

WINNING ENTRY— This black and white photograph by Miss June Hoeft won first place in that division in the recent exhibit in the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County. The picture was taken along Little Butte creek following last December's flood and is titled, "Storm Awake." It is now in the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County.

Winning Photographs On Display in Library

Black and white winning photographs entered in the recent Southern Oregon Photographic association exhibit in the Red Cross building have been hung in the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County, association officers have announced.

Top honors at the show were won by Miss Alice Saunders and Miss June Hoeft.

Miss Saunders placed first in the color slide division and also received an honorable mention in that class. Miss Hoeft took first with her entry of "Storm Awake" in the black and white division and she received third place in the color slide division.

Other winners included Charles Parlier, second, Mrs. Martin Johnson and Ed Klimko, honorable mention, color slide division; Robert Schmidt, second and Charles A. Parlier, third, black and white salon print division; Parlier, Mrs. J. R. Wilson and Klimko, honorable mention, black and white division.

Spring Exhibition Set

The club's spring exhibition is set for June 3 and will be open to any subject of the exhibitor's choice. Photographs already taken can be entered, except previous winning photographs.

A family membership plan has been adapted by the association and will go into effect June 1, officials said. Under this plan a savings is made for family groups. An invitation is extended to all interested persons to join the club, officers have announced.

Club members now are gathering 35 millimeter slides of winter scenes for a color slide show to be made available to other photography clubs throughout the world. Members are asked by association officers to submit original color slides of winter views in southern Oregon, coastal scenes, Klamath Falls area, Crater lake and others.

Selected By Committee

Slides for the show will be selected by a committee made up of Parlier, Gerald Wollam, Klimko and Howard Lind. Those accepted will become association property and those not used will be returned to the donor.

Mrs. Mildred Nelson has donated a portrait photograph she painted at the last meeting to the association to be placed in their record book.

A fall program planned will include a demonstration by Mrs. Dwaine Smith on heavy oil painting.

Members have been asked to submit news items for their publication, "Lens Lines," to Klimko or Mrs. Wilson.

Books Group Sets Meeting to Add New Members

A reorganization meeting to increase the membership in the Great Books discussion group, meeting in Medford, will be held at 8 p.m. March 21 at the Public Library of Medford and Jackson County.

The group is now on the seventh reading of the third year program, which includes Rabelais' "Gargantua and Pantagruel."

So far this year, members have read and discussed "The Book of Job," Aeschylus' "The Oresteia," Thucydides' "History of the Peloponnesian War," Plato's "Symposium," Aristotle's "Politics," and St. Thomas Aquinas' "Treatise on Law."

Present Members

Present members of the group are Mrs. Leo Hoag, Mrs. Joe Bartley, John Gartman, Mrs. Earle M. Swift, Mrs. B. Sam Taylor, Blaine Beardsley, Mrs. William Duhamme, Mrs. Edwin Cobhard and Mrs. Nelda Jones.

There are more than 2,000 Great Book discussion groups throughout the United States who participate in the Great Books program. The average group is made up of 15 to 20 men and women, who meet for two hours every other week.

The local group's far short of this average number at present with a total of nine. Members hope to expand the membership.

The Great Books Foundation is a non-profit organization whose only purpose lies in the encouragement of people to read and to meet to discuss great books, they emphasized.
