Ribicoff Argues For Solution to Commuter Problems

Washington – (UPI) – Sen. Abraham Ribicoff (D-Conn.) told a Senate banking subcommittee Tuesday that "getting to work and getting home again is just as important as getting to the moon."

But, the former cabinet officer said, Congress is spending billions to reach the moon, but is merely talking about spending millions to help commuters.

Ribicoff's statements were perpared for presentation to the subcommittee in support of a mass transportation bill aimed at helping cities solve their traffic problems.

Sen. Frank Lausche (D-Ohio) opposed the bill. He said it was unwarranted interference with state and local affairs.

Ribicoff disagreed, but said each state and region should work out its own solution to its own problems. "No single answer can or should come from Washington," he said.

Powell Committee Funds Slashed by Nearly $500,000

Washington–(UPI)– A House subcommittee Tuesday voted a deep slash in the funds requested by Chairman Adam C. Powell to run his Education and Labor committee.

The accounts subcommittee recommended that the controversial New York Democrat be given $200,000 to run his committee for the next year. Powell had sought $697,000 for two years.

The action now must be endorsed by the full House Administration committee.

The rejection of a two-year budget was not regarded as a slap at Powell. The Administration Committee has been holding everyone to one-year appropriations.

But the cut, $148,500 out of a one-year request for $348,500, was much deeper than the veteran Negro congressman had expected.

Families of Fliers Killed in Cuban Invasion Get Funds

Miami–(UPI)–A Central American anti-Castro group is paying $1,800 a month to the wives of four American fliers missing in the ill-fated Cuban invasion, an attorney has revealed.

Alex E. Carlson, attorney for the unidentified group, said the money was from a trust fund set up by Castro foes "after all hope was abandoned" for the American pilots flying for them.

The fund gave the four Birmingham, Ala., women $225 each every two weeks since their airmen husbands were missing and belived killed April 19, 1961, near the end of the Bay of Pigs invasion.

Flying Cargo Plane

The checks, drawn on Bankers Trust Co. of New York, have been received by Mrs. Riley W. Shamburger Jr., Mrs. Wade C. Gray, Mrs. Thomas Willard Ray and Mrs. Lee F. Baker.

Mrs. Gray told United Press International earlier she received the checks but did not know the sender. Mrs. Shamburger said she knew the sender, but declined to disclose the origin of the money.

Carlson said several fliers were recruited to fly against Castro during the invasion, and the four Birmingham airmen were flying a C46 cargo plane converted for light strafing when they began having trouble and were presumed crashed.

Were Losing Altitude

"The last we heart from them they were losing altitude with one engine out," Carlson said.

The wives said the airmen were recruited in January, 1961, and left in February saying their destination was classified.

Several of the women have said they believed the men were working for the Central Intelligence Agency or some other government unit. The CIA, however, said it adheres to a policy of silence regarding the invasion.

Carlson said Monday the Central American group authorized the Double Check Corp. of Miami Springs to set up the trust fund.

The attorney refused to identify the Central American group. But he did say that several wealthy Cuban exiles were contributors.

Jackson County 4-H Members Observing Their National Week

Jackson county 4-H club members, 1,000 in 115 clubs, are observing this week as National 4-H Club week with over two and a quarter million boys and girls in 50 states and Puerto Rico.

The theme for 1936 is "4-H Young Citizens in Action."

Displays, talks and demonstrations illustrating the theme will be included in the Jackson county observance. The 4-H members will show how they have learned by doing to give all citizens the opportunity to understand the aims and methods of their organization, Jackson County Extension Agents Joan Beasley and Jerry Borg said in drawing attention to local plans.

In Washington, D. C., the week will be highlighted by a team of 4-H members representing all 4-H members who will give the annual 4-H "Report to the Nation." This report will review, in story and pictures, the outstanding 4-H achievements, current projects and future plans.

The 4-H organization is providing opportunities for boys and girls from 9 to 21 to become well-informed and well-rounded citizens of today and tomorrow, local leaders emphasized. The program is for all youths, urban and rural. There are about 100 projects generally associated with the program. There are also clubs in such fields as money management, entomology, home improvement, junior leadership and nutrition.

The informal training in various areas is invaluable for career exploration as well as giving experience in skills, responsibility and wise decision making, leaders noted. The projects also strengthen personal standards and philosophies, the 180 volunteer adult leaders in Jackson county have pointed out.

Leaders provide guidance and aid for the youths and share the skills they have and coordinate the project material.

Anyone interested in joining this activity by becoming a club leader is asked to contact the Jackson county extension office, which is now located at the fairgrounds.
