

Training Session Set for Captains

A training session for Medford residential captains of the American Cancer Society will be held at the office in the Levelette building from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Tuesday, March 6, and Wednesday, March 7.

Mrs. B. L. Wood, Medford chairman, will conduct the meeting, assisted by district chairmen, who include Mrs. Kenneth Peterson, Mrs. Richard Saul, Mrs. Abner Clark, Mrs. Ted Hornecker, and Mrs. Mahr Reymers, executive secretary.

"Half of the persons who die of cancer could and should be saved," Mrs. Wood stated. "It is estimated in Jackson county that during 1968 there will be 345 cancer cases under medical care, so it is important that every home be reached by volunteers so the public will be aware of the seven danger signals and the importance of a yearly check-up."

"The contributions received are needed now to step up the Society's goals of finding the causes of cancer, new ways to cure or prevent the disease and alleviation of pain and suffering of the cancer patient," Mrs. Wood said. "The American Cancer Society, through the national office and divisions, has to date devoted more than $108 million to cancer research since its support program began in 1945."

All but about 250 of the students left the building and bought their lunches from vendors.

PP&L Cited for Resources Study

A special acknowledgement to Pacific Power and Light company for its cooperation with the U.S. department of health's long-range study of water resources has been received by the power company as a result of studies that were centered on the Klamath river.

The formal acknowledgement in the form of a certificate was accompanied by a letter from Gordon E. McCallum, assistant surgeon general and chief of the division of water supply and pollution control, U.S. department of health, education and welfare, who said the help of Pacific Power was valuable in gathering data regarding the water quality in the rivers of the region.

John C. Boyle, vice president for Pacific Power, reported the work had involved the loan of company personnel at the company's John Boyle hydroelectric plant, formerly the Big Bend plant, where the U.S. had installed measuring gear to sample the water. The sampling and measuring work was carried out over a period of several years, Boyle reported, and is continuing.

The installation is near the John Boyle plant on the Klamath river south of the California-Oregon border.

"There is no finer example of cooperative accomplishment between the federal government and state and local governments and industry than that demonstrated by your participation with us in the National Water Quality Network program," the U.S. official wrote in the letter accompanying the certificate.

Chamber Group Opposes Proposal Of O and C Funds

The governmental operations committee of the Medford Chamber of Commerce supported the stand taken by County Judge Earl Miller in his appearance before the public hearing on HB 1294 in Salem Wednesday.

The wire forwarded to the county judge by the chamber committee reads: "Voted unanimously opposition to HB 1294 on grounds that present

O and C distribution is equitable. We oppose legislative action dictating local county use of these funds."

HB 1294 requires all 18 Oregon counties receiving Oregon and California land grant funds to transfer 25 per cent into the county school fund for distribution to schools within the county.

Gerald Latham, assisted by Dr. Leonard B. Mayfield, superintendent of Medford schools, led the discussion here. The basic objection to the bill, voiced by the chamber committee, involved giving the state the right to dictate to Jackson county on the expenditure of O and C money.

Losing Basic Support It was stated that Jackson county, without a tax base, has been losing in excess of $200,000 through basic school support, a condition which will be corrected as soon as a new tax base can be established.

Through HB 1294, in spite of a new tax base, Jackson county would continue to lose through basic school support in excess of $200,000 annually, the local committee stated.

Two other legislative measures, HB 1332 and HB 1389, also were opposed by the legislative committee in its report to the governmental operations committee, chaired by Robert D. Heffernan Jr.

Both are tax measures and were discussed by Clarence Young, HB 1332 was described as a "back-passing" device to receive a mandate from the people on a subject that the legislature should solve.

There were two dissenting votes cast in the committee's opposition to HB 1389, which requires all persons deriving income from sources within this state to make quarterly declarations of estimated tax if the gross income can reasonably be expected to exceed $1,000.
