Overdue Books Are Returned in GP

Grants Pass — An unusually high rate of return on overdue books was reported at the Josephine County Library this week.

It all followed the arraignment in Grants Pass justice court last week of six persons charged with retaining books, more than 30 days after they had been notified they were delinquent.

The complaints were issued under a state law, finally invoked by authorities after all other means to effect return of the books had failed.

All six defendants pleaded guilty and were fined $10 each; three were suspended. Fines for the overdue books, plus the cost of lost or damaged ones, ranged from a few dollars to almost $21 in one case.
