Blanton Collier Reported To Be Choice of Browns

Cleveland—UPI—The Cleveland Browns today were expected to name backfield mentor Blanton Collier their new coach.

Collier, a 34-year veteran of the coaching ranks, will succeed his close friend, Paul Brown, in heading the team named for the deposed head coach 17 years ago.

Collier's appointment is expected to climax a week of speculation after the stunning announcement last Wednesday by Browns president Arthur B. Modell that Brown was fired.

Ray Renfro, the Browns' veteran flanker back, said Tuesday night that Collier already has agreed to succeed Brown. Renfro said he received a long-distance telephone call from Bernie Parrish, the team's player representative, advising him that Collier signed the contract Monday.

Modell, who earlier called the firing "a simple reorganization," admitted Tuesday it was motivated by a threaten-

NBA Stars Contend

Los Angeles—UPI—The Western All-Stars, with a starting lineup built around Bill Chamberlain and Elgin Baylor that is averaging 160 points a game, throws its offensive power against the defensively minded East tonight in the 13th annual National Basketball association All-Star game.

A sellout crowd of 15,000 was expected at the Memorial Sports Arena, while thousands more were to watch the game on a special 21-station national television network throughout the United States.

The West, which won the last two games without Chamberlain, was a 6½-point favorite now that it had the addition of the huge San Francisco Warrior center, who is averaging nearly 48 points a game.

However, the Eastern All-Stars this season gained Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati, which traded divisions with the Warriors—and his smooth back court play, combined with the equally great play of Boston's Bob Cousy—was expected to make the East go.

Lion Coach Called for Questioning

Detroit—UPI—Detroit Lions coach George Wilson and All-Pro tackle Alex Karas have been called to New York for questioning by National Football league Commissioner Pete Rozelle concerning "ions players associating with known gamblers."

The Detroit Free Press said today Wilson cut short his vacation in Delray Beach, Fla., to meet with Rozelle at the league's New York offices. Rozelle was to huddle with Wilson today and Karas was scheduled for a meeting Thursday.

Karas was the first of four Lions players to become involved in the league-wide probe by the commissioner's office. He was plucked into the picture when it was reported the team management was unhappy with his partnership in a Detroit bar.

Detroit Police Commissioner George Edwards added to the fire when he submitted a report, concerning associations of Lions players with known gamblers, to the team's management and NFL headquarters.

The report, which named John Gordy, Wayne Walker and Karas as being seen in the company of known gamblers, specified that nothing had been unearthed to indicate criminal activity.

Darris McCord also became involved in the investigation but was not named in Edwards' report.

All four have volunteered to take lie detector tests to prove knowing alleged gamblers did not affect their play.

Pioneers Move Back Into Race

United Press International—To the surprise of no one, the Lewis and Clark Pioneers are back in the middle of the Northwest Conference basketball race.

The Pioneers were upset by Pacific last week end but bounced back Tuesday night in Portland to thrash Willamette 89-48 and uphold their honor as defending champions and pre-season favorites.

The victory gave Lewis and Clark a 2-1 league record, good enough for a second-place tie with Linfield behind leading Pacific (3-1). Willamette had a three-game winning streak snapped and dropped to 3-3.

Jim Boutin scored 18 points, Bill Maurer and Bob Fox 15 each and Bill Henselman 11 for Lewis and Clark. Bob Woodie led Willamette with 11.

Portland State freshman John Nelson scored 34 points, but it wasn't enough as Oregon College of Education beat the Vikings 82-81 in an Oregon Collegiate Conference game at Monmouth. It was the eighth straight loss for Portland State.

Toby Wolf scored 22 and Darrell Brandt 17 for OCE.

BETTING RECORD—New York—UPI—Betting at Thoroughbred race tracks in the country reached a record total of $2,679,461,505 in 1962 with attendance at 33,881,860, a United Press International survey showed today.

Tulsa Uses Old Method

By MARTIN LADER
UPI Sports Writer
Tulsa University has applied an age-old formula for turning failure into success, and the results are proving better than any one could have expected.

The Oklahoma school has suffered a number of lean years on the basketball court in the last decade, including a disappointing 7-19 mark last season. But holding on to the best of the old, and mixing in a liberal dose of the new, Tulsa is off to what probably will be its best campaign since the mid-50's.

The Hurricanes demonstrated their "new look" for an appreciative audience at Tulsa Tuesday night by battling into two overtime periods with seventh-ranked Wichita and holding on for an 85-83 victory over the powerful Wheatshockers.

It was the seventh triumph against four losses for Tulsa, and by far its most impressive outing of the season. Wichita had gone into the Game License Fees Discussed

Robert Maben, Oregon game commission field agent, discussed the revenue and needs program of the commission Monday night at the regular meeting of the Jackson County chapter of the Izaak Walton League.

Maben spoke of the rising costs that confront the commission and outlined the expanded program which would be possible if the recommended increase in license fees is adopted. He pointed out that the majority of revenue for game commission programs is from the sale of licenses. Only 15 per cent is from federal aid and 4 per cent from miscellaneous funds.

The meeting was conducted at the American Red Cross building here.

A movie, "Know Your Ducks," was shown. The film was produced by the sports fish and wildlife bureau of the U.S. fish and wildlife service.

FOUND FIT FOR BOUT
Lima, Peru—UPI—Peru's Mauro Mina and Eddie Cotton of Seattle, Wash., Tuesday took physical examinations which proved them fit for their light heavyweight bout here Friday night.

"Our biggest problem," Cleverly said, "was in finding players who could afford to make the trip. Could you get a paid leave of absence for five months to play hockey? Could you support your family without that pay check every week? That's the problem we're up against."

"We have a squad of willing, available players. We got fine cooperation from the services and from several soldiers and Marines on the squad. But most companies would not subsidize their people, and this squad is no way near as strong as it could or should be."

Named to the squad were: Gosales; Marine Lt. Charles Driscoll of Malden and Army Lt. Ron Smith of Saticum; defencemen Frank Silka of Detroit, Tom Morse of International Falls, Minn.; Glen Menon of St. Paul; Bus Security of Pawtucket, R.I.; Marine Lt. Bob Anderson of Minneapolis and John Warshawski of Grand Rapids, Minn.

Forwards: Marshall Tschida of St. Paul; Tom Munton of Detroit; Dave Bow and Jerry Weagy of Minneapolis; Don Norquay of St. Paul; Bob Quinn of Arlington, Army; Ron Frammitt of Walpole, Army; and Jack Poole of Thief River Falls, Minn., and Charles McCarthy of Charlestown.

Verdict Pleases Dave Charnley
London—UPI—European lightweight champion Dave Charnley of London was so pleased today with his victory over Philadelphia's Jethro Cason that he announced:

"I'll not only continue fighting but I'll try to win back the British Empire title from Bunny Grant as soon as possible."

Southpaw Charnley, formerly twice challenger for the world title but still champion of the British Isles and Europe, had considered retiring to his chain of ladies' hair-dressing salons if he lost Tuesday night to American Cason.

But 27-year-old Charnley won impressively over 25-year-old Cason before a sellout crowd of 7,000 at Royal Albert Hall in an excellent 10-round fight.

Referee Jack Hart, the only ring official, had no hesitation in lifting Dave's right hand in victory, to the delight of the cheering fans.

New York Stadium Named for Shea
New York—UPI—New York's new sports stadium in Flushing Meadow Park will be named after the man who did the most to make it a reality: New York attorney William A. Shea.

The city council approved the name by a vote of 20-2 Tuesday—thus honoring a man who forced expansion on major league clubowners by creating the Continental League—at least on paper.

The stadium is expected to be ready for the Mets sometime this year.

Newland Asks Dual Sanction

Portland—UPI—Officials of the Oregon Invitational Indoor Track Meet won't know until late Friday or Saturday what kind of a meet they will run Jan. 26 in Memorial Coliseum.

Meet director Bob Newland said Tuesday the sponsors are hoping for dual sanction by both the Amateur Athletic Union and the U.S. Track and Field federation. The organizations have refused requests from other meets for dual sanctioning this winter, but Newland hopes a Friday meeting in New York between Gen. Douglas MacArthur and representatives of the two feuding groups will result in a truce.

Otherwise, Newland said, it will be run as a closed college meet with no sanctioning by either organization. Such a move would rule out such former Oregon collegiate stars as milers Jim Greile and Dyrrol Burleson.

RETROACTIVE AWARD
New York—UPI—Hall of Famer Max Carey, the "Ty Cobb" of the National league's baseball stealers from 1913 to 1925, will receive the Retroactive Award from the New York chapter of the Baseball Writers association on Jan. 27. The award honors outstanding players who completed before the establishment of the annual most valuable player of the year awards. It previously was won by Cobb and Rogs Hornsby, whose .367 and .358 lifetime batting averages are the highest in major league history.
