Reception Is Given

A reception for the Gregg Smith singers was held at the Rogue Valley Manor immediately following their concert in the Medford High school last Sunday evening. The board members, patrons and invited guests met the members of the singing group.

This is the second half of their current tour, the first half having been completed before the holidays on the east coast. After the completion of their tour they will return to their homes and various occupations in Los Angeles.

Mrs. Robert Ford, chairman for the reception, was assisted by several civic music members and by a group of manor residents. Mrs. Raymond Wise arranged the tables and Mrs. O. M. Anderson, Mrs. Royal Bebb and Miss Clara Hintz assisted. The singers were taken on tour of the building.

Next Jackson county association concert will be William Warfield, world-famed baritone who will appear here February 4.

Yreka WSCS Circle Activities Noted; Dinner Is Given

Yreka — The Miriam circle of the Yreka Women's Society of Christian Service of the Methodist church, held a "come as you are" breakfast at the home of Mrs. James Elsea January 19.

About 75 women attended. Breakfast was provided by Mrs. James Elsea, Mrs. Ray Penney and Mrs. Gordon Bray, who served from 9 to 11:30 a.m.

The Naomi circle met at the home of Mrs. Harold Evett Thursday, January 17. Eighteen members were present and Mrs. Theodore Deter, chairman, presided. Mrs. Ella Soule presented the program, "Helping the Handicapped," and Mrs. Henry Clawson presented the remainder of the program and devotions.

The International potluck dinner served by the church members Sunday evening at the church was reported as a success, with approximately 65 persons present and $44 was donated toward a missionary project. Tables were decorated in the theme, one held items from the orient, another from Mexico, Scandinavian countries and Hawaii. Food representing the places was served. A program followed.

Copenhagen — Greece's Crown Prince Constantine, 23, and Danish Princess Anne Marie, 16, smile happily on their arrival here January 23 after the announcement of their engagement. The wedding is expected to take place next year, after the Princess graduates from high school. (UPI photo)

Danes, Greeks Express Delight in Engagement

Copenhagen, Denmark — Delighted Danes today toasted the engagement of their saucy Princess Anne-Marie, 16, to handsome Crown Prince Constantine of Greece and prayed they would live happily ever after.

The Greek and Danish royal families touched off national celebrations with the surprise announcement from Amalienborg Castle Wednesday.

It was the signal for thousands of Danes to crowd into the castle square today to honor the young couple and shout for an appearance.

In Greece, church bells rang and 21 guns saluted the announcement from the Hill of Lycabittus.

Princess Anne-Marie and her 22-year-old prince will go to Athens Monday to receive the accolades of his countrymen.

Copenhagen was gay and bustling today. Temperatures were in the mid-30s. Flags were out and people talked happily about the fairy tale romance.

The young couple flew in the face of tradition by getting engaged while Anne-Marie is only 16. King Frederick IX and Queen Ingrid of Denmark were reported to have urged at first that they wait until she was 18.

But Anne-Marie has a reputation for being her own boss and she got her way. Court circles said the wedding probably will take place in one or two years.

The entire Greek royal family flew in from Athens for the occasion. King Paul and Queen Frederika were accompanied by their daughter, Princess Irene and Princess Sophie, and Sophie's husband, Prince Don Juan Carlos, son of the claimant to the Spanish throne.

The tall, athletic Constantine, who had been in Denmark for several days, escorted his little princess to the airport to greet them.

Constantine fits the storybook description of a prince. He is the first member of European royalty to win an Olympic Gold Medal. He captured first place in the dragon class yacht races in the 1960 Olympiad.

He has had a modern education, complete with Greek commando training.

The princess is pretty and naturally gregarious. She attends Zahles Skole, a girl's public school in Copenhagen, and has many friends among her classmates. Like the prince, she is athletically inclined.

Central Point Bethel Meets; Award Is Made

Central Point — Miss Catherine Harsh, Central Point, officiated at the first meeting of the new term for Bethel 38, International Order of Job's Daughters, recently in the Central Point Masonic temple.

Escorted and introduced during the evening's ceremonies were the Misses June Hopkins and Sandra Beasley, past honored queens of the Bethel. Miss Harsh also presented Mrs. Glenn Kelley, Bethel guardian, a corsage in appreciation of her guidance, and Miss Sandra Beasley was given a Hawaiian doll and corsage as retiring queen.

Miss Sharon Thompson was awarded the bronze merit medal during the ceremonies. Members voted to donate fifty cents each to help repair the Masonic temple on Guam which was destroyed by a recent storm.

Reports were given on various visits to recent installations and gifts to Bethel grandparents during the holiday season.

Shrine bank tickets were distributed to sell for the concert to be held Sunday, January 27 at 3 p.m. in the Medford high school auditorium. Various members of school bands in the valley will participate as well as Central Point schools. The Junior High Scout Guard Pointers will do a routine with the Klitte band.

The Misses Jo Ann Hamilton and Cleresse and Cheresse Offutt were in charge of the refreshments which followed.

Founders' Day To Be Observed

Ashland — Special guest at the PEO Founders' Day luncheon Saturday, January 26, will be Mrs. Fletcher Fish, Phoenix, who is second vice president of the Oregon state chapter.

The annual event is co-sponsored by Chapters C and BN of Ashland and is open to all members or visiting unaffiliates of the PEO Sisterhood. Luncheon will be served at 12:30 p.m. in the parish hall of Trinity Episcopal church.

Committees in charge of arrangements are Mrs. Harvey Woods, Mrs. Marcus Woods, Mrs. Wilbur C. Bushnell, Mrs. Lloyd Selby, Mrs. W. E. Bartlett and Mrs. Gordon Pickell. Reservations must be made by this evening with Mrs. Harvey Woods.

District To Meet

Talent — A meeting of District 1, Oregon Federation of Women's clubs has been set for April 3 in Talent, it was announced during a meeting of the Talent unit January 22. The meeting, a morning session, was held in the Talent City hall. A board meeting was announced for February 1 in Grants Pass at the Riverside cafe.

Guests attended from Medford, Grants Pass and Cave Junction.

Mrs. William R. Harms, district director, and Mrs. H. P. Bosworth, Jacksonville, who were among the guests, spoke on international affairs. Plans for a hobby show and food sale to be held March 16 were made and members prepared bandages for cancer patients.

Native Birds Garden Club Program Topic

Rogue River — Birds native to this area were the subject of the program given recently by Gen. J. H. Hicks, Medford, at a meeting of the Rogue River Garden club. He showed slides of the different species and varieties. Because of the general interest of the topic, husbands of many of the members also attended.

Mrs. Larry Bassett, Grants Pass, was hostess to the group. Dessert luncheon was served with the assistance of Mrs. Harold Dunham, Mrs. Earl Brooks, and Mrs. John Whiteman.

Mrs. Rollin Siehl, president, reported that holiday gifts were presented to patients of Ward 212 at the Veterans Domiciliary at White City. Mrs. Dunham, horticulture chairman, spoke on control of earwigs.

Guests were Mrs. Mae Bayless, Mrs. Julia Grove, Mrs. Hans Loof and Miss Linda Dunham.

Camp Fire Girls Tolopa Group

Recently Sandra Gibbons, Karen Trefren, Marilyn Zimmer, Linda Powers and Sandra Hale of the Tolopa Camp Fire group went on a hike and cookout in Sams Valley.

On our five-and-a-half-mile hike we saw caves in the rocks, deer and racoon tracks. We cleaned out two places in the streams where the deer come to drink.

James Fredenburg and Willard Harwood provided transportation and we were accompanied by Miss Ann Younger and Mrs. Rufus Younger, our guardian.

Dinner, Fashion Show Planned in Eagle Point

Eagle Point — "Hilarity and High Fashion" will be featured at a potluck dinner and style show sponsored by the Eagle Point High School Parent-Teacher-Student association Saturday evening, January 26. Proceeds from this fund raising project will be used for the annual teacher education scholarship, a statewide PTA project.

The potluck dinner will be held in the Elementary school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m. Rolls, butter, coffee, milk and table service will be provided. Those attending are requested to take a generous dish of salad, hot food, or dessert. The style show and entertainment will be in the Elementary school gymnasium at 8 p.m. Tickets may be bought from high school students or may be purchased at the door. A prize will be given to the class selling the most tickets.

Mrs. Raymond Charters is general chairman of this fund raising project. Mrs. Dale Scheett, assisted by Mrs. Robert Sanderson and Mrs. Horace Webster is in charge of the dinner arrangements. Mrs. Edward Chamberlain, Mrs. Doreen Vaughan, and Edward Armitage are co-chairmen of the style show.

Fashions for women and girls will be provided by The Town and Country Dress shop, White City. Men's and boys' furnishings will be by Robinson Brothers, Medford, and The Westerner, Medford, will provide western and sport clothes.

The Misses Sharon Smith, Sandra Charters, Helen Vickoren, Fraya Gunderson and Barbara Hopper are responsible for the decorations. Mrs. Harry Hanscom, assisted by Miss Lola Ackerman and Miss Patricia Beacham, is chairman of ticket sales. Robert Colpitts and a crew of young men will take care of the clean-up.

Little Things Mean A Lot, Fashionwise

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
New York — (UPI) — Little things mean a lot on the spring fashion scene.

Take the startling, Oriental-looking eye makeup created for the fashion models in his show — their eyes took on the slant of a Siamese cat's.

Or, new ways of doing belts. Or, the way polka dots get a big hand from some designers. Or, the way the medium heel even for evening is headed for feminine acceptance.

These are some of the little items that stand out from 10 days of American designer showings in New York for out-of-town women's and fashion editors.

One of the designers showing was Pope Fernandez, a Cuban refugee who has been in business in New York less than two years. He ran a custom-order firm in Havana until the Castro regime took over. The clothes he showed were expensive combinations of lush fabric and rich color. But it was the eye makeup he created for the models which set everyone talking.

The eyebrows were heavily penciled into a 45-degree slant toward the hairline. Beneath the brow ran a heavy white line, underscored by a wide slanted streak drawn in color — pink, purple, brown or orange. The same white line was repeated on the upper eyelid and eyeliner then outlined the eye itself. False eyelashes completed the picture. Fernandez said he got the idea for the makeup from the Kabuki dancers of Japan.

Kabuki eye cosmetics with the Mona Lisa hairdo introduced by one stylist week — what a combination!

Polka dots are spring's perennial; this season, they're bigger than ever. In size, that is. Mollie Parnis, for instance, showed polka dots in free form shapes ranging in size from silver dollars to the breakfast pancakes.

Besides the man-tailored suit, there are a lot of steals from the men's wear division — particularly in theft of the shirt off his back.

The shirt blouse, with French cuffs, shows in numerous collections, its severity softened by a bow at the neckline. It frequently is combined with vests, another steal from the men.

Yankee Pot Roast Is Easily Prepared
To produce a perfect Yankee pot roast, experts suggest you brown a five-pound beef pot roast on all sides on high heat. Add a can of condensed onion soup and let it come to a fast boil.

Turn down the heat to simmer, cover the pot and forget it for three to four hours. Just before serving, thicken the gravy. This can be served with potato pancakes or poppy seed noodles and a salad.
