U.S. Renews Demand on Soviet Troops in Caribbean

Encouragement of Anti-Castro Raids Flatly Denied

Washington—UPI—The United States today flatly denied it has encouraged raids on Cuba by anti-Castro exiles and again called on Russia to pull its troops out of the Caribbean.

The demand was contained in a note replying to Soviet charges that the United States was responsible for Cuban exile raids on Soviet ships. The note said "every step necessary" was being taken to insure that such attacks are not "launched, manned or equipped from U.S. territory."

It then asked in pointed diplomatic language that it hoped the Soviet Union "will not misinterpret such action as indicating any change in U.S. opposition to Soviet military involvement in Cuba."

Al Bradford Named Medford Postmaster On Temporary Basis

Appointment of Al Bradford, 42, as temporary postmaster of Medford has been announced today by Rep. Robert B. Duncan (D-Ore.).

Duncan said the Medford city councilman has been named to the post at his urging despite a recommendation by the Jackson County Democratic Central committee that the job be given County Clerk Marvin Madden.

"I am sorry that in this one instance I cannot accept the committee's recommendation as my own," Duncan said.

Bradford's appointment is effective April 12. He will serve until a permanent appointment is made and confirmed by the Senate.

Duncan said he had no "personal objections" to Madden and that he had the (Madden's) ability and integrity "greatest respect for his city."

The comment was made in a letter to Jackson County Democratic Chairman Jean Mills in which Duncan reported Bradford's appointment.

Duncan said Bradford, a "friend and supporter," would serve "with efficiency and skill should he become the permanent postmaster."

The permanent appointment, Duncan noted, would require that "open competitive examinations" for the post be held. He said he had asked that examinations be held "immediately."

Duncan said he did not like the present system for naming postmasters but that he would work with it "to secure the best people possible for these jobs."

"So long as it is a patronage matter, and as long as I am in office, I will try to see that they are filled with competent Democrats," he said.

Emphasizes Stand

In his letter to the Democratic Central committee, Duncan emphasized the stand he had frequently voiced during the campaign last fall that he did not believe that a person should seek an appointive office while accepting an elective one.

Duncan said he rejected the recommendation of Madden

because it would be, in effect, to deny the people of Jackson county the right to vote for county clerk.

"I am proud of Mr. Madden for the job he has done as county clerk, and for making the race and winning the November election. The confidence of the voters should make him proud and anxious to serve in the position to which he has been elected."

Bradford, who was notified by Duncan by telephone Tuesday evening that he had been appointed to the post, said he would await information from the post office department regarding what action he should take.

Abide By Recommendation

"If it is post office policy that I resign from the city council, I will certainly resign," he stated. "I will abide by whatever recommendation is made. I have not been advised concerning the policy in this matter, and was not when I was interviewed by a representative of the department."

J. A. Eidswick, postal inspector for this area, and acting postmaster, said he understood that it was policy for postmasters in the larger offices, at least, not to hold elective offices.

Duncan said civil service examinations will be held subsequently for all who wish to compete for the permanent appointment. Post office officials said the salary will start at $8,849 and could go to $11,200. Bradford, as acting postmaster, would receive $8,840.

Proud of Bradford

Duncan said: "I am proud of Al Bradford. He has served for years without pay and with distinction as a member of the Medford city council. There is no doubt that he was the choice of a substantial number of those present at the meeting that endorsed Mr. Madden and that he would have been the choice of the central committee had Madden not been in the race for postmaster."

Bradford is in his seventh year as city councilman from Ward II. He is partner in Saylor's Barber shop and has followed this trade in Medford for 18 years. He was secretary of the Jackson County local of the Journeymen Barbers and Shop owners union for several years, resigning from the post in 1962.

In September, 1961, he was named first successor to Duncan, speaker of the House of Representatives, under the interim emergency act passed by the 1961 legislature.

Revolt Derailed In Argentina

Navy Withdraws Support From Retired Officers

Air Force Swings Tide To Government

Buenos Aires, Argentina—UPI—The government today announced the collapse of a revolt by retired army generals who, with navy support, launched a nationwide uprising early Tuesday.

The government claim came after the navy announced its withdrawal of support for the revolt.

Air Force Secretary Brig. Eduardo McLoughlin, whose jet fighters and bombers swung the tide in favor of the government, said "it's all over." War Secretary Gen. Benjamin Rattenbach jubilantly proclaimed "The navy rebels have abandoned their anti-government attitude."

To Negotiate Solution

Rear Adm. Eladio Vazquez, commander of Argentina's high seas fleet, notified the government the navy had "ceased operations" and he was flying to Buenos Aires to "negotiate a solution."

His action was followed in quick succession by rebel announcements of a "return to complete normalcy" in their Puerto Belgrano and Bahía Blanca strongholds 600 miles south of Buenos Aires. Government army commanders announced they considered "all operations ended." Radio stations that had been in rebel hands resumed commercial broadcasts.

Stevenson Leaves On Trip to UAR

Ashland—Dr. Elmo N. Stevenson, Southern Oregon college president, left Saturday on the first part of a month-long inspection of the educational system of the United Arab Republic, under the auspices of the U.S. state department.

President Stevenson was one of seven educators selected by the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education for the inspection team which has been charged with the responsibility of studying UAR teacher training programs and the role of teacher education on the international scene.

H. Kenneth Barker, AACTE executive, said Dr. Stevenson's selection was based upon his long interest in education, his membership and active participation in educational organizations, and the emphasis placed on attracting foreign students to Southern Oregon college.

Other members of the inspection team include Dr. J. Andrew Holley, dean, college of education, Oklahoma State University; Dr. Antone K. Romney, dean, college of education, Brigham Young University; Dr. Lindley J. Stiles, dean, school of education, University of Wisconsin; President D. P. Culp, Livingston State College; Dr. Robert E. Markarian, director school of teacher education, Springfield college; and President Quill A. Cope, Middle Tennessee State college.

Lyle Paull Submits Resignation in CP

Central Point—Lyle Paull, city recorder of Central Point for the past six years, submitted his resignation to the city council here last night, effective April 30.

The council took no action on the resignation but will, however.

Paull said he plans to return and help his wife with the Central Point Variety store they own.

The city recorder's post in Central Point is an elective position, to which Paull was reelected last November over three other candidates. He also served for some time as appointive city administrator, a position from which he resigned at the end of last year.

Swipe at O&C Timber Funds Untouched by Committee

House Approves Measure Without Debating Change

By A. ROBERT SMITH
Mall Tribune
Washington Correspondent

Washington (Special)—The House passed the Interior appropriations bill Tuesday without discussing or modifying the O&C timberland funds.

This action left standing a $200,000 reduction in the Kennedy budget request for the Bureau of Land Management which the committee suggested be made up from the timber revenues to which the 18 O&C counties of Western Oregon are entitled.

Strategically Unwise

Rep. Robert B. Duncan (D-Ore.) said it was considered strategically unwise to raise the issue on the House floor where few Congressmen from other states could be expected to comprehend the complex history of the O&C timberlands which provide the counties currently with some $15 million annually from timber revenues.

The Appropriations committee last week recommended that the Interior committee review the formula which provides this generous allocation to the counties. The formula gives the counties 75 per cent, the government 25 per cent of receipts.

"That is where we will draw the battle line," Duncan remarked, in reference to any attempt to pass legislation changing this formula.

He said when the Interior money bill goes through the Senate, there is some chance the O&C forestry management funds will be increased more in line with the Kennedy budget.

Reduction Expanded

The House, in a moderately trimming mood, expanded on the committee's recommendation of a $92.8 million reduction in the budget for the Interior department's non-power agencies.

It knocked out $5.5 million to remodel a building for the Smithsonian Institution and another $1.6 million item for planning a new air museum. But it withstood several attacks on Rep. Mike Kirwan's national aquarium, called a "silly sock" by Rep. H. R. Gandy (R-Iowa) and approved the $100,000 item for the "silly sock" project.

Resignation of Party Chairman Sought by Demos

The resignation of Jean Mills as chairman of the Jackson County Democratic Central committee was requested for the second time Tuesday night at a meeting of the committee, at which the appointment of Al Bradford as temporary postmaster of Medford was announced.

Mills, taking the floor in his own defense, replied again that he would not resign, and asked that he be given an opportunity to answer charges made against him.

The same group within the Central committee asked that a letter be sent to Congressman Robert Duncan expressing dissatisfaction with his failure to follow the recommendation of the central committee on the post office appointment. Protests to this action were voiced last night and a vote of 24 to 14 to send the letter to the Oregon delegation.

Shows Resentment

The protesting element emphasized that there was no intention to "cast aspersions on Al Bradford" but to show the committee's resentment regarding Duncan's decision to override the recommendation of County Clerk Marvin Madden.

Madden had won committee approval by one vote when the central committee first acted upon the recommendations. Bradford was in second place after supporters of a third candidate changed their support to Madden. The recommendation, however, was sent out as unanimous.

The central committee also voted to take away the appointive powers of the chairman by removing the right of chairmen of standing committees to membership in the executive board.

Lack of Leadership

Lack of leadership and "one-man rule" were the verbal charges made against Mills.

It was understood that a meeting of the executive committee would be held to set up a hearing to give Mills an opportunity to answer the charges.

Ray Lambert was elected to preside as temporary chairman while the Mills case is under consideration. He won over nominees Dr. Thomas Rutter and Dunbar Carpenter.

Sanitary Authority To Work With City On Air Pollution

An Oregon state sanitary authority official assured Medford city officials yesterday that his agency will work closely with the city in seeking to improve its air pollution problem.

Richard E. Hatchard, chief of air pollution control for the SSA, spent the afternoon in Medford Tuesday discussing the theory behind, and the wording of, a proposed air pollution control ordinance which the city administration has been instructed to draft by the city council.

Hatchard told city officials, including a three-man subcommittee of the city council, that if Medford "maintains a certain level of control within the city, the state sanitary authority would have an obligation to maintain the same level of control outside the city limits."

"We would want to roll up our sleeves and work with you to improve your situation here," he said.

Asked about the success of the air pollution control program instituted in the Eugene-Springfield area, Hatchard replied that primarily an educational program had been undertaken there to stimulate voluntary action.

A city councilman expressed concern that if an air pollution control ordinance were too stringently worded and enforced it might have a restrictive effect on the area's business climate.

"Air pollution control doesn't slow down industrial development," Hatchard replied, "because responsible businessmen want to work with a community to make it a better place to live in."

Anti-Castro Exiles Jailed in Bahamas

Nassau, Bahamas—UPI—Authorities held 16 anti-Castro Cuban exiles in jail today in the first test of a tough new U.S. policy against Cuban raids launched from the United States.

The 16 exiles and an American, Jerry Buchanan, 24, of Miami, were arrested Sunday at Norman Key about 80 miles from Nassau when they pulled in to refuel their 30-foot power boat and pick up a passenger.

But a second attack boat escaped capture and has been prowling the Caribbean for two days, apparently awaiting orders to attack the Cuban coast or searching for a Communist merchant ship bound for Havana.

Musa Predicts Good Chance for Senate Approval

No Difficulty Expected in House

Salem—UPI—A 4-cent a pack tax on cigarettes was approved Tuesday night by the House Tax Committee, and Senate President Ben Musa said today he "felt the measure had a 'reasonable chance' of being approved in the Senate."

The bill, designed to raise $18 million a biennium, is not expected to encounter any difficulty in the House.

The committee also voted approval of a "one shot" revenue measure designed to bring in an additional $11.5 million during the 1963-65 biennium.

The measure would require employers to submit state income taxes withheld from employees on a monthly basis. The taxes now are paid on a quarterly basis.

The cigarette tax proposal cleared the House Tax Committee by a 6-3 vote. Voting against it were Committee Chairman Richard Eymann (D-Marcus), Cornelius Bateman (D-Salem) and W. O. Kelsay (D-Roseburg).

Yes Votes Listed

Voting for the cigarette tax were Reps. Victor Atiyeh (R-Beaverton), F. F. Montgomery (R-Eugene), Clinton Haight (D-Baker), Jack Smith (D-Clifton), C. R. Hoyt (R-Corvallis) and Sidney Bazett (R-Grants Pass).

The House committee plans to introduce a special bill which would in effect give about 20 per cent of the tax revenue to cities.

The proposed measure would tax cigarettes only. Musa said he felt all tobacco products should be taxed. He discounted the argument that it would be too costly to collect the tax from other tobacco products.

Because the cigarette tax could not go into effect at the first of the next biennium, it is estimated about $15 million would be raised during the 1963-65 period, and $18 million a biennium thereafter.

The amount received by the state's general fund would be reduced by the amount given to cities.

The tobacco industry had indicated it would refer such a tax to the people. Musa said today he doubted the measure would be referred.

Case Against City Set for June 26

The trial of the Heintz Construction company against the city of Medford has been scheduled in Jackson County circuit court June 26.

The case, originally tried in November, 1962, ended in a mistrial when it was revealed that a witness for the plaintiff had been seen talking with one of the jurors.

The Portland firm is suing the city for $94,462.74 plus interest they claim is due them for a sanitary sewer the company installed in the Kenwood - Grandview and north Laurelhurst area in 1959.

Sanitary Authority, County Court Meet

Two representatives of the Oregon state sanitary authority hope to meet with the county court today to learn the court's opinion of Senate Bill 259 which would allow, but not require, the county to establish an air pollution control ordinance.

T. M. Gerow Jr., district sanitary engineer, said he and Richard E. Hatchard, chief of air quality control, will attempt to find out if the county court would establish such an ordinance.

Russian Rocket Whizzing Toward Moon Destination

Moscow—UPI—The Soviet Union's fourth unmanned moon probe whizzed through space toward its destination today and was reported functioning normally after covering more than half the 230,000-mile journey.

The official Soviet Tass news agency said the Lunik 4 space probe had traveled 134,215 miles in the first 24 hours of its planned 3 1/2-day flight to the "vicinity" of the moon.

But Soviet scientists shed no light on speculation that the 1 1/2-ton space vehicle might make a moon landing.
