

Many Accidental Poisonings Caused By Barbiturates

Greatest single cause of accidental poisoning after aspirin was barbiturate sedatives, of which there were 37 cases during the past year in Oregon, according to Dr. Carl G. Ashley, director of the maternal and child health section, state board of health.

His report noted that 27 cases of poisoning from insecticides occurred, 19 from tranquilizing drugs, 16 from analgesics other than aspirin, 13 from non-barbiturate sedatives, 12 from antiseptics, 11 from skin creams, lotions, and medicinal preparations, and 11 from barbiturates and other poisons.

Persons of the 178 cases reported during the year were aged from 2 to 93, with 47% of the 178 involving children under 2 with 2-year-olds representing 40% of the total.

Johnson County Public Health Officer Dr. A. Ben Shorrock urged parents to pay special attention to storage of poisons and hazardous substances in homes, such as insecticides, rat poisons, weed killers, gasolines, paint, kerosene and kerosene, and kerosene.

Four Vehicles, Pole Involved in Mishap

Four vehicles, two of them parked, and a supporting pole for a traffic signal were damaged in an accident Monday morning at Eighth and Grape sts., according to Medford city police.

One driver, Carl Wallace McMillan, 56, of 705 Table Rock rd., was treated for a head laceration at Rogue Valley hospital and released.

Investigating officers said the accident occurred about 8:55 a.m. as a vehicle operated by Melvin Nelson Hogan, 74, of 1512 East Main st., proceeded into the intersection of Eighth and Grape sts. without stopping.

The Hogan car collided with the McMillan vehicle, knocking McMillan out of the driver's seat. Driveless, the McMillan vehicle continued through the intersection, striking two parked cars on North Grape st. and finally coming to stop against the traffic pole, police said.

The parked cars were registered to John J. and Suzanne H. Jensen, 522 South Oakdale ave., and Ernest M. and Lottie F. Bush, 701 North Riverside ave. Hogan was cited for disobeying a traffic signal.
