

Duncan Off To Brave Start As Congressional Debater

By A. ROBERT SMITH
Mail Tribune Washington Correspondent

Washington (Special)—Rep. Robert B. Duncan is off to a brave start as a congressional debater.

When a group of North West economic complaints of the lumber industry in a round of speeches the other day most of them called for an import quota on Canadian lumber. But not Duncan.

"I happen to believe that property lies in expanded and greater trade and freedom of trade rather than in protectionist restrictions," declared the freshman Democrat from Medford.

"I believe there is greater opportunity here for the lumber industry to move concurrently with the government to meet competition with competition as the lumber industry has always done, is doing and will continue to do."

As it turned out, Duncan was the only one of the dozen or so congressmen of the two parties who clearly spoke up against shutting out Canadian imports. He did agree with Rep. Compton White, Jr., D-Ia., that the Canadian government in its fact subsidizing its lumber industry to give it advantages over American lumber. The U.S. should take action to offset such advantages under the tariff act.

A number of resolutions are already in the hopper calling for a Presidential Commission to impose a quota limiting the amount of Canadian lumber that can be imported.

Canadian imports to the United States in 1961 rose from 2,748,000 bd. ft. in 1960 to 3,941,000 in 1961, or 13.7 per cent of the American market. Since 1961 imports reportedly have risen to some 17 per cent.

So the practical impact of a 6 per cent quota would be to abolish nearly two-thirds of the lumber trade Canada currently enjoys in the United States.

In recent months the Forest Service has liberalized its cutting allowances in many Northwest forests, in addition to accelerating sales of timber blown down in the Columbus Day windstorms. In an effort to give the industry more time to adjust to the new competitive position. Congress alone can reduce the cost of water transportation by repealing or further modifying the Jones act ban on use of cheap foreign ships, but many lawmakers are fearful of the resulting loss of jobs and the resulting loss of revenue. No one has figured out how to cope with the 92 1/2 per cent of Canadian currency last spring in effect resulted in a 57 per cent increase in the price of lumber. Prices are lower in B.C. because the supply is more abundant in relation to demand.

Pittsburgh—The only catch to an Alabama man's claim for unemployment compensation, the FBI said, was that he wasn't available for work. William L. Joseph, 29, of West Blocton, Ala., was arrested by federal agents here Wednesday. They said he collected $225 on an unemployment claim filed while he was in jail at Centerville, Ala.

Sophia Loren Still Unwed, Say Italian Courts as Hearing Set

By WILLIAM SUNDERLAND
United Press International

Rome—Sophia Loren, the Italian actress, is still unwed, say Italian courts as a hearing is set to determine if her marriage to a Roman aristocrat is still valid.

"No matter what the law says, we are married because we were married before to an Italian in general's daughter named Giuliana Fiatri. Before marrying Sophia Loren, he obtained a Mexican divorce."

But in Italy, no divorce is legal.

Charges of bigamy were filed in the Italian courts before Loren's marriage to the Roman Empire, and neither Carlo nor I will be there."

Talking with Sophia about her "marriage" is difficult. Normally happy and with a ready laugh, she turns serious whenever the subject comes up.

"I don't ask for any sympathy about my marital problems because I have no need for sympathy. I regard myself as a very happily married woman and that's that. There are plenty of other people who can live with my husband and who really need it."

Another touchy point is her acting as a play on Broadway. "I wouldn't have done it if my sister wanted me to be her baby's godmother—and I wanted to, too."

Sophia said she has enough flint contracts to take up her next two years and then she may do a play on Broadway.

Of her career, she said, "Certainly, winning the Oscar for 'Two Women' was a high point. But looking back over the years, I don't regret anything."

"I learned something from everything—and particularly from the bad things."

"About the future, I don't know. I like surprises."

Point by proxy in Mexico in 1957. But Ponti, nearly twice Sophia's age and several inches shorter than her statuesque five feet, eight, had been married before to an Italian in general's daughter named Giuliana Fiatri. Before marrying Sophia Loren, he obtained a Mexican divorce.

Rep. Hand Wars
Of Bill's Feature

Salem—The State Land Board could meet in private offices of an oil lobbyist to make public decisions under a bill passed by the House Wednesday, Rep. Beulah Hand said today.

The bill went to the Senate.

The Milwaukee Democrat said the bill removes all public meeting requirements presently spelled out in the law or on the board.

The board—the governor, secretary of state and treasurer—supervises the management of state lands. Proponents said the change in the law would legalize board meetings which now fall to correspond with times cited in the law.

Hand said under the bill "no formal or public notice" of meetings would be needed. She said considerably the board could meet secretly and negotiate easements, "without anyone being the wiser."

Hand said she is not a part of a package deal, so that when Auntie bows Wednesday from a perplexed motorist: "Here is another traffic ticket and I have now arranged to never get another traffic ticket. I removed the windshield wipers from my car."

By BENNETT CERF

THE ADVERTISING manager of a billion-dollar corporation in New York was the honorary president of the Chamber of Commerce in the small upstate town in which he had been born.

One year it was suggested that he be the Man of the Year at the Chamber's annual banquet. He immediately summoned his secretary and dictated three letters in rapid succession. The first was a flowery written invitation to accept the honor which had been bestowed upon him. The second was an answer by himself graciously accepting the invitation. The third was a note of thanks to himself for responding to the invitation so promptly.

As his secretary snapped shut her notebook, she sighed with relief and told him, "That's for a moment, there, I didn't think you were going to get him!"
