

Lake Creek Club
A special meeting of the Lake Creek General 4-H club was held at the Lake Creek Community hall recently.

Two films pertaining to agricultural projects were shown under the direction of George Barr of Albers Feed and Farm supply, Medford.

In observance of National 4-H Week, a committee of Linda Armitage, Lauramay Noble and Bill Booth, decorated the windows of the Brownsboro store with a ribbon display.

Mary Ann Gardner was in charge of the trophy exhibits at the Lake Creek store.

Officers training school recently held at Crater High school, was attended by various club officers. Gloria Meyer, Linda Armitage, Lauramay Noble and Cheryl Stanley. The group was accompanied by Mrs. J. E. Noble.

Bob Fisher, beet club leader, informed club members that the roping arena on Salt Creek rd. would be in use soon. Club members are to discuss the concession stand with their individual leaders.

Application cards for 4-H summer school must be returned to the county extension office by April 22.

The next cooking club members will observe "Rural Life Sunday" April 21 at Brownsboro Community church. Other club members and parents are welcome to attend as a 4-H club group.

Pegasus Club
The Eagle Point Desert Pegasus 4-H Horse club met recently with 17 members and four visitors present. Aude Espourteille gave a report on her trip to France.

Mrs. Dunn gave a talk on summer school and the regional 4-H leader workshop, which will be held Saturday, April 20, at the fairgrounds in Medford.

Karyl Bishop and Sue Washburner, junior leaders under the supervision of Mr. Dunn, instructed the younger members in horsemanship.

Kathy McQuire and Dale West, junior leaders assisted by Gina Krambeal, gave a demonstration on the proper way to bridle a horse.

Garden Club
The Applegate Vegetable 4-H Garden club met recently at the Lester Hill home.

There was election of officers. Danny Christensen, president; John Hill, vice president; Judy Drake, secretary; Brad Brewer, reporter; and Steve Brewer, agent and recreation leader.

We discussed a name for the new garden club, but didn't decide on any, and everyone is to come with an idea for a name next meeting.

Wesley Hill showed us some popcorn the Hills had raised last year. He showed us how to shell it and then he popped it and we had it with our refreshments which was served by Mrs. Hill.

The next meeting will be at Danny Christensen's home on April 10 at 7:30 p.m. and a film "Grow Your Own" will be shown. This film will show the essentials of good gardening, preparation of soil, how to lay out a garden, planting, transplanting, cultivating, weed and pest control, and watering.

Parents are invited to attend.

Brad Brewer, Reporter.

Eyes and Nails
The Lake Creek 4-H Sewing and Cooking club held an all-day work shop at the Armiger home recently.

The morning was spent in cake baking, fancy yeast rolls and nut bread. While the bread was rising, the girls started to make their clothing articles.

Cooking junior leader announced that for a community service a miscellaneous canned goods collection for the Shirley Robertson fund, whose home burned March 23, would be appreciated. Only a few items were saved from the home.

Mrs. Noble, cooking leader; Elaine Meyer and Lauramay Noble, junior leaders, reported on attending the March 31-32 Johnson County 4-H leaders association meeting in Medford.

It was tentatively planned to attend Brownsboro Sunday school April 21 as a 4-H group to observe 4-H Rural Life Sunday. The 4-H picnic will be given by the members for the program.

The next meeting will be held April 13 at Les Bradshaw's home. The Eagle Point Knit Wits 4-H club and leader, Mrs. James Wilson, will be guests.

A demonstration of proper table setting and manners will be given by Dana Jo Bradshaw and Becky Welch.
