

Money raised during the 1963 Easter seal sale of the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults will support Camp Easter Seal at Lakeside, Ore. The sale opened March 7 and will continue until Easter Sunday. For the 1962 season, 150 campers from 28 Oregon counties used Camp Easter seal. Five sessions of 10 days each were held from late June through August.

Four years ago the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults pioneered a new rehabilitation service to communities in the state where they were unavailable. During 1962, 350 patients from nine counties were provided services and Marcelle S. Montgomery, RPT, is shown here with one of the children helped by the new program. In Jackson county members of Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority chapters conduct the annual Easter Seal sale, and the seals were mailed last week. Money contributed by residents of the state will help pay the salaries of therapists both at centers and working in the community program.

Dr. Raymond W. McNair (at left) of Medford is a trustee of the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults, and Robert C. Ross, manager of the Medford branch, First National Bank of Oregon, is Jackson county treasurer. Contributions may be sent to him at the bank, P. O. Box 592. (Kenn Knackstedt photo)

Your Easter Seals in Action

This smiling girl who receives treatment through the Oregon Society for Crippled Children and Adults will benefit from the annual sale of Easter Seals which is being carried on throughout the nation until Easter Sunday.

Boys and girls being treated and educated at the Children's Hospital school in Eugene are from all parts of the state. The school is supported by the money raised from Easter Seals and through the philanthropic efforts of groups such as Epsilon Sigma Alpha sorority chapters throughout the state.

Three-and-one-half-year-old Tommy Schroeder of Lombard, Ill., is the 1963 National Easter Seal Poster Child for the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults. Born with a crippling condition, he was unable to sit up, but today, after receiving Easter Seal medical care and treatment services, he is able to walk with braces and crutches.
