Emerald Editor Refuses To Resign

Eugene - (UPI) - Chief Justice Earl Warren said today that law has not kept pace with science in the onrushing space age and cautioned that man can destroy himself unless the two are made partners for useful outlets.

In a Lincoln's birthday address in the huge coliseum at Georgia Tech, Warren did not mention the civil rights issue which has been a major topic of Supreme Court decisions since he went on the bench shortly before the 1954 school desegregation decision.

The chief justice paid tribute, however, to the American Constitution which he noted was only 4,373 words - "shorter than the average magazine article of today, in which our founding fathers distilled the governmental wisdom of the ages."

Divine Document
"This great Constitution serves our needs today as it did 175 years ago," Warren said. "It will serve as well 175 years in the future if we nurture it as a divine document . . . by bringing coherent legal light to bear upon the ever-changing conditions of life wrought by the wonderful age of science."

A crowd of about 4,000 gave Warren a standing ovation when he entered the coliseum and again when he was introduced at the start of his address. The crowd was made up mostly of Georgia Tech students, but also included faculty members and other interested adults.

Warren arrived Monday night in a rare trip into the South. He was taken under a tight security ring to his hotel from the airport where he was greeted by Atlanta Mayor Ivan Allen Jr.

His arrival was without incident despite activity here of a so-called "Atlanta Committee for the Impeachment of Earl Warren." The group put up "Impeach Earl Warren" signs around town.

Science is "more concerned with law than the rest of us," Warren said. Father science science running away and endangering civilization, he suggested that the real danger today "lies in the lack of a lawful world."

Law Will Prevail
"A world that is governed by law will not permit these great discoveries of science to be used for destructive purposes, but a world without law is hell-bent for destruction with or without scientific discoveries," he said.

There were at least a dozen uniformed policemen and about six or eight more officers in plain clothes, in addition to airport policemen, on hand when the commercial airliner carrying Warren landed at the city's modern air terminal.

Capt. R. E. Little, head of a police "anti-hate" squad which observes racial extremists, helped supervise the security arrangements.

Monday, a letter signed by the "Alumni Committee to Combat Communism at Georgia Tech" was distributed to state legislators. The letter suggested the chief justice be cited for contempt "for his brazen invasion of the state," and added that Georgia Tech president Edwin Harris on should be censured for inviting him to appear.

An organization which calls itself "The Atlanta Committee for the Impeachment of Earl Warren" reported it sent a telegram Sunday to Warren telling him he was not welcome in the city.

Prison Inmate Flees Forest Work Camp

Tillamook - (UPI) - Joseph Dwight Everson, 35, Portland, an inmate of the Oregon state prison, fled the penitentiary's forest work camp near here Monday.

State police said Everson, sentenced on two counts of breaking and entering, walked away from the minimum security institution.

Young GOP League To Hear Dellenback

Salem - (UPI) - Members of the Young Republican College League were participating in a day-long legislative day program today to acquaint themselves with the operation of state government.

The group scheduled visits to the House and Senate, a visit with Secretary of State Howell Appling Jr., and with Press Secretary Travis Cross.

An afternoon panel session, and an evening address by Rep. John Dellenback, chairman of the House Constitution committee, also were planned.

AMA Silent on Issue of Hiking

Chicago - (UPI) - The American Medical Association declined comment today on the issue of hike or not to hike.

The AMA, which has taken strong stands in opposition to some Kennedy administration programs, reacted cautiously when asked for any words of caution on the virtues or dangers of the President's latest call to get the nation moving again.

"We prefer to sit this one out," an AMA spokesman said.

SEEKS TITLE - Gay Schweibert, 19, Southern Oregon college sophomore, will compete in a nation-wide contest for the title of "Miss Oregon" of 1963. The brown-haired, blue-eyed Ashland girl, was entered by Mrs. P. F. Brainard of Medford. She was a runner-up in the Miss Rogue Valley contest won by Marty Wyatt, "Miss Oregon" of 1962. She was crowned Queen at SOG this year, and was a prom princess while at Ashland High school.

"Your grandchildren will grow up under Communism!"
- says NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

Will the Soviet threat come true? Will your grandchildren live under Communism? Forget God? Salute the Soviet flag?

"Never!" you say. But are you sure? How can you oppose Communism? One sure way. Help Radio Free Europe. What does it do? It broadcasts the news of freedom to 79 million people behind the Iron Curtain. It helps keep them from turning to Communism. It poses a major obstacle to the Russians starting a war. But Radio Free Europe depends on individual Americans for its existence. Will you help? Give a dollar? Give 5 dollars . . . or more?
