

ATTACKED BY RAIDERS - A Russian freighter in Sagua la Grande, a northern Cuban coast port, was attacked by Cuban exile sea raiders firing cannon early Monday while another raiding party shelled a Russian military camp nearby, authoritative refugee sources said in Miami. The twin attacks caused "considerable damage" and apparently left a number of Russian dead and wounded, according to the informants. (UPI)

LEADERS SPELLBOUND—Visiting church leaders from the Soviet Union were held spellbound while touring the American Baptist Convention at Valley Forge by, of all things, the 98-cent ball point pen. Abbott Ilya, left, of the Orthodox Church of Georgia (USSR), Bishop Nicolai of the Russian Orthodox Church, and A. I. Mitzkevitch, associate general secretary of the Union of Evangelical Christian-Baptists of the Soviet Union, right, spent nearly half an hour admiring the pens while outside pickets protested the presence of the Russians. ### School News

Jackson School
Parents, students and teachers at Jackson school are making final plans for the April Frolic, the school's annual fun night and project for fund raising for student body and Parent-Teacher association.

Congressmen Urged To Reveal Finances
Washington—(UPI)—Members of Congress were urged Tuesday to bare their financial affairs to the public gaze.

Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.) introduced a bill which would require the legislators and their spouses to file annual statements showing their sources of income and revealing any dealings in real estate, securities or commodities.

Mrs. Green said the bill was one of a package she will present to meet the problem of congressional "conflicts of interests."

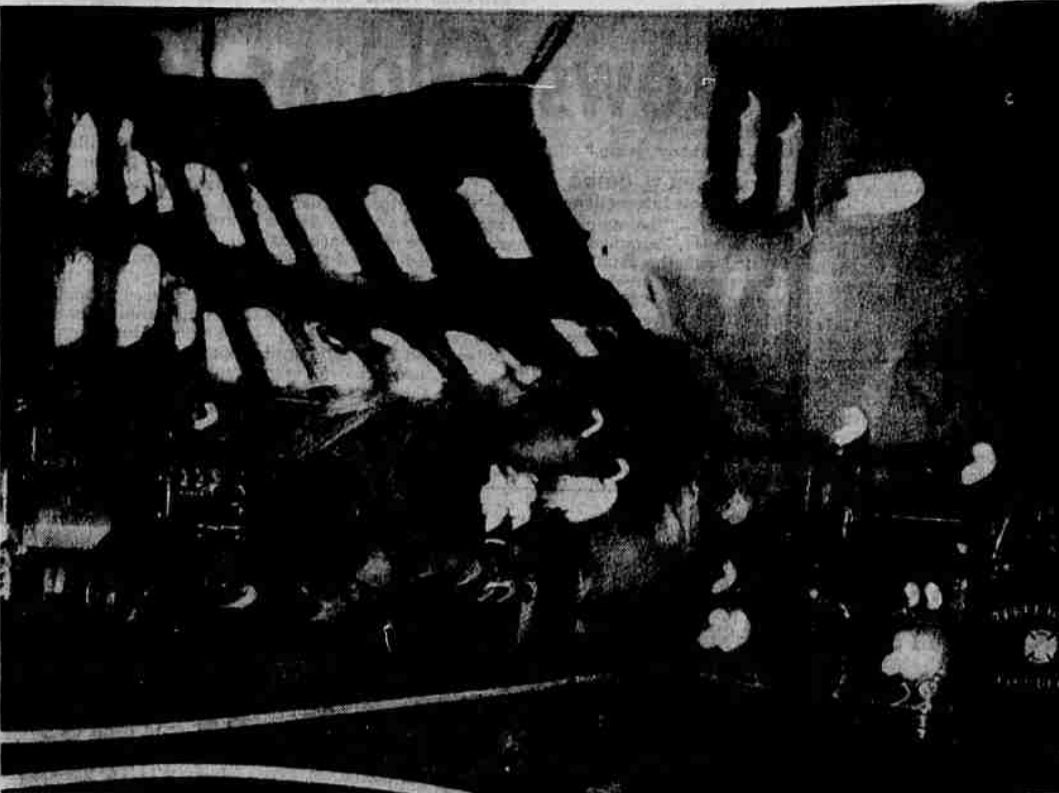

In a speech last week, the Oregon Democrat said Congress should apply the same ethical standards to its own members that it insists upon for others in government.

The fifth and sixth grade reading classes of the Jackson school have started a new phase of the S.R.A. reading program, which is a comprehensive course in critical thinking.

Many of the Jackson school teachers are in Portland this week for the Oregon Educational association conference.

The 6M class in arithmetic is making progress in the S.M.S.G. program, teachers report.

Many new books have been added to the school library this year.

WALL COLLAPSES—A wall collapses in Terre Haute, Ind., early today as a $1 million-plus fire raged out of control in a block-long row of stores in the heart of the Terre Haute business district. Early reports were that no one was injured seriously. Several firemen required hospital treatment after inhaling smoke. (UPI)

Lost Youngster Found by Hound In Forest Area

Hodgens, Okla. - (UPI)—Lawrence Graham has two flopped hound dogs. One of them he calls a "good kid dog." In other words, the pooch takes to children. The faithful hound Tuesday did what 200 soldiers, 300 civilians, a helicopter and pack of bloodhounds could not do. He found three-year-old Danny Thomas who had spent 26 hours wandering in the rattlesnake-infested Ouachita National Forest.

"I looked up on a rock," said Graham, and the boy was petting one of the dogs. He ran the other one off." Hoses Austin said the youngster "was sunburned and hungry, but in good condition." The boy chattered constantly to police about the sights and sounds of the dense, thickly wooded hills and creeks he had visited.

"I found a big snake, and it sounded like a bell," he said. The child was not bitten. Danny, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Thomas of Hodgens, his four-year-old brother, Gene, and five-year-old sister, Dee Ann, left the house Monday and went to a nearby creek. The girl was found early Tuesday tangled in some briars.

Heavy rains fell throughout the night and police feared that Danny might have stumbled into one of the rain-swollen streams. But that was before a boy's best friend came along.

Larger Share in Defenses Asked

Paris—(UPI)—British Foreign Secretary Lord Home called Wednesday for a greater share for Europe in the Atlantic alliance's nuclear defense setup. He coupled this with a warning that the political and economic rifts in Europe stemming from the breakdown of the Common Market talks with Britain should not be allowed to weaken military defenses against Communist aggression.
