Supervisor Urges Check Of Claims Before Buying

Yreka – Numerous recent inquiries on the sale and purchase of unpatented mining claims have resulted in a word of caution from Joseph F. Thornton, forest supervisor, Klamath National forest.

Thornton stated that purchase of mining claims without a careful check of their validity often leads to financial loss and disappointment.

"A quit claim deed is worthless if the claim it is based on is invalid," Thornton noted.

A claim may be invalid for a number of reasons, including improper location procedures, location on withdrawn lands or lands already filed upon, absence of a valid discovery, and occupancy and use for purposes other than mining.

Urged to Inspect Site

Prospective purchasers are urged to inspect the claim site, verify discovery of valuable minerals, and inspect land status and location records at the county recorder's office. A check with the local forest ranger also should be made for additional information, Thornton said.

Thornton emphasizes that it is the policy of the forest service to encourage legitimate prospecting and mining on open national forest land. Rangers are available to assist and cooperate with all people engaged in such endeavors.

The forest supervisor said that it is illegal to stake or to hold a mining claim for purposes other than mining.

Validity Questioned

During a recent survey on the Klamath National forest, numerous mining claims of doubtful validity were found. Mineral examinations are currently being scheduled for those claims occupied by buildings. Where examinations indicate the claims are not valid, contesting action will be initiated to restore the land to public use, he said.

People interested in correct procedures under the mining laws may obtain, free of charge, several circulars pertaining to the mining laws from the land office of the bureau of land management at Sacramento, he said.

An excellent publication, "Legal Guide for California Prospectors and Miners" is available from the state of California, department of natural resources, division of mines, Ferry building, San Francisco 11, for $1 plus sales tax.

Forest rangers on the forest are generally located so as to be readily available for mining information.

SCHOOL NEWS

St. Mary's High

Editor, Mary Ann Carnegie; Reporters, Michelle Ely, Stephanie Hollen, Susie Latendresse, and Sue Caperna.

Bill Jacobs of the National School Assemblies gave a program at St. Mary's High recently featuring novelty instruments, showing how to make each instrument, and playing various tunes on each one.

Sophomores Martha Fitzpatrick and John Batzer, and Juniors Mike Soran, Jeff Randolph, and Mike Hutchinson, attended a leadership conference at St. Mary's Academy in Portland recently. The purpose of the conference was to promote Catholic leadership among students.

Guest speaker for the day, J. P. Smith, a Portland businessman, social worker and lay apostle, opened the session with a talk on the qualities of a good leader. Then the council divided into discussion groups and closed with a social hour.

Nine weeks tests for the third quarter were scheduled recently. Reports were distributed the following Monday during a home room period in the morning and the students received their grades in each class during the day. Application for honors were filled out at the end of the day and handed in to the homeroom teachers.

Pat Fellers, junior, was in Salem as the guest of Representative and Mrs. John R. Dellenback. She, with an Ashland High school girl, acted as an honorary page in both the House and Senate. Afternoons and evenings were spent attending committee meetings.

The Dellenbacks are inviting students from all the high schools of the area with the idea of increasing interest in local and state government. Pat stated that she had learned many interesting and valuable facts during the three days, and that her interest in political issues has been heightened.

Section 4 provides, generally, that unpatented mining claims located after July 23, 1955 shall not be used for purposes other than prospecting, mining, or processing operations, or uses reasonably incident thereto; that such claims will be subject to the right of the United States to manage and dispose of the vegetative surface resources thereof and to manage other surface resources thereof; and that, except to the extent required for mining operations and uses reasonably incident thereto or to provide clearance for such operations or uses, claimants of such claims shall not use or dispose of vegetative or other surface resources thereof; and that, except for clearance for such purposes, any permitted severance or removal of timber must be in accordance with sound principles of forest management. Said section 4 also provides that any use of the surface of any such mining claim by the United States, its permittees or licensees, shall be such as not to endanger or materially interfere with the prospecting, mining, processing or reasonably incident uses by the mining claimant. The date of first publication of this Notice shall be March 20, 1963. Dated: March 7, 1963. M. M.
