Sgt. York Said In Good Condition

Nashville, Tenn.—UPI—World War I hero Sgt. Alvin C. York, ailing with chest pains, was listed in "very good condition" today in St. Thomas hospital. Dr. Jack Witherspoon said York, 75, is suffering a contusion of the chest and "traumatic pleurisy" probably incurred when York rolled off his bed at his home last week. York's wife accompanied him Wednesday in an ambulance from his home in Pall Mall, Tenn., near the Kentucky border, to the hospital. Witherspoon said York's condition is much better than it was last summer when he was hospitalized for continued internal bleeding. York won the Congressional Medal of Honor for leading a suicide mission that killed 25 German machine gunners and captured 132 others—including the enemy battalion commander, during the Allies' final push in October, 1918.

Volcano-Ravaged Island Inspected

Singaradja, Bali, Indonesia —UPI—Indonesian Police Commander Sukarno Djotjonegoro inspected volcano-ravaged portions of this island today to determine how much help survivors will need. It has been estimated that 1,600 residents of Bali were killed by molten lava and spewing rocks when Gunung Agung erupted violently March 17. Thousands more lost their homes. Ships of the Indonesian navy began taking survivors to safer areas Wednesday. Authorities said 10,000 villagers were isolated north of the volcano and would have to be taken out. In Jakarta, the army prepared to fly in 50 doctors and 107 nurses to aid injured victims. Col. Sjafidin, commander of the Bali area, planned to send enough equipment to set up three field hospitals. Reports said 75,000 refugees were scattered in various parts of the storied island. An estimated 190,000 acres of once-fertile land were ruined by lava and ash from the crater. Mrs. Rusiah Sardjono, minister of social welfare, said the government hoped to sustain islanders cut off from other parts of Bali by lava beds through supplies dropped from airplanes.

FBI Probes Train Derailment Try

New Smyrna Beach, Fla.—UPI—The FBI today investigated a second attempt to derail a train of the strikebound Florida East Coast Railway that was found less than an hour before the target arrived on the spot. Agent Ed Duff of Daytona Beach examined metal "derailing clamps" 18 inches long, which were discovered attached to the track north of here by a passerby. The attempt apparently was aimed at a train run by supervisory personnel due to pass over the spot about 9 p.m. Tuesday. The clamps were found at 8:30 p.m. The first attempt in the 9-week strike occurred several weeks ago and failed when derailing equipment flew off the track as a train ran over it near North Miami. In St. Augustine, FEC Vice President W. L. Thornton said both attempts were being investigated by the FBI. The 1,200 members of 11 non-operating railway unions walked out on the FEC Jan. 23 in demanding a 10.28-cent hourly wage hike.

Couple Is Reunited After Seventy Years

Warwick, R.I.—UPI—Back in 1893, Wilbur Curtis and Clara Bush were childhood sweethearts. Clara's family moved to Michigan and the couple lost track of each other. Recently Curtis, a widower, and Clara, a widow, were re-86, respectively. Now, at long last, they are married.

One-Man Show Well Received by People

Phillip Hanson added another one-man show to his repertory last night, and another star to the dramatic crown he has earned as an outstanding teller of stories. He gave the first performance of Mark Twain's American classic story, "Huckleberry Finn," last night at Southern Oregon college and the large audience thoroughly enjoyed it from the first words to the last. The characters of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, the essence of boyhood who came from the brain of that master writer of stories, Mark Twain, are first-rate material for Mr. Hanson. As usual, he plays all the characters. He creates not only the laconic and slow-talking Huck, but the excitable and imaginative Tom, the runaway black slave, Jim, Pap, Huck's stultic father, and the "King" and the "Duke," the two uninvited adventurers who join Huck and Jim on their raft trip down the river. Added Importance - One cannot but be impressed with the brain which stores all these characterizations. With the addition of "Huckleberry Finn" Mr. Hanson now has a repertory of 183 characters in seven shows. He also carries in his memory 30 complete Shakespearean roles. Added Importance - Added importance was given to last night's performance because it was the annual international observance of World Theater day. In Paris, last night, The Theater des Nations opened the International Theater Festival with a gala performance. On that stage and on stages around the world a statement by Arthur Miller, American playwright, was read, and Mr. Hanson opened his program with it last night. "It is a good thing that the drama among all other forms of communication through art, should be the chosen instrument. (The reference is to the selection of this art form by a United Nations committee.) "For on the stage man must act, and against a background of human values. In our time, when utility has overwhelmed the spirit, when a deathly inaction threatens the heart, it is good that we possess a form whose very existence demands action. . . . Perhaps the time is near for the theatre of will, the drama whose root is that ever so slight freedom which has nevertheless set man's wonders on the earth, placed his hand upon the stars, and called us together in this and so many other cities to share a hope for man."—O.S. Births - NESS - Mr. and Mrs. John K. 232 Bradford way, Medford, March 28, 1963, a boy, 8 1/2 pounds, at Rogue Valley hospital.
