

Seattle Republican Disdainful of Tax Cutting Proposals

By A. ROBERT SMITH

Washington Bureau
Washington (Special) - Rep. K. William Stinson, the new Republican congressman from Seattle, epitomizes the recent marriage of youth and conservatism. The 32-year-old Congressman is the youngest lawmaker to come to Congress from the Pacific Northwest since Sen. Henry M. Jackson got elected to the House at age 28 during the New Deal. Like Jackson, Stinson is friendly, eager and appealing. But at that point the similarity ends between conservative Stinson and liberal Jackson.

Bill Stinson would be hard pressed to find anything new in the program of the Kennedy administration that he could endorse. While he campaigned in behalf of tax reduction, Stinson is disdainful of the president's tax cutting proposals.

"It's no tax cut at all," he declared, "just a tax postponement."

By that he said he meant that so long as the federal budget is unbalanced, thereby increasing the national debt, any plan for reducing taxes constitutes a "mortgage which our children will have to pay."

Stinson accused the Democrats of making taxes "a political thing" and contended that "it is immoral to mortgage the future." He said his mail from home indicates solid resistance to further deficit spending.

"I'm all in favor of a real legitimate tax cut, but it should be a responsible one, accompanied by a corresponding cut in government expenditures," he explained.

Stinson believes Congress should effect economies by "cutting out a lot of fat" in the federal budget. Asked what he considered fat, he said:

"We could save billions in the Department of Agriculture. We should start phasing out these subsidy programs."

The congressman represents an urban district embracing south Seattle and part of Bremerton, having defeated Rep. Don Magnuson. He was a boating and sports goods sales representative before his election.

He also advocates reducing the amount of foreign aid, notably by terminating assistance to any country within the Communist bloc, such as Poland or Yugoslavia. He argues that while America has given over $1 billion in aid to Poland, that country has given $15 billion in aid to North Viet Nam.

Stinson contends that the administration's hope of encouraging independence within the Red bloc is "an incorrect philosophy" which has not worked.

"It's fantastic that we should allow this to go on," he said. "The people are opposed to giving aid to Communist countries."

Favors Probe

Having been assigned to the House Government Operations Committee, Stinson hopes to get in on some new congressional investigations of various activities. He would especially favor a probe of the State Department's policy-making operations from Cuba to Katanga.

Speaking of American support of the United Nations effort to prevent a divided Congo, by suppressing the split-off of Katanga, Stinson said: "Our whole policy is immoral and illegal. We should have recognized the free, anti-Communist, Christian government of Moise Tshombe."

Looking ahead to 1964, Congressman Stinson thinks the GOP must nominate for president "an aggressive, articulate candidate who favors a strong, free nation, a man who contrasts with Kennedy."

He declined to suggest his preference.

He believes there is a resurgence of strength in the Republican Party. The GOP needs better salesmen, he said.

"It should not be a me-too party," he contended.

Obviously, Bill Stinson doesn't plan to be a me-too congressman.

GREETING SCOUTS—Medford Mayor James Dunlevy greeted two Boy Scouts from Troop 105 in his office in city hall earlier this week in connection with his proclamation of Feb. 7 to 13 as Scout Week in Medford. Dunlevy also designated Feb. 10 as Scout Sunday in Medford. Visiting Dunlevy were Dale Durkee, 14, of 625 J st., a Life scout, (left) and Dennis Melum, 15, of 832 Marshall ave., a Star scout. Both are students at McLoughlin Junior High school. Dunlevy eyed the boys' merit badges and confessed that when he was a Boy Scout in Akron, Ohio, during his youth, he had only risen to the rank of second class scout.

Residents Asked To Donate 2,670 Pints Of Blood in Year

A total of 2,670 pints of blood must be donated by Jackson county residents during the new year, according to Mrs. J. W. Burba, Red Cross blood program chairman.

The new quota will mean that 445 pints must be donated during each of the six visits of the Bloodmobile to Jackson county. The goal for next week's visit will be 350 pints for Medford and 145 pints in Central Point.

Mrs. Burba stressed the urgent need for blood at this time. Reserves in the Pacific Northwest Red Cross Blood Center in Portland have been alarmingly low during the past three months, necessitating the use of walk-in donors in many instances.

Many physicians found it necessary to defer elective surgical procedures for their patients, where blood might be necessary, until such time as an emergency stockpile could be accumulated, Mrs. Burba noted.

She also pointed out that although blood was donated by voluntary donors to the Red Cross at an average rate of five pints per minute last year, this accounts for only about 40 per cent of the blood needed in the United States annually.

The Red Cross Bloodmobile will be at the Red Cross building, 60 Hawthorne ave., Medford, Monday, Feb. 11, from 2 to 6 p.m. and Tuesday, Feb. 12, from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m.

Central Point will be the other stop in the county this month, so regular donors from Ashland should arrange to donate during one of the visits in Medford. The Bloodmobile

Art Valuable When Combined With Academic Program

By DAVID NYDICK
UPI Education Specialist
Art, as a part of the school program, is usually considered a cultural subject. It even has been criticized as an unnecessary extra. Actually it is, and should be, a part of the total educational program.

Art is most interesting and valuable when it combines its cultural purposes with the academic program. This approach helps individuals to understand and appreciate art as a part of their daily activities.

Art is a visual language that can be read and understood by children. The school program provides students with the opportunity to think and work creatively at their own level using a variety of materials.

A good art program is much more than a check list of things to do throughout the year. It is based on the daily classroom situation. It brings to the children experiences of emotion and intellectual quality. These experiences encourage creative work.

Let's take a look at a typical lower grade lesson. The students use cloth scraps, yarn, assorted papers, paste, and scissors to develop a picture of winter games. This project grew out of a study of weather. The class was studying clouds, temperature, and the formation of snow. The snow was used to develop interest will be at the Jewett school in Central Point Wednesday, Feb. 13, from 3 to 7 p.m.

Appointments may be made for the drawing next week by telephoning 773-3813. Persons between 18 and 59 years old are eligible to donate, but those between 18 and 21 years old must have a written consent from their parents or guardian.

School Business Is YOUR Business . . . Consolidation Is GOOD Business!

School District 4 and School District 549-C SHOULD BE JOINED

. . . to Make Good Educational Opportunities BETTER!

"Consolidation" has strong economic advantages for the benefit of the Medford, Phoenix, Talent area.

All studies show a great future population increase for the Valley—a trend already established. Removal of the present boundaries of School Districts 4 (Phoenix-Talent) and 549C (Medford) would open up a reservoir of building and development south of Medford which would be of significant economic benefit to the growth of Phoenix and Talent.

Observe the present boundary! There is much residential development right up to the boundary on the north while there is practically no such development just over the boundary to the south.

Remove the barrier—through school district consolidation and the flood gates to greater development and expansion to the south will immediately occur—through improving the economic growth of all the communities. BOTH districts will benefit by this growth!

Every thoughtful citizen in these communities cannot overlook this basic fact.

A vote for school consolidation is not only a vote for equal educational opportunities for ALL our children, but it is a vote for a strong economic climate for the entire floor of the Rogue Valley.

If You Live in School District 4 or 549C Your Vote Next Monday, Feb. 11, Is IMPORTANT—and Be SURE to—

VOTE X YES For Consolidation
