Portland Concerts Announced

Concert patrons of this area have been interested in announcements of two musical events scheduled for this coming week in the Portland Public auditorium.

First will be the concert by the world-famed pianist, Arthur Schnitke, Thursday evening, March 14. His return, after several years' absence, is being welcomed throughout the state as a highlight of the current musical season in Portland.

The all-new musical show, "The Many Moods of Ferrante and Teicher," will be played Saturday evening, March 16. The two musicians, duo-pianists, are known for their virtuosity and versatility.

The show, described as a "casualty of music spiced with humor," represents a new departure for the tandem keyboard virtuosi, who at one time restricted themselves to classical music.

During the past year they have been popular recording artists in show business and also have played internationally to concert audiences with standing room only for the latecomers. Their list of hits includes the themes from "The Apartment," "Exodus," and "Tonight."

The evening's chairman will be Mrs. Hazel Ramsey, Miss Luella Fawcett and Mrs. James E. Xline.

KNOW YOUR FURNITURE

"COMPANY IS COMING... PUT A CARPET ON THE TABLE"

"Put a fresh carpet on the table, we're having company for dinner." Can you imagine hearing these words?

Yet carpets really were tablecloths at one time. They were usually wool, coarse and crudely woven. Sometimes they resembled a patchwork quilt of brilliant colored materials crudely put together.

All this was at least a hundred years before carpets came to be known exclusively as a floor covering.

Let the friendly salespeople at Dempster's help you select the proper carpet for your home. Choose from over 500 samples, in wool, cotton, nylon, acrylic and other man-made fibers. End "Carpet confusion" — buy with confidence by correlating colors, styles and textures "just right" for you — with budget prices and terms.
