Christmas Traffic Appears Heavier; Caution Is Urged

Medford Chief of Police Charles P. Champlin said today that Christmas traffic this year seems heavier than last year, and urged both drivers and pedestrians to help ease congestion by obeying all signs and signals.

Champlin pointed to five city streets in the downtown area which tend to become particularly congested: Central ave. from Fourth to Ninth sts., Fifth st. from Riverside ave. to Front st., Barlett st. from Fifth to Eighth sts., Front st. from Sixth to Ninth sts. and Sixth st. from Front st. to Riverside ave.

The chief urged that Medford residents avoid those streets if possible on their way to and from work in the downtown area.

'No Turn' Signs On

In an effort to help reduce the congestion in the core area during the Christmas season, Champlin said the "No Turn" signs are going to be put in operation between 10 a.m. and 9 p.m. during the evenings that the downtown stores remain open.

Drivers trying to turn from a wrong lane or trying to get a parking spot on the opposite side of the street can create an adverse traffic situation, Champlin pointed out.

"If you can't get in the proper position for a turn or some other maneuver, don't risk an accident by turning from the wrong lane or trying to force your way in to the proper position at the last minute," he cautioned.

Champlin also reminds drivers not to "double park" while waiting to pick up a shopper. He added that those who change lanes unsafely or "double park" are subject to citation.

Traffic rules are for the protection of everyone, he noted. December produces more accidents than any other month of the year. Many of these accidents could be prevented if drivers would put a little of the Christmas spirit in their driving and treat others with courtesy and patience, Champlin said.
