

275 Guests Noted At Events at SOC Dad's Week End

Ashland—Featuring campus tours, the election of officers, a special panel, entertainment, and a dance, the annual Dad's Week End attracted more than 275 guests to the Southern Oregon college campus last week end.

Following registration, greetings were extended by Harold Snodgrass, Medford, retiring Dad's club president; Frank Alessio, San Jose, Calif., on behalf of the student body; and Dr. E. C. McGill, assistant to the president.

Special music was provided by vocal soloists, Richard K. Schall of the college music department, and Mrs. Lee Allen, Ashland, junior student. They were accompanied by Mrs. Charisla Schall on the piano.

Programs Discussed
A panel chairmaned by Dr. Arthur S. Kreisman, director of general studies, discussed "The Academic Programs at Southern Oregon College." Other panelists were Dr. Betty Lou Dunlop, professor of education; Dr. Elliott MacCracken, chairman of the science-mathematics division; and Dr. Loy Prickett, head of the business department.

Robert Dusenberry, last year's vice president, Cottage Grove, was elected president of the club; John Pletch, Medford, vice president; and Dr. Loren E. Messenger, SOC professor of psychology, was re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Before adjourning the meeting, the dads voted to present $200 to the SOC short-term student loan fund, Cascade living units B and C conducted a mother's tea, which was followed by campus tours and open house visits.

Guests attended dinner in the Commons with their sons and daughters and later in the evening attended the SOC and Portland State college basketball game. The Seneca World Fair Rope Jumpers performed at half-time. Parents and students attended a dance in the ballroom later.

Sunday, there was no formal activity, the time being devoted to visiting, sight seeing, and informal campus tours. Numbers of the visitors attended the Marion Downs concert Sunday afternoon in Churchill Auditorium.

Dr. Alvin Fellers, director of student affairs, served as general chairman for the week end.

Patton said he understood the motel would open in June with a two-story structure housing 31 units. It will have decor in keeping with the atmosphere of the Shakespearean festival. A restaurant will be built on the same property. There will be parking space for 40 cars.

Chambers members decided to ask Larsen to attend at another date to provide more precise information on the project.

Patton noted that the new motel will benefit the entire city by "upgrading Ashland's reputation for fine motels." He also called the project "a logical first step in redevelopment of the plaza area."

Reader's Digest To Publish Article of Gardner's Campaign

Wilbur L. Gardner, Medford shoe repairman, whose campaign to let the people know "what their shoes are made of," reached international proportions, has been notified that The Reader's Digest will publish an editorial about his work in the April issue.

The letter from Susan Hirth, research department, The Reader's Digest, reads in part:

"I was delighted to receive your articles, sent them immediately to the editor considering your manuscript. I talked with him and, as soon as I hear anything definite regarding the possible article, I certainly shall let you know. Chances are, however, that he will correspond directly with you, and therefore when you hear, please let me know."

"Please let me congratulate you on the success of your work. An outstanding achievement—hopefully one which our magazine will publish in a full article. In the meantime, our April issue, under the heading of Press Section, will contain a newspaper editorial about you."

Appeared in Paper
The editorial to be used is one which appeared in The Atlantic Constitution Nov. 26, 1962. It tells of Gardner's five-year campaign to force shoe manufacturers to use honest labels, which would let the people know when leather in shoes. The newspaper editorial voiced regret that a national or international

Art Exhibit Will Be Featured at Annual Meeting

The Rogue Valley Council on Aging will hold its annual meeting Thursday, Feb. 21, featuring an art exhibit by members of the Senior Center art and craft classes, Omar Bacon, president, has announced.

Included in the art exhibit will be oil paintings, mosaics and copper tooling. The exhibit will be open to viewing between 11 a.m. and noon and after the meeting.

Music will be furnished by the Senior Center orchestra preceding and following the meeting.

Luncheon is scheduled at noon. The business meeting will open at 12:30 p.m. Mrs. Hale Praggoff, medical social worker of the Oregon state board of health, will speak on "The Value of Volunteers in Your Community."

Urged to Attend
"Anyone interested in assisting in the volunteer program to provide services to patients in nursing homes and homes for the aged is urged to attend this meeting," Bacon said.

After the meeting, nursing home operators will be given an opportunity to talk to Mrs. Praggoff regarding the friendly visitors' service.

Mrs. Clayton Walker is chairman of luncheon arrangements and is being assisted by Mrs. Hannah Cyrus, Mrs. Erma Perry and Mrs. Emma Marneau. Persons who wish may bring a sack lunch. Coffee will be furnished, the committee announced.

School News

Crater High School

By Karen Griggs
Students at Crater High school had the opportunity last week to see "Safety Magic," a show sponsored by the Oregon Trucking association. It was presented to the group by Lt. Carl S. Pike in the gym. Pike, a clever magician with experience as a police safety officer uses his ability to impress students with the rules of safe driving and good judgment.

Presently on leave from the Kent County Sheriff's department, Grand Rapids, Mich., Lieutenant Pike was a professional magician before entering police work. As a safety officer he works with school safety patrols and develops safety progress that aided in materially reducing the traffic accident rate.

"Safety Magic" has been presented under the sponsorship of the American Trucking association, Inc., in 48 states to more than 3.5 million high school students. The program consists of a brief talk by Lieutenant Pike relating some of the accident cases he has covered, followed by a magic show in which each feat illustrates a point of safe driving behavior.
