

AMA Committed To Fight Kennedy Medicare Plans

Los Angeles - (UPI) - The American Medical Association was committed officially today to throw itself into another fight against President Kennedy's program for medical care for the aged financed with social security funds.

The AMA House of Delegates, the policy-making body, adopted a report Wednesday stating its members must "face the 1963-64 congressional campaign without defeatism or complacency."

Another section of the report said that if American physicians are "confronted with a serious threat which would conscript them into involuntary servitude," the House of Delegates should be called into emergency session to take counter action.

Disease Reports Read

The House of Delegates session was held on the final day of a four-day AMA clinical meeting during which reports were read on advances in the fight against virtually all diseases which afflict mankind.

The delegates also reaffirmed a previous stated position to the effect that AMA members "will not be a willing party to implementing any system which is detrimental to the public welfare."

This wordage was calculated to get the members set for an expected fight next year when the Kennedy administration will make its second attempt to get through Congress its legislation on medical care. The administration-sponsored King-Anderson bill, to which the AMA objected, was rejected in the last Congress.

CP Elementary

Thirty students of Central Point Elementary's fifth grade class recently visited the Crater Rock museum. The tour was in connection with their science class.

Delmar Smith, owner of the museum, greeted students and talked to the class on rocks and explained where many of the stones are found.

The class was divided into two groups to tour the museum. Students found it educational and helpful answering questions on classification problems encountered in making their own collections in school.

The class was accompanied by their teacher Les Wilson. They were transported to and from the museum by school bus.
