MEDFORD MAIL TRIBUNE, MEDFORD, OREGON

Editor's note: Opinion is divided over Oregon's proposed medical care for the aged program. This is the fourth of a five-part series based on a survey of legislators by United Press International.

By ZAN STARK
Salem, Ore.—Legislators appear equally divided over whether Oregon's present medical care for the aged provides a sound basis for expansion, or a model for universal health care.

By the end of the session, the legislature is expected to pass legislation that will provide a higher education contingency for a governor's mansion, and appeared divided over the holding of a general session, and a milk stabilization act.

Cool To Pay Hikes
They were cool to granting a 10 percent pay increase to state employees, and cool to state employees, and opposed to setting up a higher education contingency
