Court of Awards, Fly-Up Conducted at Eagle Point

Eagle Point — Girl Scouts from Troops 185 and 184 combined for their investiture, fly-up, and court of awards ceremonies February 3 at the Eagle Point Scout Community building. Approximately 150 girls, their families and guests attended.

Intermediate Girl Scouts of Troop 185 and Brownie Girl Scouts of Troop 184 marched in front of the auditorium amid a setting of various types of evergreen trees arranged to represent a forest and lake. The Girl Scout and American Flags were carried by Intermediate Scouts, Dolores Beebe and Vicki Mesloh with Barbara Beebe and Debby Tryon as color guards.

Senior Boy Scout Arthur Harbison played the colors on the trumpet before the American flag was posted and all joined in singing America. The Rev. Warren Christensen of the Eagle Point Community Bible church offered the invocation.

Intermediate Girl Scouts saluted their sister Brownies by singing.

Neighborhood chairman, Mrs. David Harbison welcomed the parents, families and friends of all the girls participating in the ceremonies and invited them to take part with their daughters.

Invested

As the new leaders were invested into the Girl Scout organization, Brownie Scout Janet Hannaford introduced her mother, Mrs. David Hannaford, who was invested as leader of Troop 184. She will be assisted by Senior Girl Scout Christine Stockton. Barbara Beebe introduced her mother, Mrs. Charles Beebe, who will be the assistant leader for Troop 185. Committeemen and women introduced were Charles Beebe, chairman of Troop 185 and Mrs. Willis Morrison, uniform chairman for troop 185.

Acknowledged were Mrs. Lundgreen, telephone chairman; Mrs. Melvin Tryon, uniform chairman of Troop 184, and Mrs. James Johnson who has helped as assistant leader and transportation chairman.

Teresa Barritt, Lila Chastain, Nancy Lehman, Cheryl Ann Reedy, and Teryl Smith were escorted to the lake by Brownie Scouts Debby Tryon and Janet Hannaford where they were invested into the Girl Scout organization by neighborhood chairman, Mrs. Harbison, and their new leaders Mrs. Hannaford and Miss Stockton. Each girl presented her reason for wanting to become a Brownie, repeated her slogan, motto and heard the story about a couple of children searching for a Brownie as told by Mrs. Johnson.

Repeat Promise

After the new girls repeated their promise, their sister scouts sang and their parents were invited to come up and participate in the final steps of becoming Girl Scouts. The mothers took their daughters to the mirror lake and turned them around three times as the girls gave the magic words and looked into the pool to see the new Brownies. Each mother pinned her daughter's Brownie pin on upside down until she has voluntarily done a good deed.

Fathers presented their daughters with their ties and mothers pinned their world pins on following a word on their world friendship activities. Other Girl Scouts receiving their ties and world friendship pins were Nancy Johnson, Debra Tryon, Christine Lundgreen, Janet Hannaford, and Debra Smith. Each girl passed under the fairy's magic wand to make her wish for this year. The girls escorted their parents to their seats and returned to tell their parents in a song what they hid in their pockets.

Build Fire

The intermediate Girl Scouts built their own ceremonial fire complete with a flickering flame for their parents as Tanya Harbison, Dolores Beebe, and Vicki Mesloh sang a Girl Scout song.

Linda Chastain, Catherine Morrison, Judy Ragsdale, Virginia Ragsdale, Sandra Robertson, Patricia Stacy, Jill Taylor and Rebecca Mynatt, all new girls, passed the requirements necessary to become tenderfoot scouts and combined their ceremony with the girls flying up into Girl Scouts from the Brownie level. Barbara Beebe, Tanya Harbison, Vicki Mesloh, and Shelly Smith all received their Fly-up wings to wear on their Girl Scout uniform. Following the reciting of their slogan, motto and promise, the girls put on the ceremony with their laws with Miss Dolores Beebe as Spirit of the Scout Law and assisted by Sharon and Linda Hafer. All of the girls were presented their Girl Scout pins and World Friendship pins by their mothers and their ties by their fathers. Each girl also asked the Scout Fairy, Brownie Nancy Johnson, to grant them their wish for the coming year. Mrs. Beebe presented the girls pins.

Cards were presented to the following girls who completed the necessary requirements for their second class rank during the summer months: Linda Nolen, Dolores Beebe, Pearl Gillette, June Gillette and Victoria Ragsdale. Susan Stewart, Josca Leeuwenburgh, Louise Harris, Janet Charley, Sandra Algeo, and Sherry Stone all earned their 2nd class rank. Mrs. Jack James was leader for this rank with the awards being presented by the neighborhood chairman in her absence.

First Aid

The following eight girls successfully completed the requirements for their beginners first aid proficiency badges under the leadership of Mrs. Elmer Bunker and consultant, Orin Chastain; Barbara Beebe, Dolores Beebe, Linda Chastain, Tanya Harbison, Catherine Morrison, Gwen Stockton, Jill Taylor, and Rebecca Mynatt. Badges for the girls to wear either on their uniform or their badge sash was presented by Mrs. Harbison.

Service stars were presented to Janet Hannaford, Nancy Johnson, Christine Lundgreen, Debra Smith, and Debby Tryon for one year; Barbara Beebe, Tanya Harbison, Vicki Mesloh, Shelly Smith for two years; and Dolores Beebe for three years. Others receiving service stars will be awarded following council check on their past records.

Parents were told that the girls are all participating in an exchange of both letters, and information of their country with girls in Japan and they are awaiting the arrival of a missionary family next summer from Japan to learn more of their sister Scouts across the world. The girls are also planning their activities and training around a future trip to the Girl Scout headquarters in Mexico in a few years.

The Girl Scouts retired the colors and again were assisted by Boy Scout Arthur Harbison playing taps. The girls served refreshments to their guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marshall Thompson, who were married in Honolulu, are making their home in Klamath Falls while the bridegroom attends Oregon Technical institute.

Newlyweds Make Home In Klamath

Ashland — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marshall Thompson, whose wedding took place in Honolulu several weeks ago, are making their home at 741 1/2 Alameda street, Klamath Falls. The bride is the former Linda E. White, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Conrad Otway White of Honolulu, and the bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Frank C. Thompson, 351 Morton street, Ashland, and the late Mr. Thompson.

Mrs. Thompson went to Honolulu for the ceremony, held December 22 at St. Clement's Episcopal church. The bride wore a gown of white peau de soie and lace and her veil was held by a coronet of lace and seed pearls. She carried white dendrobium orchids and pikake blossoms.

Miss Schanie Pieper, her only attendant, wore a green silk frock with lace jacket and a lei of pikake blossoms.

The bride's mother wore a gold colored suit and hat and Mr. Thompson's mother wore a beige dress. Their flowers were also pikake leis.

Edgar Norris was best man for the bridegroom.

The reception which followed the ceremony was on the terrace of the Halekulani hotel. Reception decorations included a Christmas tree trimmed with red and gold fish, an oriental symbol of good luck.

The newlyweds traveled in Hawaii for their honeymoon. The bride's going-away dress was of deep pink dynasty silk, shirtwaist style, with pikake lei.

The bride is a graduate of Punahou High school, Hawaii, and attended Southern Oregon college, Ashland, last year. Mr. Thompson attended Oregon State college, where he was a member of Delta Upsilon fraternity, and is now a student at Oregon Technical institute.

When the newlyweds arrived in Ashland en route to Klamath Falls, they were honored at a reception at the home of the bridegroom's mother. About 30 friends and relatives attended.
