

Exchange Students Speak For Travel Study Club

Miss Nik Yahya, Kota Bharu Kelantan, Malaya; Jens Hasfeldt, Lungley, Denmark; and Garner Haupt, Medford, American Field service exchange students, were guest speakers for the international affairs program for Travel Study club, of the Oregon Federation of Women's clubs, Tuesday, January 22, in the fireplace room at the Girl's Community club.

This was the fifth annual guest day for the club. Mrs. Robert Sleeter, member of the American Field service committee, explained the student exchange, stating 2600 exchange students were in the United States this year.

Miss Yahya or Nikki, as she is called, spoke of Malaya as about the size of Great Britain. Kota Bharu is about the size of Medford, and is in the state of Kelantan, which ranks fourth in size in Malaya.

School Play Held Over

Because of the interest shown in the Saroyan play, "The Beautiful People" being presented by the Thespian troupe at Medford high school, an additional night has been added to the schedule.

Mrs. Lenore Zapell, director, stated Saturday that the play will be given again Monday, January 28, beginning at 8 p.m. It is being produced "in the round" in Room 61. This room is in a building across the street south of the main high school structure and the entrance faces on Jasper street.

India Student Dinner Guest of Gold Hill Couple

Gold Hill - Kaloer Joseph Devasia, whose home is Kataketty P. O. Kanjirappally Kerala, India was a dinner guest of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Andrews at their home on Upper River road January 22.

He was enroute to Los Angeles, Calif., where he will study missionary medicine for one year. He has been a student at Central Washington School of the Bible at Selah, Wash., the past two years. Plans are that he will return later to the school to complete his studies before returning to his home in India.

Mr. Devasia was among those with an extension team from the school who held a two weeks series of Evangelistic meetings at the Gold Hill Christian church more than a year ago.

He is a former schoolmate of Dewey V. Jeffrey, minister of the Gold Hill church. Following the dinner at the Andrews home he met with members of the congregation at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jeffrey for a social evening.

Use an empty soft-drink carton to carry cleaning supplies from room to room. One of these will hold a sponge, dust cloth, paper towels and various saved bottles filled with cleaner-wax, commercial detergent cleanser.

Dancers Slate Snow Man Event

Square dancers of this area plan to attend the fourth annual Snow Man's dance to be sponsored by the Mt. Shasta Dudes and Daisies Square dance club. The event will be conducted Sunday, February 3 from 1 to 5 p.m., in the Mt. Shasta City park lodge.

Square dancers can earn Snow Man's badges by dancing in the snow.

A potluck dinner will be served after the session and a prize will be given for the dancer traveling the greatest distance. Salads or desserts will be required for the dinner.

Howard Jones will be master of ceremonies.

Increased Use of Senior Activity Center Noted

Slides of a trip by C. Z. Wollam of the Rogue Valley Manor to the Northwest Territories in Canada, will be shown Monday, January 28, at the Arm Chair Travelers meeting at 1 p.m. at the Senior Activity center, 601 East Jackson street.

The trip includes a plane trip to Yellowknife on the north shore of the Great Slave lake, to Fort Radium on the east shore of the Great Bear lake, and Coppermine, a village on the river by that name which empties into Cornation gulf.

From there the tour will go west to the Mackenzie river to visit Aklavik and Inuvik where the Canadian Department of Northern Affairs and National Resources has its headquarters. The last trip will show the white whales which are killed near White Fish station and Tuktoyaktuk, an old trading post at the mouth of the Mackenzie river.

retary of the Tuberculosis and Health association, will visit the class to invite them to enter an art contest held annually by the National association to find a new picture to use on the annual Christmas seals. The national prize is $1,000 and the contest is open to anyone. Mrs. Kyer will have the details, rules, and contest blanks available and all senior artists will be invited to take part.

Thursday mornings, will take single persons. Last week, Gene Chamberlain, the teacher, was unable to direct due to illness in her family, but expects to be present Thursday. However, the group danced by themselves, doing their own calling.

Most of the classes have a social hour after their sessions, offering an opportunity to make new friends.

No membership fees are needed to use the center. It is for all seniors from 50 years and up. Suggestions are welcome about new activities to make the center successful in its purpose.
