Duncan Steps Up Campaign With Week End Talks

Robert B. Duncan, Speaker of the Oregon House of Representatives and Democratic candidate for the Congress returned to Lane county Sunday afternoon after a week end of campaigning in Josephine and Jackson county.

Duncan told supporters from Cave Junction gathered at a coffee in his honor that he was hopeful that the administration would allocate funds from the emergency public works appropriation to projects in Josephine, Douglas and Coos counties of a permanent nature - projects that would not only furnish immediate employment, but add to the permanent wealth of the area and furnish jobs for many years to come.

At a reception at the Mark Antony hotel in Ashland Saturday night Duncan said that all America should be grateful for President Kennedy's leadership during the crisis over Cuba. Duncan pointed out that he had spoken out in the primary, in the face of criticism, on the danger of the communist menace in Cuba 90 miles from the U.S.

Talk Is Easy

On Sunday Duncan joined the caravan of Democratic candidates campaigning in the McKenzie river area. At McKenzie school Duncan reminded the audience that talk is easy. That deeds are what is important in determining who to vote for.

He mentioned that he had proposed concrete action to help the lumber industry, his opponent had proposed talks. He noted that everyone agreed that it would be fine if the government could get out of agriculture – but that there were times when a legislator had to choose between two undesirable alternatives and that he would not vote for government to withdraw from agriculture if the alternative was an agricultural depression.

Finally at the Memorial building in Springfield Sunday night Duncan supported the administrations move to eliminate waste from the foreign aid program, to accompany it with insistence on local reforms, to replace grants with loans, and to secure the financial assistance of other nations for the program.

Duncan continues his campaign in Lane county Monday and Tuesday.

Fisher Pleased With Interest Residents Have In Election

Republican Candidate Carl Fisher Monday reviewed the issues that have "taken shape and form" between him and his opponent for the Fourth district seat in Congress during the past few months.

Speaking to a Medford Chamber of Commerce Roundtable luncheon, Fisher said he was pleased with the interest the people of the district are taking in the election campaign.

"One thing stands out," Fisher said. "Despite what the experts say, I have not encountered the apathy that is traditionally associated with an off-year election."

Cuban Stand

The canddate outlined the position he has taken on several issues placing particular stress on his stand with respect to the Cuban situation.

He recalled that on Oct. 11 he had stated he would support President Kennedy in a "firm" policy on Cuba, even to the extent of a quarantine or blockade.

"My opponent at that time called my statement 'an irresponsible position'," Fisher said.

"American determination to draw a hard and fast line in Cuba is paying dividends. Until the moment when President Kennedy took his firm stand with the Russians, the American people had little about which to be proud in the conduct of our foreign affairs," he said.

Fisher criticized the administration for not acting "firmly and decisively" in such areas as the Congo, Laos, Berlin and Red China.

Did The Right Thing

"Now we can again hold our heads high," he said, "knowing that we did the right thing even though the danger was very great."

But the speaker warned against a feeling of complacency or letdown now that the crisis has eased somewhat.

"We may have very little time in which to feel the satisfaction which is ours today," Fisher cautioned. "We know the Communists well enough to understand that for them this is only a minor loss in what they consider a never-ending battle for supremacy. We must now prepare ourselves for pressures as great or even greater from sources such as Berlin. We must continue to be alert to our dangers because the Russians are past masters at driving hard at an opponent who is content, self-satisfied, complacent or afraid."

Accept Responsibilities

"I have full confidence, however, that the people of this nation are more than ready to accept their responsibilities and will back our leaders in any firm policy," he concluded.

Turning to state and district problems, Fisher suggested that the congressional delegations from states in the Pacific northwest form a lumber bloc and work as a team to solve the region's timber problems.

"Individual legislators are seldom able to accomplish much by themselves," he said, "but working as a team they could be as effective as, for example the farm bloc is from the midwest."

The speaker suggested that agricultural interests in Oregon, regardless of the product or commodity they produce, should also work together as a group, since, in a sense, "their futures are linked."

National Budget

In the area of government spending, Fisher pointed out that the federal budget has grown from $40 billion in 1950 to $92.5 billion for the coming fiscal year. About 75 per cent of that amount is due to domestic spending, he said, expenditures not related to the space race.

Fisher recalled a rule of thumb that he used when he served on the ways and means committee in the last session of the state legislature.

"We asked ourselves there whether something was just desirable, or was really needed," he said.

He suggested that congress should take a "long, hard look" at requests for appropriations in such areas as foreign aid, for example, to determine if cuts are possible.

"We must spend the tax dollar very carefully," he said.

Roundtable Chairman Bill Longmore announced that Republican candidate for the state legislature John Dellenback is scheduled to speak at next Monday's Roundtable luncheon.

Drivers Told To Use Headlights in Fog

Chief of Police Charles P. Champlin reminded Medford drivers that headlights should be used when driving in fog.

Many people still persist in using parking lights to drive in daytime fog, Champlin said. This not only is dangerous, but is a violation of law when there is not enough light for a driver to see clearly ahead for a distance of 500 feet.

Champlin pointed out that when driving in semi-darkness or fog it is equally important for your car to be seen easily at a distance by other drivers as it is for you to see clearly.

They'll Do It Every Time — By Jimmy Hatlo

Klamath Falls Children Send 'Space Spooks' for VA Halloween Carnival

White City – Drawn and paste-up reflections of the clean, mirror-minds of grade school children featured the annual Halloween carnival here last Friday night.

Roosevelt school fifth graders of Klamath Falls sent their pictures and drawings of "space spooks' which were hung in the lobby and down the corridors from the theater building. It brought to mind the flying particles Astronaut John Glenn encountered in his first orbital space trip around the earth.

Director C. T. Jackson witnessing one of his first all-out efforts of the loyal and active volunteers had praise for the 50 to 60 women who contributed time and effort to the successful carnival.

Member Ray Oliver turned out as a clown was the only casualty. He had used rubber glue to paste a nose onto his face and when it came off the skin came with it. He will be a feature to delight Medford children in the upcoming Veterans Day parade, Nov. 12.

Stores and Games

Eleven volunteer organizations kept the stores and games. They were American Gold Star Mothers Margaret Eakin and Mary Parker; the American Legion auxiliary members, Myrtle Hall and Lorena Leach, and Blue Star Mothers who held a penny toss with Ardene Kretschner and Eula Middlebusher in the booth. A dart game for candies was handled by Pat Graham of the Disabled American Veterans. Mrs. Rita Holmes and Martha Bowker held a ball toss into jars for the Fifty Plus club of Medford.

The Disabled American Veterans auxiliary with Bertha Neff and Hazel Rawls had assorted prizes at another game. The Junior Red Cross, with Mrs. Fred Darby and Mrs. John Day held a race for candy and cigarettes. Helen Lusk and Amber Sutherland operated a beauty parlor for various make-up carnival faces for the Military Order of the Lady Bugs. The United Spanish War Veterans auxiliary, with Austia Barneburg and Hazel Anderson, with an aid from Polly Offut and Lela Lamb, had balloon breaking with darts for cigarettes and candy. Frances Zundel and Faye Allison had a fish pond in operation for the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary. And World War I auxiliary and department with Dorothy Leuty and Mabel Lynch had a baseball toss for candy, cigarettes and apples.

The packed theater never emptied until the refreshments ended the colorful evening.

Dining Room Being Built at Restaurant

Construction is under way on a dining room capable of seating 130 persons at North's Chuck Wagon, according to John North, owner of the restaurant.

Crews from Bessonette Construction company expect to finish the project about Nov. 15, North said.

The 36 - by - 60 - foot dining room will be accessible from the present main entrance to the restaurant.

Depending upon the occasion, North said, patrons may either go through a serving line with a tray, or be waited on at a table.

The room, which will be finished in wood paneling, will be available for parties, banquets and receptions, North said.

Bournemouth, Eng. – (UPI) – Annie Cleve was in a hospital today recovering from injuries received when her motor-scooter crashed. Miss Cleve is 81.
