

Committee Will Seek Legislation On Sex Offenders

Portland—State Rep. William Gallagher, (R-Portland) said Wednesday he expects the Legislative Interim Committee of Social Problems to move for early enactment of legislation dealing with sex offenders.

The 1963 Legislature opens Jan. 14.

Gallagher said such action is long overdue. He added that early enactment might forestall "screwball" legislation which sometimes results from hysteria produced by crimes such as that against Mona Rae Minyard, 6, Portland.

He said he believes the most important proposals of the interim committee are those calling for expansion of the central bureau for criminal identification, for mandatory reporting of all felony, sex and narcotics cases and for civil commitment to a state institution of persons found to be sexually dangerous.

Particular Care
He said the committee took particular care in the proposed legislation for civil commitment to protect the rights of individuals.

He said the measure has provisions for voluntary commitment in which the person would be sent to an institution for an indefinite period with yearly psychiatric examinations.

Other recommendations of the committee include an enhanced penalty law for second sex offenders. It would be strengthened to include offenses committed in other states in determining the requisite number of offenses.

Panel To Discuss Forestry's Image

A panel from Grants Pass will present a program entitled "Forestry's Public Image" for the Siskiyou chapter of the Society of American Foresters.

Panel speakers will include Paschal Wilson, editor, Grants Pass Daily Courier; Charles Gill, Grants Pass mayor; Mrs. Madeline Barrett, housewife and business woman; Mrs. Betty Renfro, housewife, school board member, and business woman; and Howard Harrison, Grants Pass High school counselor, all of Grants Pass. The speakers will present their ideas about forestry and opinions of foresters.

The program will be presented at the Josephine County courthouse, Grants Pass, at 8 p.m. Friday.

Society members, foresters and other interested persons are invited to attend. No reservations are necessary.
