Barton Unopposed To Gas Tax Boost

Salem—UPI—House Speaker Clarence Barton (D-Ore.) said today he was "not opposed" to increases in the gasoline tax, or bond issues to finance "have-not" highways in Oregon.

Barton voiced his view when asked to comment on a Senate bill introduced Wednesday by Sen. Walter Pearson (D-Portland) to reduce the gasoline tax by 1 cent.

"I'd be more inclined to support an increase in gasoline taxes for neglected areas," Barton said. "And I'm not opposed to a bond program (for have-not highways) if it is so financed it won't hurt the present highway construction program." Shortly before the legislature convened this week the Oregon Coast association announced it would seek a 1-cent gasoline tax hike to finance a bond program to pay for improvement of "have-not" highways throughout the state.

Venezuela Police, Students Clash

Caracas, Venezuela—UPI—Heavily armed troops and police sealed off the Communist-infested Central university today and searched the campus for $660,000 worth of stolen art works.

Aggressive students who used force to oppose the police search caused the officers to use their guns Wednesday night to disperse the angry mobs. Three rioters were wounded.

The U. S. Embassy reported that UPI's news editor in the Caracas bureau, Anthony Valbuena, had been arrested "with a group of people" inside the university while covering the search.

Police said the masked tommy gunners who stole five French paintings from the National Art Museum Wednesday, shooting and wounding a child in the process, had been positively identified as university students.

Members of the society are particularly interested in history of Medieval Europe. New officers are president, Gary Storey, Lebanon; vice president, Glenn Vandergaaf, Lakeview; secretary, John Buck, Davenport, Wash.; and treasurer, Joni Smith, Cottage Grove.
