REFLECTION—With the long period of dry weather, Bear creek is not the raging torrent it was during the recent flood. In the quiet pool above Main st. bridge, the freeway viaduct appears as two—one above and below—as its image is reflected in the water. And it's not just an illusion either, because some cars and trucks can actually be seen traveling on the lower one.

Mrs. Kanclier Is Named Nursing Supervisor Here

Mrs. Ethelmae (Tommy) Kanclier has been appointed Jackson county public health nursing supervisor to fill the position vacated by the late Miss Frances Clink, according to Dr. A. E. Merkel, county public health officer.

Miss Clink died Tuesday following an illness. She had been supervising nurse for six years.

Mrs. Kanclier has been a staff public health nurse here since November, 1949. She was an Ensign in the U.S. Navy Nurse Corps during World War II, and was a nurse at the Ashland Community hospital. She has been a nurse in the Ashland area for six years.

Mrs. Kanclier was graduated from Ashland High school in 1937 and received her bachelor of science degree in elementary education at Southern Oregon college in 1948. She received her public health nursing certificate in 1949 from the University of Oregon medical school of nursing.

Mrs. Ellen Olcott will join the staff as a public health nurse Feb. 1 to serve the Ashland area. She recently completed her certificate requirements at the University of Oregon. She has had extensive experience in nursing, part of it in mental health clinic. Dr. Merkel said. She received her bachelor of science degree in nursing from the University of Portland in 1947.

Dispute Flares Over Proposal To Reduce Legislators' Pay

Salem—(AP)—A legislative pay bill passed the Oregon House, 41 to 18, today despite a Republican effort to obstruct it.

Salem—(AP)—The Oregon House erupted in debate today over an effort to reduce pay proposed in the legislative salary bill.

The argument began as the bill came up for final passage in the House.

It calls for $3,000 per year for legislators, plus $20 per day in expenses up to 120 days.

Rep. Robert Smith (R-Burns) asked the House for unanimous consent to reduce the figures to $1,800 and $15 per day.

When the House refused, Smith moved to send the bill back to the Ways and Means committee for amendment.

Rep. Sidney Bazett (R-Grants Pass) speaking for the bill, said in terms of dollar value it represents less pay than the Oregon legislators received in 1950.

He said it also represents the same sum that high school students in his area receive for office work after one year.

Smith replied he was fearful of legislative "professionalism." He said legislative pay should only match the costs of serving in the legislature.

He said the legislature faces tax increases and budget cuts. "We should start with our own extravaganzas," he said.

Rep. Ken Maher (R-Portland) replied that the entire state of Oregon would benefit from the better pay for legislators, authorized by the voters last May.

Water Main Breaks In Oak Grove Area

Service to water customers in the vicinity of Oak Grove school was cut off for about two hours Thursday afternoon when a 6-inch water main broke, according to Robert L. Lee, Medford water superintendent.

Service was interrupted for about 100 customers, including Oak Grove school, between 3 and 5 p.m., Lee said. The break in the main was discovered about 2 p.m.

Lee said it was the second break in the main this month. He speculated the failure was probably due to freezing weather.

A five-man crew from the water department worked to repair the break and to explain the reason for the interrupted service to water users in the area.

Portland Bank Robbery Suspect Nabbed South of Cottage Grove

Second Biggest Haul in Oregon History Noted

Arrest Made by State Policeman

Eugene—(AP)—A suspect in Thursday evening's $53,469 robbery of the Eastport Branch of the U.S. National Bank of Portland was arrested south of here early today.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation said approximately $23,000 was found in the suspect's car.

It was believed to be the second biggest bank haul in Oregon history.

John H. Williams, special agent in charge of the FBI office in Portland, said the suspect was identified as James Theodore Hollywood, 64, Seattle. He said that Hollywood used a number of aliases and gave the name Arthur Lyle Andrews when arrested by a state policeman about 5 a.m.

Information filed Williams said an informant charging Hollywood with the robbery was filed in Portland before U.S. Commissioner Claire Mundorff with bail set at $50,000. He said the U.S. marshal probably would bring the suspect to Portland later today.

The arrest was made by state policeman Richard Frambles about five miles south of Cottage Grove, who said the suspect offered no resistance and was not armed.

Frambles said packages of bills wrapped in newspapers were found in the car. Police said $15,000 was counted in the first two packages opened.

The Portland bank was robbed by two armed men shortly after closing time.

The FBI said it believed the amount taken was the largest ever from a Portland bank. In 1947 a gang took $87,500 from a Sweet Home bank.

Hauled Into Vault The bank is located in the Eastport shopping area on SE 82nd street.

The robbers entered the bank shortly after it closed, herded six employees into the vault and shot open six metal cash containers.

Lawrence Attebury, 64, one of the employees, was struck on the head with a pistol by one of the men but was not seriously injured.

J. Allan Gard, the bank's manager, said the men entered the bank through a back entrance which was presumed to be locked.

Gard said "we don't know but they may have had a key."

JOHN TRUDEAU Selected Festival Director

Musical Festival Is Set in Jacksonville During Mid-August

A landscaped hillside within the historic Peter Britt estate at Jacksonville will be the setting Aug. 11 through 24 for the northwest's first outdoor summer music festival, E. O. Graham, Jacksonville mayor, announced today.

Format of the two-week public concert series will be patterned after the open air music programs which attract thousands of visitors each summer to Tanglewood in Lenox, Mass.; Aspen, Colo.; and Carmel, Calif.

Producers of Oregon's premier event will be the Peter Britt Gardens Music and Arts Festival association in cooperation with the cities of Jacksonville and Medford.

General manager of the non-profit association is Sam D. McKinney, Portland.

Selected to direct the series of 19 afternoon and evening concerts is John Trudeau, well known conductor of the Portland Pops orchestra which he was instrumental in organizing three years ago.

Trudeau also directs a chamber music ensemble, is a member of the music faculty at Portland State college, and is first trombonist with the Portland Symphony. He was previously associated with the Boston Symphony.

The Peter Britt music festival orchestra will be composed of approximately 30 professional musicians from Oregon, Washington, California and Idaho. Performers with recognized abilities and experience with symphony, chamber groups, and small ensemble work will be invited to participate.

Programs will offer a full range of classical music, from familiar baroque to the most recent in contemporary works, Trudeau said.

The "Twilight Series" of afternoon performances are scheduled to begin at 4 p.m., which will permit members of the audience to attend a Shakespearean play in Ashland later the same evening.

A "Starlight Series" of evening performances will begin at 8:30 p.m.

Shipload of 1,170 Exiles From Cuba Docks in Florida

Refugees Reunited With Loved Ones

Port Everglades, Fla.—(AP)—A shipload of 1,170 refugees from Communist Cuba arrived here today, seasick and somber until their new freedom took hold. Then they cried and sighed for joy and were sped to reunions with loved ones.

"I'm free at last," sobbed the wife of a namesome Cuban invasion prisoner as she embraced him at a mass reunion in Miami, where the refugees were taken in buses after debarking from the cargo ship Shirley Lykes.

Stories of hardship As they streamed off the black-hulled freighter and prepared to board a line of buses waiting to take them 20 miles south to Miami, the refugees told more stories of hardships, terror and anti-Castroism in Cuba.

It was the biggest single group of exiles released by Fidel Castro from his Communist island, and brought to more than 3,400 the number of refugees who have come here since the ransoming of 1,113 Cuban invasion prisoners before Christmas.

Spirits Changed Seventeen of the passengers were ambulance cases, and these were first off the vessel.

The other exiles were unsmiling as they streamed down three gangplanks. But inside the processing center and boarding the buses for Miami their spirits changed, and at the stadium in Miami there was a wildly emotional scene as relatives broke from a waiting crowd of some 4,000 to embrace long-separated loved ones as they stepped from the buses.

Members of Youth 'Gang' Are Arrested Central Point—Members of what police termed an organized teen-age thief gang here have admitted several thefts from Central Point and Medford businesses.

Nine Central Point juveniles were questioned by Central Point police yesterday. Chief Ed Zander reported. All admitted having a part in the thefts. Two have been detained in the county juvenile detention home. Three more are being referred to juvenile authorities today, Zander said.

The juveniles admitted taking part in recent thefts from a market in Central Point, two stores in Medford and a grocery store on Old Stage rd.

Two of them also admitted drinking beer during their lunch periods at Crater High school, Zander said.

Nevada Couple Is Arrested by Police

Clyde Eugene Laughard and his wife, Anita, of Death, Nev., were arrested yesterday afternoon by state police on charges of child abandonment.

A warrant had been issued from Bakersfield, Calif., for the couple, officers said. The couple has been lodged in the Jackson county jail in lieu of bail. Both have signed waivers of extradition, police noted.

Two small children from a previous marriage, who were with them when they were placed in a foster home by the Jackson county public welfare department. Authorities will seek the whereabouts of their father to see if he is qualified to care for them, Welfare Administrator David Kuhns said today.

The couple is charged with abandoning a 23-month-old child in Bakersfield, police said.

JAMES H. JENSEN Schedules Talk Here

OSU President To Speak at Meeting In City on Monday

Dr. James H. Jensen, president of Oregon State University, will make a public address at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 28, at the Red Cross building, 60 Hawthorne ave., Medford, under the auspices of the Oregon State Mothers club of this area.

The topic of his talk has not been announced, according to Mrs. John Schroeder, president of the Oregon State Mothers club.

Dr. Jensen has spent more than 30 years in university teaching, research and administration. He is an internationally known botanist and plant pathologist.

Institute Assignments He has had assignments with the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research at Princeton, N. J., and is a member of the policy advisory board of the Argonne National Laboratory, an agency managed by the University of Chicago for the Atomic Energy commission.

Dr. Jensen has filled three active foreign scientific assignments in his field of plant pathology in Cuba, Puerto Rico and the Dominican Republic.

Whatever subject is chosen for his Medford address, Dr. Jensen will have a wealth of information to offer in the fields of science of particular interest today; and on the areas of the world, being watched by all alert Americans, Mrs. Schroeder emphasized.

Sex Crime Bills Proposed in House

Salem—(AP)—Six bills aimed at preventing sex crimes were introduced in the House today, with 56 house and senate sponsors signaling public disturbance over sex offenses.

Public furor was most recently aroused when 6-year-old Mona Rae Minyard was kidnapped in Portland, raped and slain.

The bills, however, began to take shape earlier when the Legislative Interim Committee on Social Problems was created in 1961.

That view was expressed today by leaders in the field of private philanthropy.

They said public support of religious, educational and charitable enterprises is bound to be affected adversely by the new rules on itemized income tax deductions proposed by the President.

Views Differ on Significance of Recent Buildup

Russians' Presence Claimed Increasing

Washington—(AP)—Senators reported after a secret intelligence briefing today that Russia has built an enormously powerful military and political complex in Fidel Castro's Cuba.

But they emerged from a two-hour meeting with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Central Intelligence Agency Director John A. McCone with differing views on whether the Russian buildup has expanded significantly in recent days.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.) said on emerging from the session that the Russians have built "an enormously powerful military and political base in Cuba—much stronger than it was six months ago."

He said it is his impression that the "strengthening" of the Russian politico-military "machine" is continuing.

Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), who spoke separately with newsmen, said "There is a big Soviet military complex in Cuba today" built up over the last six months.

Symington, who said his information was not based solely on the briefing, said he is concerned about increasing numbers of Russians in Cuba who are "members of what might be called the Russian air complex."

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) chairman of the Senate foreign relations subcommittee on Latin American affairs, declined comment on the buildup. He told newsmen only that his subcommittee held a "top-secret briefing" and will follow up on the matter in subsequent hearings.

Rusk and McCone had been called for questioning on President Kennedy's news conference statement Thursday that daily surveillance of Cuba had disclosed "no influx" of offensive Russian weapons.

Kennedy said that one Soviet ship might have brought arms to Cuba. But he said there was no evidence it carried weapons that might pose a threat to the United States.

Planning Groups Air Mutual Problems

A discussion of mutual problems and an interchange of ideas highlighted a meeting last night of the Medford city and Jackson county planning commission members and members of the county court.

The first meeting of its kind—but long talked about by members of both commissions—the two-hour discussion covered such subjects as Medford and Jackson county government centers, the county fairgrounds area, mutual planning problems in the Medford fringe areas and a report on the Bear Creek Urban planning project.

Part of the meeting included commissioners asking questions of the other group as what they have accomplished in various fields such as zoning, water, sewer, subdivisions, and future plans.

Elwood Hedberg Jr., president of the city group, and C. O. Lovejoy, county commission president, discussed the possibility of setting up a liaison group between the two commissions.

Ideas discussed at the "get acquainted" sessions will be reviewed at the next meetings of the city and county commissions.

Medford Architect Jack Edson showed slides of the development of the Eugene Civic center.

BEAR CUB DIES Portland—(AP)—One of a pair of day-old Kodak bear cubs died at the Portland zoo Thursday.

Private Agencies Worry Over New Tax Proposals

Washington—(AP)—Colleges, hospitals and charitable agencies will find it harder to raise money if President Kennedy's new tax proposals are enacted by Congress.

That view was expressed today by leaders in the field of private philanthropy.

They said public support of religious, educational and charitable enterprises is bound to be affected adversely by the new rules on itemized income tax deductions proposed by the President.
