New Look In Store For Central Point Legion Post Hall

Central Point - A new look is in store for the Central Point American Legion post's building, according to Post Commander Warren Hull.

A representative of one of the local churches has requested use of the building, beginning March 1. Hull explained, and the two organizations have agreed on a working arrangement that would enable the church officials to use the hall.

Several factors were considered, and it was decided that the much needed paint job on the outside of the structure will be done by the members of the church, who will also supply the paint, and in return be permitted use of the hall for three nights a week.

The church officials agreed that the hall would be left in a clean condition after each meeting, and added the painting would be started immediately, as the group wishes to

Former Local Man Appears in Show

A former Medford resident, Dr. Carl Mark III, now of Sacramento, Calif., appeared in a television film "Life of a Country Doctor," over Channel 5 Friday night.

He was graduated last June from the University of Oregon school of medicine, Portland, and each summer for the past few years has lived with the Pratts and worked at the Elk Lumber company. Dr. Mark now is doing his year's internship in a Sacramento hospital.

Unemployment Up In Josephine County

Grants Pass - Employment in the Josephine county, Gledale and Rogue River areas remained stable until the last week in January, when interruption of outdoor activities resulted in a moderate surge of unemployment, reported Don Stiffler, manager of the State Employment service.

Most of the late January layoffs, Stiffler said, were in the logging and sawmill industries and are temporary, depending on weather conditions.

Construction employment, although slowed by poor weather, remained strong during the month. Retailers also have not laid off as many sales people this January as in previous years.

Employment opportunities will probably remain on a recall basis for the next 60 days, said Stiffler. Barring continued severe weather, however, unemployment appears to have hit its peak for this winter.

Regional 4-H Field Day To Be Held In Siskiyou County

Siskiyou County - The 4-H Regional Field day will be held in Siskiyou county in 1963 instead of 1964 as was previously planned. It will be in Yreka on May 18. About 1,200 persons took part in the one in Susanville last year and a similar or larger group may be expected here this year.

It has been pointed out that this will be an opportunity to show friendly hospitality that is traditional in Siskiyou county to the other 12 counties in the northern 4-H region.

Young people are cautioned that March 1 is the final date to drop or to change projects. New members may not enroll now, however, as the deadline for that was January 1. New members must wait until September 1 to enroll.

"4-H-Then and Now" will highlight National 4-H Week observance March 2 to 9. The "then" will be represented by the first 4-H program in the county that existed in the thirties before an Agricultural Extension Service office was established here. The "now," of course, will be the activities and events of all the 4-H clubs. Radio broadcasts put on by the various clubs will highlight the week's activities.

A new 4-H club has been formed in Hornbrook under the sponsorship of the Hornbrook Grange. L. F. Madison and Mrs. Elva Grieb were named the community club leaders. About 20 members have enrolled and will be carrying projects in beef, clothing, foods, vegetable gardens and light horse at the start.

Several pamphlets for clothing leaders are available. They describe some of the new fabrics, such as foam backed, stretch, deep-pile and knit fabrics. Any and all are available from the farm advisors office in the Courthouse.
