Miss Bruegger Assigned To Korean Red Cross Post

Eagle Point - Miss Barbara Bruegger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bruegger, Eagle Point, is among the American Red Cross workers who have been assigned to Korea. Miss Bruegger, a recreation specialist, is now assigned to Camp Pelham, Korea, near Munsan about five miles from North Korean territory. A 1962 graduate of the University of Oregon, Miss Bruegger attended a two week orientation session in Washington, D.C. last November and two additional weeks in

Lake Creek Unit Studies Design Reports Given

Lake Creek - At the January meeting of the Lake Creek Home Extension unit held recently in the home of Mrs. Ira Woolfolk, Mrs. Kent Stover and Mrs. Frank Wells led the lesson on line and design of clothing. Tips were given on how to design women's clothing to detract from hips and waist line. Mrs. Stover completed the gathering of ideas from the unit members for next year's lessons and the report will be sent to the county agent's office for tabulation.

"To Work and To Pray" was the title of an article by Taylor Caldwell read by Mrs. Woolfolk. A collection was taken for the CARE program. Each member was presented a copy of Rules of Glamour by John Robert Powers. Mrs. Edmond Armitage reported on the progress of the two 4-H clubs in cooking and sewing which she leads. Mrs. Carl Vickoren gave a report on safety stating that she has copies of the Oregon driving manual for those who want them. She stressed need of safety on bicycles. The February lesson, "When Widowhood Comes," will be given by Mrs. Bea Dump and Mrs. Vickoren.

Renfro Family Home From Trip

Illinois Valley - Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Renfro and children have returned after a two-week trip to California where they visited with their daughter, Miss Patricia Renfro, a student at the City College of San Francisco, where she is receiving training in floral design on a scholarship. She is employed part time in a flower shop in Oakland. Miss Renfro attended Illinois Valley High school. The group visited Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Renfro, Vallejo, Calif. The travelers also visited relatives in Irvington, Fremont and Hayward, Calif., and Miss Cecile Zimmerman, formerly of Cave Junction, and a daughter of Mrs. Don Zimmerman.

Couple Home After Trip

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Shafer have returned from a trip to the coast where they visited relatives.

Gardeners Hear Varied Program

Medford Garden club members heard a program on birds which winter here; the sunburst locust, and design in flower arrangement when they met recently. Mrs. Howard Bush gave the program on birds showing slides of wrens, towhees and robins. Mrs. Elbert Kellogg spoke on the sunburst locusts stating only a few of the trees are growing in this locality. Mrs. R. T. Nichol gave the arrangement lesson. A lesson in corsage making will be given Wednesday, January 23 from 1 to 3 p.m., in the Jackson county courthouse. Members are invited to participate.

Installation Ceremonies Conducted By Bethel 38

Central Point - Miss Cathleen Harsh, daughter of Mrs. Merrill Harsh and the late Mr. Harsh, Central Point, was crowned honored queen of Bethel 38, International Order of Job's Daughters, by her brother, Douglas Harsh, junior regent in the East, during ceremonies held recently in the Central Point Masonic temple. The retiring queen, Miss Sandra Beasley was installing officer and was escorted by Glenn Kelley, associate guardian.

Other new officers installed with Miss Harsh were the Misses Sue Kelley, senior princess; Kathy Collingsworth, junior princess; Anna Morgan, guide; Jeri Gardner, marshal; Susan Morgan, musician; Pamela Squire, treasurer; Elin Livingston, librarian; Mary Pinkham, and Sharon Thompson, junior and senior custodians; Anna Thompson and Miki Hays, guards; Mary Kurz, lady of the lights and Susan Muller, page.

Bethel choir members installed were the Misses Cherisse and Cieresse Offutt, Jo Ann Hamilton, Linda Mushaney, Karen Edwards, Karen Jantzer, Sue and Karen Rosecrans and Dale Collingsworth. Installing officers were Miss Rebecca Ferrell, marshal; Miss June Hopkins, guide; and Mrs. Earl Cooper, chaplain, all past honored guards consisted of Randy Nelson, Rod Georgianna, William Ainer, William Berninghausen, Robert Sikes, Dan Wright and Dennis Peoples. Douglas Harsh, past master councillor of the Crater chapter, was granted the courtesy of being regent in the east for his sister's installation by the Ashland order. Preceding the installation ceremony, the Misses Linda Corey and Delores Sanderson of the Crater High school Lavaliers sang a duet, accompanied by Miss Elaine Young at the piano. Miss Delores Sanderson sang the altar song during the ceremonies. The Bible and crown were escorted by the young Misses Carol and Susan Olmsted, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. Robert W. Olmsted of Central Point. Theme "With a Song in My Heart" had been chosen by Queen Cathleen as her theme for the evening and her colors of blue and silver were used in decorations. The Misses Sue Kelley, Kathy Collingsworth and their mothers did the decorating. Escorted and introduced from the east were the Misses Susan Eastin, queen, Bethel 38; Susanne Rogers, past queen, Bethel 56; Lynda Knips, past queen, Bethel 55; Jalinda Langston, senior princess and queen-elect, Bethel 55; Adah Harris, junior princess, Bethel 14; Sheri Watson, junior princess, Bethel 56; and Mrs. Darrel Greb, past junior princess, Bethel 38. POTPOURRI

Sometimes we feel obliged to point out that just because something is printed in our section of the paper, we don't necessarily believe it ourselves. News comes from a great many sources and from a great many different people about a great many subjects. Just because it is in the women's section doesn't mean that the women's editor approves or believes it to be true.

For instance, last week we published the list of the 10 best dressed women in the world, as announced by a public relations outfit that claimed to have polled a thousand or so fashion experts. (Perhaps this is like the television and radio rating bureaus and pollsters now falling under suspicion and scrutiny.)

Anyhow, the story said that Mrs. John F. Kennedy, who headed the list, was the "symbol of fashion leadership to the average woman everywhere." That's something of a sweeping statement. Come to think of it, the average woman doesn't have much in common with Mrs. Kennedy when it comes to following fashion and being "best dressed."

Mrs. Kennedy is rated as beautiful and as having an extraordinarily good figure for wearing clothes. She has gained her poise and confidence from a fine family background, great wealth, the best possible education and travel. When it comes to choosing a wardrobe, she is able to afford the most expensive clothing turned out by some of the world's most expensive designers. She wears real diamonds, pearls and emeralds which we hear are worth fortunes. She has a maid to care for her wardrobe.

That's about as un-average as it is possible to be. How about the pollsters praising a woman who manages to be well dressed even though she must divide her time between being a housewife, mother and wage earner and who must confine her spending in an entire year to less than Mrs. Kennedy and others on the list, might spend on one gown?

However, we hasten to give Mrs. Kennedy her due. She seems to have impeccable taste in the matter of furnishings, is an art connoisseur and she truly has been a good influence in the matter of wearing daytime clothing which is simple and in excellent taste.

The Gremlins were abroad in The Mail Tribune Monday. It was one of those days when nothing seemed to come out right. Even after years and years of struggling with news stories and reviews, we aren't very philosophical about mistakes, so when we got around to reading our story about the Civic Music group going to hear Helen Hayes and Maurice Evans, we moaned and tore our hair in frustration.

We had written that the words of the players were "amplified" by the sound system - what came out was that the words had been "applied." Worse than this - we wrote that it might be "heresy" to criticize Mr. Evans - and the word came out "hearsay." We were somewhat disappointed in Mr. Evans' performance in Eugene, and "hearsay" had nothing to do with it.

It isn't hearsay, either, that the group enjoyed the trip to Eugene. We stopped at Village Green for dinner, and it was a delightful experience. The building which houses the dining room, coffee shop, gift shop, etc., is interesting and well appointed, and the food Saturday night was excellent. Potpourri ordered chicken livers with mushrooms and Madeira sauce and enjoyed the meal very much. The delicious Swedish potato soup tasted as if it had a dash of nutmeg. Pal Peg reported that her serving of calves' liver and mushrooms was also fine, and the Countess enjoyed her order of beef Stroganoff.

Half of the bus-load of travelers was from Rogue Valley Manor, and they had used their influence to procure their favorite Greyhound bus driver - L. F. Linton, for the trip. The Manor residents praise him as a good driver and enjoy his friendly personality. We agree that he is friendly and pleasant and he must be a good driver - we slept safely and soundly for most of the trip both going to Eugene and returning home.-O.S.
