Teacher Speaks For Council On Australia

Ashland - John Smock, world history teacher in Medford High school, who spent last year in Australia as an exchange teacher, was guest speaker at the April meeting of the Ashland Human Rights Council. The session was held in Wesley house and included a business meeting at which new board members were elected.

Those who are to serve during the coming year are David Alexander, Mrs. Ward Brookwell, Hal Cloer, Irving Lord, Leon Mulling, Wincent Oredson, the Rev. Paul Ottee, and holdover members the Rev. Duane Alford, Eugene Antley, Ed Fallon and Mrs. Mabel Winston. Also on the board are the past presidents, Roy Neal, Walter Arron, Henry DeVoss and Mrs. Richard Westerfield.

The speaker described economic and racial conditions in Australia, saying that although Africans and Asians have been readily accepted as individual students there is strict regulation of immigration. The impact of many new Australians from southern Europe is having a marked effect and is changing the picture from its predominant English hue. The official government policy is assimilation but the results are negligible.

Mr. Smock observed that the real problem is religious rather than racial and arises from the conflict between Catholics and Protestants over school control. He also commented that a great technological revolution is going on which is developing manufacturing of many diversified products.

At the conclusion of the evening's meeting refreshments were served by Mrs. William VanDyke, Mrs. George McKinney and Mrs. William Walters.

Easter Dinner Costs Reported To Be Lower

New York - Your Easter dinner will cost less this year than it did five years ago and about the same as it did last year, Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, incorporated, reported today.

The traditional baked ham dinner, including a five pound ham and 20 appropriate food items will cost the average homemaker $10.19. Five years ago she paid $11.74 and last year, $10.16. Mr. Willis said.

A roast chicken dinner, with a five pound fowl, and the 20 food items will cost $9.48 this year. Last year it cost $9.50 and five years ago it was $11.16.

Another Easter favorite, leg of lamb, will cost $10.61 for a five-pounder and the other 20 food items, compared with $12.22 in 1958 and $10.53 last year.

The 20 food items which include vegetables, bread, dairy products, juices, beverages, relishes and dessert account for $7.03 of the dinner cost, compared to $7.09 last year and $8.31 five years ago.

These comparative figures reflect the stability of food prices. In addition homemakers are now spending only 19 cents of their after-tax dollar for foods, the smallest share of income spent in all history, in any nation of the world, Mr. Willis pointed out.

Another plus which homemakers will appreciate this Easter is the shorter time they will spend in preparing of the greater variety of time-saving convenience foods which are available, he added.

Tops in little girls' Easter fashions is the A-line dress, interpreted here in Spring-crest cotton. Red and blue stripes on top and solid blue band at bottom are emphasized by sparkling white braided. Low-slung patch pockets add further fashion detail.
