized by wives of the Volunteer firemen.

Anyone wishing to join is welcome and is asked to come to the next meeting, November 6 at 7:30 p.m. at the fire hall on the Caves highway.

Auxiliary business meetings are held the first and third Tuesdays of the month, at the same hours and dates the volunteer firemen meet, but in separate rooms.

Following the business meetings the firemen and auxiliary combine a social hour with refreshments.

At the October meeting officers were elected: Mrs. Vivian Deaton, chairman leading the auxiliary organization, was elected president; Mrs. Don MacAnail, vice president; Mrs. William Box, secretary-publicity; Mrs. Vebert Kirk, treasurer.

Executive officers will be Mrs. Sally Allstrom, also serving as refreshment chairman; Mrs. Hilder Jacobson, Mrs. Bertha Wheeler and Mrs. Marilyn Kessler, who will oversee cards and flowers. Sergeant at arms will be Mrs. Caroline Wilder.

Summer Cabins Hit by Storm

Mail Tribune Correspondent
By VELDA BARR

Prospect — A number of summer cabins at Union creek were damaged in the recent wind storm.

Cabins damaged included those belonging to Mrs. Linda F. Goddard, W. P. Lassett, F. W. Eberlin, Roy Call and E. F. Anderson, all of Klamath Falls; Dr. F. J. Shasky, John Henson and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stewart of Medford; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Storie of Hermosa Beach, Calif.; Cecil Green of North Highlands, Calif.; Mrs. Flo Hall of Long Beach, Calif.; Mrs. Edna Prosser of San Antonio, Tex.; Hoident S. Duell of Gold Hill and A. A. Pickett of Malin, Ore.

Call's cabin was nearly demolished by falling timber.

The beautiful trees that were at the Muir creek campground were nearly all blown down. There's hardly enough trees left there for shade.

When you need prompt CASH for new CLOTHES — or any other worthwhile need — stop in. Or call first and we'll have the money waiting for you.

BIGGEST REACH

99 Million Consumers Read a Daily Newspaper Each Weekday

These readers make up the largest audience available to any advertiser in any medium. A recent study* of this national newspaper audience shows that it includes 80 per cent of all men and women over 21 ... and 72 per cent of all teenagers, age 15 and over. This huge and consistent readership can be depended upon by advertisers because the daily newspaper is a habit with most people ... an established part of their everyday lives. For the national advertiser, this amounts to almost the total market for any product. For the local advertiser, this massive readership symbolizes the local reach of his own local newspaper — into almost 9 out of 10 homes every day. No matter what the product or service an advertiser wants to sell, more people can read about it in the pages of the daily newspaper.
