

48 States Feel Winter's Sting; Citrus Crop Toll From Cold Expected To Be Heavy

By United Press International
A massive storm brought cold in 48 states today, threatening the Texas and Arizona vegetable and citrus crop and claiming more than 75 lives. The only area really to escape the cold spell was the southern half of Florida. Key West had a balmy 74 early today. But it was 27 below in International Falls, Minn. A cloud cover held off the brunt of the arctic cold front in the Texas Rio Grande Valley, but the forecast of temperatures in the upper 20s still spelled damage to tender plants and trees. Some farmers said the tomato crop was ruined, the peppers and lettuce extensively damaged. The freeze was not as severe as last January's cold wave that cost an estimated

$50 million in lost citrus trees and vegetables. Some 100,000 citrus trees were planted to offset last year's loss and prolonged temperatures in the 30s could wipe out that investment and cause major damage to adult trees. There also was some citrus damage in Arizona's Salt River Valley. There were 78 deaths at tributed to the harsh winter weather that set in last week. New York led the nation with 14 deaths, including four drownings and 10 traffic fatalities, followed by Michigan 7, Colorado 6, and Utah, Nebraska, Pennsylvania and Texas, 5 each. There were 30 fire deaths reported as homemakers and custodians turned up the heat in the longest, largest cold spell of the season. Lubbock, Tex., set an all-time low of 16 below Sunday. It was below freezing Sunday in every part of Arizona, and it was 15 below at Show Low, Ariz. Temperatures climbed to near thawing in the Rocky Mountain region Sunday after sub-zero readings were recorded in Denver, Colo., for 69 consecutive hours. Most of Montana had temperatures above zero Sunday after more than 84 hours of sub-zero temperatures frequently dropping into the 40- and 50-below range. The cold wave forced the inaugural of Gov.-elect James A. Rhodes to be held indoors instead of on the State House steps at Columbus, Ohio, as planned. Extremely hazardous driving conditions plagued the six-state area of New England but the Weather Bureau said colder temperatures would reduce the danger. Snow fell early today from the northern Rockies and Northern Plains to the Great Lakes, and light rain and snow flurries fell over Virginia and North Carolina. Fish scales are formed of bone-like material and are confined in pockets in the skin of a fish.

SYRIA CLOSES LEBANON, JORDAN BORDERS
Damascus, Syria—(UPI)—Syria closed its borders with Lebanon and Jordan today following week end riots in two Syrian towns. Syrian officials blamed supporters of United Arab Republic President Gamal Abdel Nasser for the riots.

RUSSIAN SENTENCED FOR BRIBE ATTEMPT
Moscow—(UPI)—The newspaper "Soviet Patriot" reported Sunday that Armani Bagirov was sentenced to four years in jail for trying to bribe an official to give him a driver's license. It said a local court in Baku sentenced Gardashkhan Shiriyev to three years in prison for advising Bagirov to attempt the bribe.

COMMON MARKET SESSION SCHEDULED
Brussels—(UPI)—Britain and the six common market nations today scheduled another negotiating session that may disclose France's attitude toward British membership. The talks are expected to last until Friday and will be mainly over agricultural policy, one of the main stumbling blocks to Britain's entering the common market.

Fires Take Lives Of at Least 30 During Cold Spell

By United Press International
Fires took a heavy toll in lives and caused millions of dollars damage across the nation during the frigid week end. At least 30 persons were killed in fires.

Fire killed five members of one family at Bonanza, Utah, and four children died in a fire at Hammond, Ind. There were multi-million dollar fires at Peoria, Ill., and Pine Bluff, Ark.

Many of the fires broke out as homemakers and janitors turned up the heat during a vast cold spell that reached into 48 states.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Madison and three of their children perished at Bonanza when their cabin home burned to the ground early Saturday. The temperature was 25 below and officers believe an overheated stove caused the blaze.

Seven Children Escape
In Hammond, Ind., Saturday, fire swept the home in which Mrs. Alberta Griffin, 28, and her 11 children were sleeping. Mrs. Griffin and seven of the children escaped, but firemen found the bodies of four children, aged 7, 4, 3 and 2, in their beds. Bradley University at Peoria decided to conduct classes today despite a $2 million fire Saturday night that destroyed Bradley Hall, oldest building on the campus and repository of many of the university's records. Weary firemen had little hope of putting out a million-dollar fire in a huge paper mill warehouse at Pine Bluff before Wednesday. The two-story concrete and steel warehouse, owned by the International Paper Co., is longer than a football field and almost as wide. One man died, one was missing and another was injured in the fire, which broke out Saturday. The warehouse was filled with huge rolls of newsprint, each weighing between 15,000 and 26,000 pounds. A 100-foot cooling tower at a gas plant near Brownsboro, Tex., topped under the weight of accumulated ice Sunday night and touched off an explosion and $500,000 fire. The plant, owned by Lone Star Gas Co., supplied gas to the populous Dallas area. A twin-engine private plane crashed into a residential neighborhood of Warren, Mich., killing the three occupants of the craft and setting two homes afire. Two firemen perished in the rubble of St. Elizabeth's School in Philadelphia Saturday night. Six other firemen were injured. A wall of the school collapsed a moment after a fire official ordered all firemen away from the building.

Highway Sander Is Damaged in Crash
Considerable damage resulted to the sanding machinery on a state highway department sanding truck when it was struck while sanding Highway 99 in the south slope of the Siskiyou Sunday. According to Oregon state police, a car driven by Ralph Howard Bennett, 38, Hornbrook, Calif., hit the rear of the truck after the Bennett car passed a truck and trailer and attempted to swing back into line. No injuries were reported, state police said. This was the second sander damaged in recent weeks in highway accidents. Cars driven by Deborah Lynn Clement, 15, of 2549 Lucky lane, Medford, and by Norman Wesley Adkins, 25, of route 4, box 382B, Medford, collided on Thomas rd. at Sunset dr. Sunday, according to state police. Alan Lee Adkins, a passenger in the Adkins car, was taken to the hospital by his parents for treatment of facial injuries when he struck the windshield.

Two Cited Following Saturday Accidents
Two drivers were cited by Medford city police following non-injury accidents in the city Saturday afternoon, according to reports. Vehicles operated by Mari-Ann Lausmann, 24, of 35 South Berkeley Way, and Harry Littleton Jewett, 36, of 523 Barnes ave., collided about 1:10 p.m. at Oregon ave. and Berkeley Way. Mrs. Lausmann was cited by police for failure to yield the right of way. Ronald Lane Harper, 27, of 820 1/2 Summit ave., was cited for violation of basic rule after the car which he was driving collided with a vehicle operated by Donna Ruth Gass, 32, of 59 Lottier lane, about 4:10 p.m. at Eighth and Hamilton sts., according to police reports.

Kennedy Calls for Establishment of Youth Organization Patterned After Peace Corps

The President said in this connection that his new fiscal 1964 budget, which goes to Congress Thursday, will be cut below this year's level except for defense, space and interest on the national debt. All of these three categories will be higher next year.

Kennedy underscored his determination to make tax reduction the No. 1 legislative issue this year by dealing only in very general terms with such controversial New Frontier proposals as medical care for the aged, aid to education, farm policy and youth training. He promised to cover them in later messages.

He did call for establishment of a youth organization patterned after the overseas Peace Corps to help community needs at home. He suggested that members could be used in mental hospitals, or Indian reservations, and at training centers for the aged and young delinquents. Cold War Calmed

In discussing world affairs, the chief executive said the cold war struggle has calmed in the wake of the Cuban missile crisis. He also noted the split between Moscow and Peking and the eye-opening effect on neutral nations of Red China's "arrogant invasion of India."

But he foresaw "no spectacular reversal in Communist methods or goals." Neither did he mention any hope for settlements in such world trouble spots as West Berlin or South Viet Nam.

"A moment of pause is not a promise of peace," Kennedy said. "Dangerous problems remain from Cuba to the South China Seas. The world's prognosis prescribes not a year's vacation, but a year of obligation and opportunity."

Kennedy said his tax proposal was designed to correct an obsolete revenue system which is putting too heavy a drag on private purchasing power, profits and employment.

Kennedy said the reductions must be accompanied by tax reforms or "selected structural reforms" beginning in 1964 to broaden the tax base, "and unfair or unnecessary preferences, remove or lighten certain hardships."

Reduction of Expenditures
Kennedy recognized that economy advocates in Congress soon would start shooting at his fiscal plans. He tried to counter some of their volleys in advance. It was in this connection that he promised to cut total spending except for defense, space and fixed interest.

To hold down expenditures, he added, will require "reduction or postponement of many desirable programs." He said it would also require absorption of a large part of last year's federal pay raise "through personnel and other economies," plus closing down certain unspecified government installations and projects.

Another economy requirement on which he did not elaborate was "the substitution in several programs of private for public credit."

For economy advocates who would delay tax reduction until an end to the cold war makes possible a comparable cut in expenditures, Kennedy said "that end is not in view and to wish for it would be costly and self-defeating."

Paths Toward Peace
In surveying the international scene, the President thought conditions from the non-Communist viewpoint improved in 1962. But he cautioned repeatedly a gainst "complacency or self-congratulation" and listed "special avenues" for 1963 over which the world might travel closer to durable peace.

Atlantic alliance: Conceding the existence of "honest differences among honorable associates," the President said "ways must be found without increasing the hazards of nuclear diffusion, to increase the role of our other partners in planning, manning and directing a truly multilateral nuclear force within an increasingly intimate NATO alliance." He also called for greater NATO conventional weapons strength, saying the alliance could not afford "to be in a position of having to answer every threat with nuclear weapons or nothing."

Foreign aid: He said assistance, not only from the United States, but from prosperous

Washington—(UPI)—The United States and India have agreed to launch 13 rockets in a cooperative research program to study the equatorial electrojet current and upper atmospheric winds.

nations of Europe and Japan, it is vital to keep developing, nonaligned and have-not nations sufficiently strong and healthy to resist communism. If the air program were ended, Kennedy said, "our failures in a dozen countries would be sudden and certain."

Sino-Soviet difficulties: Hope generated by increasing strains and tensions within the Communist bloc must be tempered with caution. He said the Soviet-Chinese disagreement "is over means, not ends. A dispute over how best to bury the Free World is no grounds for Western rejoicing."

Kennedy seemed less concerned this year with so-called New Frontier legislation than he was in his first two State of the Union messages. This may reflect Kennedy's feeling that last November's congressional elections indicated the nation was pretty evenly divided.
