arctic Research Program 6 to 0. Victor "Moose" Maripio Jr., of Pittsburgh, Pa., of the MCB-8 team, carrying a basketball in the absence of a football, is shown on an end run.

Brighter Choo-Choos May Be Seen Today

Schenectady, N.Y.—The old gray locomotive "ain't what she used to be." Today's Iron Horse sports a brighter dress than its forebears of 25 years ago. It's likely to be as colorful as a summer rainbow, according to a leading locomotive manufacturer. Alco Products, Inc. reports its paint shop has sprayed more than 200 different colors and shades on new diesel locomotives in the past year alone. Most railroads nowadays have a three, four or five color scheme for their locomotives.

CRISP CLEO

New York—Cleopatra knew all about the crisp look, fashion historians report. She wore garments of fine flax, lightly starched to hold the royal style. As early as 1200 B. C. Egyptians considered starch an important part of wardrobe care.
