Kennedy To Get Report on Boeing

Seattle—AP—Aero-Mechanics Union President John Sullivan reported that the Boeing Co. "had nothing new to offer" at a hearing here Sunday in the long contract dispute between the firm and the union.

The hearing was conducted by a three-man fact-finding board which will report to President Kennedy Tuesday on unresolved issues in the dispute. The Taft-Hartley Act requires the report after 60 days of an 80-day no-strike injunction.

The next step is a vote by union and non-union members on the latest Boeing contract offer April 2, 3, 4. If the offer is rejected, a strike could be called when the Taft-Hartley injunction runs out April 15.

OSU Students Set Giant Work Day

Corvallis—Approximately 1,000 freshmen and sophomores from Oregon State University fraternities and sororities have organized a giant community help day March 30.

They will clean up Williamette park, which was badly damaged by wind and ice during the past winter. All of the 32 campus fraternities and 16 sororities will join in the afternoon work party.

Owen Phipps of the Corvallis city park and recreation department said the 1,000 students expect to accomplish a task in an afternoon that would "take our city crews a year to complete."

Eight separate work parties are being organized to carry out assignments planned at a joint meeting of student and city leaders. Park maintenance crews will help direct the work.

At the end of the afternoon, the city will provide a picnic supper for the students with a dance to follow.

The project was organized by the Greek groups to strengthen city and campus cooperation and friendship, student leaders said.

Collier Calls for Plans of Defense Against Blazes

Sacramento—Sen. Randolph Collier, representing timber oriented Skiyou and Del Norte counties, today called on the United States forest service, California division of forestry, and other public and private agencies to begin developing a plan of defense against a potentially explosive summer fire situation.

Collier last week was author of a Senate Resolution which noted that the mountain snow pack this year is far below average and offers little hope of snow remaining on the ground until the normal mid summer period.

Collier said he fears that without the snow pack the woods will experience an extremely hot, dry season.

"Timber products and recreation are the core of our economies," Collier stated. "The ugly scare of the 1955 fire season will be with us for decades. We dare not risk another season of that nature."

Collier added that he hopes the agencies, through early planning and cooperation, will be able to develop programs which will protect the natural resource and still permit maximum entry into and use of the timber areas by industry and recreation.

His resolution offered no specific directions to the agencies involved, but Collier said he hopes that through increased surveillance, shifts of manpower and equipment, educational programs, and other means, that the dangers can be lessened.

Spoiled Tuna Found On Grocery Shelf

Berkeley, Calif.—UPI—A can of spoiled tuna found on a Saratoga, Calif., grocery shelf last week definitely contained deadly botulism toxin, the California Department of Public Health reported Monday.

The health department said it was recalling, with the company's cooperation, all tuna bearing the suspect code "WY." Officials urged the public to turn in all tuna bearing this code under the "Tastewell" label.
