

Heyman, Bonham, Thacker Top Choices on UPI All-American

By NORMAN MILLER
New York — UPI Art Heyman of Duke, the No. 1 prospect in college basketball, and Ron Bonham and Tom Thacker, standouts on top ranked Cincinnati, are the leading choices on the 1963 United Press International All-American team announced today.

Jerry Harkness of Loyola (Ill.) and Gary Bradds of Ohio State are the two other collegians honored in the UPI annual poll of 247 sports writers and broadcasters throughout the country. Heyman, regarded a cinch to be the first collegian drafted by the professionals in April, was the most popular choice on the team. The 21-year-old New York youth who migrated to the Carolinas for his education was a first-team choice of 201 voters and a second-team selection of 12 others. His name thus appeared on 86.2 per cent of the ballots cast.

Bonham and Thacker were next in popularity, followed by Harkness and Bradds, in that order. The scoring average of 22.2 points per game for this year's All-American team is comparatively low, last season's, for example, averaged more than 27 points per man. However, this year's honor five shows excellent balance, with 6-foot-8 Bradds the high scoring pivot man and rebounder; Heyman and Bonham, each 6-foot-5, the strong, aggressive forward men, and Thacker and Harkness, each 6-foot-2, the outside sharpshooters and ballhawk.

The consensus of the nation's selected team dominated by Midwestern school boys. Heyman, Thacker and Harkness are seniors, while Bonham and Bradds are juniors. Represent Top Teams

The All-Americans also come from among the six highest ranking college teams. Cincinnati, Duke and Loyola are rated 1-2-3 by the UPI Board of Coaches and Ohio State is sixth.

Barry Kramer of New York University heads the second team which includes Nate Thurmond of Bowling Green, Rod Thorn of West Virginia, Bill Bradley of Princeton and Cotton Nash of Kentucky. They received votes in that order.

A third team is made up of: Walt Hazzard, UCLA; Dave Stallworth, Wichita; Nick Werkman of Seton Hall, the major college scoring leader; Eddie Miles, Seattle, and Bill Green, Colorado State University.

Tornado Cagers Entertain GP; Crater Slates Ashland Jaunt

With Southern Oregon conference basketball down to that "very crucial" stage of the next to last week end of the regular season, the five conference members take a look at this week's objectives.

Grants Pass fights to hold or stretch its leadership. Medford seeks the lead or a share of it for the first time this season. Crater eyes frontrunner opportunity again. Klamath Falls makes a desperate effort to stay in content. Ashland will try to be a spoiler.

Friday's fare has Grants Pass (8-4) at Medford (8-5) and Ashland (2-11) at Klamath Falls (6-7). On Saturday it will be Crater (8-5) at Ashland and Klamath Falls at Grants Pass.

The championship of the conference is not the only issue of the struggle. In the sights of Crater, Medford, Grants Pass and Klamath Falls are the league's two berths in Oregon's Class A-1 titular tourney.

Medford and Crater will make that effort this week to do the most with the least since each has just a single game. Grants Pass has the opportunity to make the most of it — the chance to all but clinch a return trip to Eugene to defend their 1962 state championship.

And, Klamath Falls — The Pelicans, defending league titlists, are hanging on the edge of elimination.

Medford's Black Tornado, riding on a five game winning streak can take a half-game lead in the circuit by defeating Grants Pass tomorrow. The fact that the Hurricane is on a victory surge and that Grants Pass has been showing some of the poise that won the Cavemen last year's state crown is expected to make for a terrific battle here on Friday.

Medford will aim to make it a break even season against the Cavemen who are 2-1 against them this season. Crater seeks a fourth straight victory over Ashland's Grizzlies.

The Comets of Crater go into the week end with the best full season mark among conference schools. They are 14-5. Medford is next best for all games with 13-6 and GP has a 12-6 mark.

Medford's Black Tornado has been "adding a little more basketball to our repertoire" in preparing for the Grants Pass Cavemen, according to Coach Frank Roelandt. He said that the Tornado is trying to get a couple of new wrinkles in its offense and working at some defensive surprises.

"Gibb Mitchell is looking good in there," Roelandt said. "And, Mike Neatham is coming along again."

At Central Point the Crater Comets "started all over again" yesterday after taking Monday off and working lightly on Tuesday. Coach Lloyd Hoffine said. Another good hard practice was planned for today. "Everybody is there and healthy and ready to go," Hoffine said.

Listed starting times for varsity games this week end are 8:15 p.m. at Medford and 8 p.m. at the other locations.

All conflicts will be preceded by sophomore and jayvee games. Jayvees vie at 6:30 p.m. at Medford on Friday and at Grants Pass on Saturday. Sophomores will mix at 6:30 on other courts.

At Ashland and Klamath Falls soph frays will be at 5 p.m.

St. Mary's Holds First

United Press International Sharp-shooting Steve Gray had St. Mary's in first place in the tangled West Coast Athletic conference basketball race today.

Gray buckled 30 points as the Gaels breezed past University of Pacific 76-69 Wednesday night at Stockton. The score is misleading since St. Mary's built up an 18-point lead and coasted home with every man on the squad seeing action.

St. Mary's is now 8-2, while Santa Clara and USF are 7-2 each. St. Mary's is at USF Saturday night.
