Conviction Ruled Unconstitutional

Washington—UPI—The Supreme Court, by an 8-1 vote, declared unconstitutional today the breach of peace conviction of 187 Negro students who held an anti-segregation demonstration on the grounds of South Carolina's Capitol. The court held that the convictions violated constitutional guarantees of free speech and assembly. The demonstration took place at Columbia, S. C., March 2, 1961.

In their appeal to the Supreme Court, the Negro students had argued the convictions were not supported by the evidence and constituted a denial of free speech.

Justice Potter Stewart, speaking for the majority, said: "These students were convicted of an offense so generalized as to be, in the words of the South Carolina Supreme Court, 'not susceptible of exact definition.' And they were convicted upon evidence which showed no more than that the opinions which they were peacefully expressing were sufficiently opposed to the views of the majority of the community to attract a crowd and necessitate police protection."

Webb Urges Budget for Space Projects

Webb told a congressional committee that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration originally wanted to ask Congress to appropriate $6.6 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1. But he said discussions with President Kennedy and the Budget Bureau led to reduction in the request.

Congress last year voted about $3.7 billion for NASA activities. Most of the extra money requested this year will go into the manned space flight program.

Webb indicated he was confident that by following the
