Rare Disease of Arteries

Many people write to ask me about polyarteritis nodosa—a disease of the arteries sometimes associated with rheumatoid arthritis. No one knows what the cause is, sometimes the only sure way of making a diagnosis is to perform what is known as a biopsy, in which a little piece of tissue is cut out, sectioned, stained, and examined under a microscope.

In a recent article, Dr. Roger L. Black of the National Institute of Health in Bethesda, Md., says that the term polyarteritis nodosa designates a variety of clinical states related to one another by a common factor, which is an inflammation of the blood vessels, with death of tissue in parts of the blood vessel wall here and there.

There are four theories as to the production of the disease: (1) infection, (2) sensitivity to some drug, (3) sensitivity to some germ, and (4) high blood pressure. As yet, no one is sure of any one bacterial or viral agent as the cause of the disease. In certain sensitive persons, the giving of sulfonamides (an antibiotic series of drugs) can produce a disease that resembles polyarteritis.

The disease may occur at any age. It is seen more often in men. The early symptoms can be fever, physical discomfort, pain in the muscles, and weakness. There may be abdominal pain with nausea and vomiting, diarrhea or constipation. Occasionally the pain will imitate that of an acute appendicitis.

An early finding may be a generalized neuritis, which can produce strange feelings in the skin, or numbness and loss of strength in a wrist. There may be a skin eruption or nodules in or under the skin. Some persons get persistent ulcerations in the skin, with black and blue spots; the joints may be involved. Sometimes the disease shows up as a chronic cough and asthma, or repeated attacks of pneumonia; there may be trouble with the kidneys, together with high blood pressure. Some patients have signs of injury to their central nervous system, with a brain that doesn't work well. Some have trouble with the heart. Occasionally there may be some obstruction in the nose or the sinuses.

Unfortunately, as yet there is no definite treatment known. Sometimes salicylates and aspirin, or the cortisone-like drugs will help. Fortunately, in some cases the disease quiets down and even disappears.

If you have high blood pressure, or are worried about it, you'll want to send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope for Dr. Alvarez' booklet, "High Blood Pressure." Address Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. MMT, The Register and Tribune Syndicate, Box 957, Des Moines 4, Iowa.

Health Food Racket
Recently, Dr. Larriek of the Food and Drug Administration in Washington, and thoughtful physicians everywhere, have become disturbed over the millions of dollars that are being taken out of the pockets of our people by men who are pushing some supposed health food which they say is either essential to the health of every member of a family, or will cure grandfather's arthritis.

Many of the people who fall for this sales talk are living on so small an income that they really cannot afford to be gypped. They do not know that experts have tried out every diet supposed to cure arthritis, and have found that none of them will help consistently, if tested on 100 or more patients. Sometimes a doctor or layman will think that his new diet has helped, but he does not know that in many cases, spells of arthritis come and go, even when the person takes on medicine or diet.

As I write this, in comes one of my patients, a widow of 65, who tells me that two months ago some company sent her a bottle of supposed food supplements which they said she must take if she hoped to "stay alive and well." Then the company scared her into sending them $3.50. Soon they sent her more pills and another bill, and later, she got more pills and a strong demand for payment. Fortunately, she then consulted a lawyer who said she need not pay the bills, and she need not return the medicine which he had never ordered. Unfortunately, many people who do not know the law are scared into paying.

Recently, a number of the peddlers of so-called "nature foods" have been arrested by the Food and Drug Administration people. I admire Dr. Larriek, the head of the F.D.A., who has been going after the men who force fake drugs on people.

Now, Dr. Larriek is going after the makers of those impressive-looking electric instruments that hundreds of quacks use for the purpose of making their victims think that they are getting a very scientific diagnosis. Dr. Larriek says that any electrician can easily show that these fancy machines are of no value, and were made only to impress people with the supposed skill of the quack.

Whipple Praises Work of Congress

Hillsboro, Ore. — (UPI) — Blaine Whipple, Democratic nominee for Congress in the first district, praised the 87th Congress in a campaign talk here Sunday.

He said it strengthened the defense posture of this country, made progress to solve inherited problems in Southeast Asia, Africa, Cuba and Berlin and established new programs such as the Peace Corps, the Arms Control and Disarmament Agency and the Alliance for Progress.

Whipple criticized his GOP rival, Rep. Walter Norblad, saying Norblad had continued to oppose progressive legislation.

Oregon Progress SURE with BOB THORNTON AS GOVERNOR

"Let these men work together for Oregon's Future!"

President John F. Kennedy and Robert Y. Thornton can and will work together with Oregon's Congressional delegation to do MORE for Oregon! Senators Morse and Neuberger and Congresswoman Edith Green all strongly support Robert Y. Thornton for Governor. They are ready to work with Bob Thornton and President Kennedy to end Oregon's unemployment "dollar drouth" and to aid its senior citizens. Thornton proposes vital programs to ensure Oregon's prosperity, programs necessary to the well being of every citizen, occupation and job in Oregon.

A Deeply Devout Home Loving Family Man

At left, Bob Thornton with son Tom and wife Dorothy. Married 25 years, this husband and wife team met at the University of Oregon. They enjoy a close family life and share a deep mutual feeling of public responsibility.

Let's Look At The Record...

BOB THORNTON'S STAND	HATFIELD'S RECORD
Taxpayer's Rights Advocates repeal of drastic change in the new timber tax "relief" laws.	Signed three bills giving untold thousands in cuts to big timber companies at expense of other property taxpayers.
Voter's Rights Will veto any bills attempting to override the will of the people.	Signed three bills directly overriding vote on same questions.
Senior Citizens Supports President Kennedy's plan for Medicare under Social Security.	Opposes President Kennedy's plan for Medicare under Social Security.
Centralized Government Opposes elimination of state elective offices. Says, "Let the people choose."	Wants to eliminate all state elective offices except that of governor.
Crime and Delinquency Has developed a long-range crime and delinquency prevention program in Oregon.	Blocked Thornton's plan for a long-range crime and delinquency prevention program for Oregon.
Industrial Development Advocates LOW-COST POWER for new jobs and payrolls. Opposes rate increases.	Hatfield's administration granted $6,400,000 in rate increases yearly to private power companies.
Conservation of Natural Resources Blocked gateway of Oregon's sub-marginal school lands to Shell Oil Co. without competitive bidding.	Tried to "give away" our sub-marginal school lands to one oil company without competitive bidding.
Education Supported Portland State college.	Voted against Portland State college.
Economy in Government Operates the most economical of all state offices.	Promised economy, but nearly DOUBLED the cost of the governor's office.
Personal Ambition "I am campaigning only to serve the people as governor."	Using governor's office as a stepping-stone to even national political ambition.

NOBODY LOVES AN OUTING MORE THAN BOB THORNTON. He is seen above at the St. Paul Rodeo. He knows personally thousands of Oregonians in every corner of the state.

Thornton To Be A Governor For All

Thornton is deeply conscious of the working man, the little man. A working man all his life himself he is vitally concerned over the future of Oregon's jobs and industry. The latest Dun & Bradstreet report shows Oregon with the highest rate of business failures in the United States! Oregon's rate of employment is far below that of its neighboring states. We need a full time governor now! We need Bob Thornton, working with labor and industry to get more jobs ... to get Oregon moving.
