

Galanos Collection Is Shown

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York—Daring necklines for daytime and skirt lengths kept short marked the James Galanos spring fashion collection. The Beverly Hills, Calif., designer who traditionally brings each new collection to Gotham for its preview, also decided that the sylph silhouette was the shape for spring.

This one follows the body lines "effortlessly," as a spokesman said during Wednesday afternoon's show at a New York hotel ballroom. "The fabric is moulded subtly and shaped to accent rather than reveal." Accent proved to be on various parts of a woman's anatomy—the neckline, the bust, the waist, or hips.

But it was revelation for necklines on a group of daytime jersey dresses called "world travelers." All were sleeveless, narrow of silhouette, gently shaped to the figure. An inverted pleat at the center back gave walking room.

All had U-shaped or squared necklines cut so low in front that breathing would be hazardous.

Galanos kept skirt lengths on all daytime suits, dresses and costumes where he has held them for the last several collections—just covering the kneecap.

A spokesman for the trend-setting designer said Galanos feels this length is a youthful, flattering one and should remain. But there have been hints throughout the fashion industry that hems may show a slight drop in 1963.

Other pace-setting designers will show spring collections all this week. Italian designers will open their collections January 19. The Paris voices of fashion will be heard beginning January 28.

New York—While guests viewed the fashions, spring came into full bloom in the Galanos 1963 collection shown here January 2. The California designer presented a wide variety of chiffon over crepe and soft lightweight wool jersey. This two-piece ensemble notes the gently semi-fitted shape-up of the collection. (UPI photo)

Delinquency Panel Topic

"Juvenile Delinquency—What Can the Community and the Church Do About It?" will be the topic for panel discussion for the Women's fellowship of the Congregational church on Thursday, January 10.

Units To Study Line, Design

Line and design in clothing will be the topic for all of the Jackson county extension unit meetings during the month of January, according to Miss Joan Beasley, home agent who gave the lesson to project leaders.

The lesson will teach the principles of disguise in dress, the agent explained, also stating that few women have perfect silhouettes but wise women will learn to disguise imperfections.

The project leaders in each unit will have neckline sample kits which they will try on members of the unit to show how the different necklines have different effects. The project leaders also will use jewelry and other accessories to achieve still more effects.

Oak Grove
The Oak Grove unit meeting will open at 10:30 a.m. Tuesday, January 8 in the home of Mrs. Albert Purdy, 1850 South Beach street. Mrs. W. H. Ward and Mrs. David Yingling will present the lesson. Mrs. Gilbert Munden will lead a discussion on program planning. Luncheon will be served.

Eagle Point
Mrs. James Johnson, Eagle Point, will be the hostess for the Eagle Point unit Wednesday, January 9, at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Ernest Gleason. A noon luncheon will be followed by the business session. Child care will be available at the home of Mrs. Rich Wolgamott, Brownsboro road, Eagle Point.

Nite-lighters
The meeting for the Nite-lighters group will be held Tuesday, January 8 at 7:30 p.m., in the Straus home at 3392 Bursell road, Central Point. Those who need directions may call there, telephone 664-2600.

Willow Springs
Mrs. Ray Guss and Mrs. Kenneth Mainwaring will be leaders for the Willow Springs unit when they meet Thursday, January 10, at 10:30 a.m., in the home of Mrs. Gladys Long, 671 Cedar street, Central Point. A pollock luncheon will be served at noon.

Westside
The Westside unit will meet at 10:30 a.m. Thursday, January 10 in the home of Mrs. Alan Perry, 2668 Military road, Medford. Those who attend are to take a television tray as well as table service.

Agate
Members of the Agate unit are to take knitting projects to their meeting Thursday, January 10 at 10:30 a.m. in the home of Mrs. Mark Samples, 109 Gibbon road.

Former Officers Will Be Honored
Eagle Point — Past presidents of the Eagle Point Garden club will be honored at a meeting of the club to be held Wednesday, January 9 at 1 p.m., in the home of Mrs. Betty June Claus on South B street. All former members of the club also are extended a special invitation.

Mrs. Jack James will have charge of the program featuring house plants. Roll call will be answered by naming "plants I wish for."

Shopper Program Slated by AAUW
A program on consumer information regarding labeling, food additives, and door-to-door and telephone selling will be given Wednesday, January 9, at 8 p.m. at the meeting of the Medford branch, American Association of University Women.

The meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Herbert Seitz, 2302 Walden place. The program will be "Why Shoppers Go in Circles."

The committee on social and economic issues is in charge of the program. Mrs. R. W. Dill and her committee will be in charge of refreshments.

Thespians To Appear Before Club

The Thespian troupe of Medford High school will present an hour-long review at the meeting of the Siskiyou Knife and Fork club at the Mark Anthony hotel in Ashland on January 10. Dinner will be at 7:30 p.m.

The show will consist of comedy sketches, songs, monologues and a novelty dance.

Those taking part will be Judie Brookman, Richard La Fleur, Brian Porter, Dixie Taylor, Dave Smith, Mike DeSalvio, Paul Goodwin, Jack Barr, Jim Kerber, Donna Martin, Tom Martin, Sharon Hendrix, Judy Foreman, Jacques Long, Tracy Blackstone and "The Checkmates," comprised of Pat Selby, Jean Allen and Chris Helman, Miss Selby and Mr. Kerber will be accompanists.

The troupe is under the direction of Mrs. Lenore Zapell, drama instructor at the high school.

During the summer of 1962 the Medford troupe of the National Thespian society received one of the highest awards for superior performance at the National Dramatic Arts Conference at Indiana university. The group was one of eight in the United States invited to present a one-act play at the biennial conference, attended by more than 1,000 high school students and their sponsors.

Dinner reservations may be made by contacting Mrs. Ella K. Hendrixson, 360 Morton street, Ashland.

Mistletoe Club Will Install
Installation of officers is slated for the Mistletoe club, Royal Neighbors of America lodge, Wednesday, January 9, at 12 noon. A covered dish luncheon will precede the business meeting. The sessions will be held in the Girls Community club.

Mrs. David Fraysher is in charge of refreshments.

Mid-Season Party Planned by Guild

Ashland—When Tudor guild meets Wednesday evening, January 9, at the home of Mrs. Rose Robnett and Miss Victoria Tavener, 912 Siskiyou boulevard, the session will be given over to a mid-season party honoring new members who have joined during the past year.

Other pace-setting designers will show spring collections all this week. Italian designers will open their collections January 19. The Paris voices of fashion will be heard beginning January 28.

A spokesman for the trend-setting designer said Galanos feels this length is a youthful, flattering one and should remain. But there have been hints throughout the fashion industry that hems may show a slight drop in 1963.

A family dinner December 25 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hackney celebrated the 60th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Gander (above). The Ganders were married in Oklahoma while it was still Indian territory.

Sixtieth Anniversary Celebrated by Couple

Central Point — Mr. and Mrs. George B. Gander, 6683 Oakhurst street, Central Point, celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary December 25 at a family dinner given by Mrs. Gander's niece and nephew-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hackney at their home at 469 Midway road in Medford.

For the anniversary party Mrs. Gander wore a polished cotton print dress. Her corsage was an orchid presented to her by Mrs. Eva Pittsley. Included in the decorations and used in center of the table was an old Aladdin lamp polished and fitted with new mantles for the occasion.

Dinner guests included Mrs. Mattie Haworth, Denair, Calif., a sister of Mr. Gander who was present at the wedding 60 years ago. Mrs. Carolyn Veach, Mrs. Gander's grandniece, married December 13, helped serve the 14 seated guests.

The couple was married in 1902 at the bride's home in Ames, Okla., while the state was still Indian territory. They came to the Rogue valley from Portland 10 years ago.

Mrs. Gander is a charter member of the Shady Point Seventh-day Adventist church and both are long-time members of the church.
